SEN. JOHNSON CLASHES WITH CHARTER SPONSOR

Delegates of Clubs Have Their Day at Senate Hearing

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 12—A lively clash between Sen. Johnson [R., Cal.] and an overseas veteran of the present war enlivened the senate foreign relations committee hearing on the proposed world charter today in a session given over in the main to proponents of the international peace organization.

Livingston Hartley, appearing for the American Association for the United Nations, was the witness who brought the first outbreak of the hearing from Sen. Johnson, an implacable foe of the first league of nations when that organization was before the senate after World War I. Hartley urged ratification of the charter to prevent another war.

Johnson Prods Witness

Johnson told Hartley there have been a million casualties in the present war and sought in vain to find out how many soldiers the United States would have to furnish to meet aggression under the charter. Hartley kept insisting that the forces America would furnish would be "very small," and when pressed for a more specific answer kept repeating "only a few thousand."

When Hartley failed to make an estimate the veteran senator told him:

"You are talking of matters of which you have no conception."

Among other supporters of the charter appearing today were the daughter of the late William Gibbs McAdoo, Mrs. Brice Clagett, representing the General Federation of Women's Clubs; Dr. Helen Dwight Reid, representing the American Association of University Women and 11 other organizations; Clark M. Eichelberger, director of the American Association for the United Nations; William G. Carr, secretary of the National Education association, and Ulric Bell, vice president of Americans United for World Organization.

Chicago Represented

The Chicago district was well represented at the hearing. Rabbi James A. Wax of the North Shore Congregation Israel of Glencoe represented the Central Conference of American Rabbis in recommending ratification of the charter. Rabbi Wax hailed the document as "a great step forward in the promotion of international coöperation."

Another Chicagoan was Mrs. Florence Cafferata of 3709 Sheffield av., who said she represented the Catholic Mothers and Daughters, an organization with members in 150 Chicago parishes. She opposed the charter.

Miss Cecile Keefe of 6209 S. Laflin st., secretary of the organization, charged that "the charter thoroly violates the Constitution and is not one to make peace but to perpetuate war."

Mrs. Nora Staunton Barney of Greenwich, Conn., representing the People's Parliament Committee for World Peace, told the committee:

"There are many kinds of peace. There is peace in Sing Sing.

"Out of 100 persons in favor of the charter I talked to," she said, "only one had ever seen it and he hadn't read it.

Bretton Woods Witness Barks Up the Wrong Tree

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP)—Rep. White [D., Idaho] came over to the senate today and delivered a dissertation on bi-metallism—to the wrong committee. After testifying for 15 minutes before the senate foreign relations committee, which is considering the San Francisco charter, Chairman Connally [D., Tex.] interrupted to say, "We're not considering Bretton Woods" [a separate international financial agreement].

"What?" said White. "Well, then, any international plan you are considering will fall flat unless we have a stable monetary system. Let's try bi-metallism."

A SIMPLE WOMAN RIPS CHARTER IN PLEA FOR G. I. SON

BY WILLIAM MOORE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 12—Mrs. Lucinda Benge heard mocking laughter today at the senate hearing on the international security charter.

It came from spectators in the great hall where the senate foreign relations committee is preparing to recommend the charter for senate ratification. It came from government officials.

Mrs. Benge noted that the laughter was not directed against the women of great families or the women of high academic degrees who came to praise the charter that preaches tolerance and equality in the international organization into which they wish to take the United States.

Out of Their Depth

The mocking was for simple women, most of them housewives, who had come to oppose the charter. They didn't know the language of international diplomacy very well. They thought of American problems in terms of sons and husbands overseas. They were a little bit out of their depth.

At last Mrs. Benge's turn came. Chairman Connally [D., Tex.], committee chairman, called her name and said:

"We have graciously given you three minutes."

Son on Okinawa

Laboriously Mrs. Benge made her way to the witness chair. She wasn't representing any organizations with high sounding names. She had a rather vague name for what she was representing.

She's the mother of a soldier on Okinawa—he was in the first assault wave at Okinawa and Leyte too—and she was thinking of him and his comrades when she said, with more dignity than you might expect, that she was there to speak for the GIs.

"I find it tragic indeed," she said, "when there is frivolity and laughter at the efforts of a middle aged group of women to save their sons and what is left of this country. . . .

Speaks for Her Son

"I am here to represent the fighting men. The GIs have had no opportunity at all for representation. The people who have spoken and the people who want this charter and the people who are talking of peace are the people who were so anxious to involve us in this war.

"I speak for my son in the Pacific and for all fighting men, because they will be put in the reserve after the war and depended upon to do the fighting again.

"Some people who today talk of peace are proponents of the bill for compulsory military service. Their deeds do not square with their objects.

"I would like also to say—with full knowledge of what I am saying—that it will not be well for you to change the American form of life in the absence of the boys who were told they were being sent abroad to preserve it."

20 of 23 Live After Planes Collide in Air

Florence, S. C., July 12 [Special]—Speeding south on a Boston to Miami run, 19 of the 20 persons aboard an Eastern air liner "miraculously" escaped death today when the transport collided with an army plane at an altitude of 3,000 feet.

Of the 17 passengers and three crew members aboard, only one was killed—a 2 year old boy. Five others, including the boy's mother, Mrs. A. E. Williams of Miami, Fla., were injured.

Two of the three flyers in the B-25 Mitchell medium bomber that crashed with the air liner were killed. One fell to his death in the plane, which exploded two miles from the point of collision.

Officer Praises Senior Pilot

Another was reported killed in an attempt to parachute. A third parachuted to safety, but was injured.

Col. James R. Dunn Jr., commanding officer of the Florence army air field, praised the work of Capt. G. D. Davis, Miami, senior pilot of the air liner, who landed his crippled ship in a cornfield near here.

Maneuvers to Landing

With the left engine gone and the right one knocked out of commission, Capt. Davis maneuvered the falling plane to an emergency landing.

The McLeod infirmary here listed the seriously injured, in addition to Mrs. Williams, as Mr. and Mrs. Maxine Silberg, of Caracas, Venezuela, and Miss Gertrude H. Lustig of New York City. Mrs. John Walter of Columbia, S. C., was slightly injured.

U.S. HALTS DRAFTING OF JOB JUMPERS NOT FIT FOR ARMY DUTY

Washington, D. C., July 12 [Special]—Selective service tonight discontinued the drafting of physically unfit men over 26 who have left the jobs for which they were deferred.

These men had been put in special groups not qualified for regular army duty. About 52,000 had been drafted since the penalties were put into effect late last year to keep war workers on war jobs.

Drafting of others who change jobs without permission of their draft boards will be continued. This means that registrants over 26 who are physically fit will face induction if they make unauthorized job transfers.

The army is understood to have asked a relaxation of the draft policy because it did not care to be burdened with men who do not measure up to physical standards.

BRITISH TOSSING THOUSANDS OF BOMBS INTO SEA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, July 12 — British air force Lancaster bombers are daily flying over the North sea to a point 150 miles from the English coast to toss thousands of incendiary bombs into the water, it was reported tonight. Hundreds of tons of fire bombs are being disposed of in this way.

When the European war ended it was estimated the R. A. F. had sufficient bombs on hand to keep the blitzes going for another six months. months.

High explosives are still needed for the war against Japan, but according to an air ministry spokesman the new type of incendiary bomb being showered on Japanese key points is more effective than the old type. The only safe place for them, according to the air ministry, is at the bottom of the sea.

Hobby Quits; Boyce Named Head of WAC

Washington, D. C., July 12 [Special]—Col. Westray Battle Boyce was named director of the women's army corps today upon the resignation of Col. Oveta Culp Hobby, who retired to resume her work as executive editor of the Houston [Tex.] Post.

Col. Boyce was employed in the home office of an insurance company in Raleigh, N. C., and later worked for eight years in federal agencies in Washington before joining the WAC.

Col. Boyce, 43, a widow, has her home in Rocky Mount, N. C. She has a daughter, Westray Battle Boyce, 18, who attends Sweet Briar college.

Prematurely Graying

The new WAC director is about the same stature as Col. Hobby, who has been called the "little colonel." She is attractive, fair skinned, and prematurely graying. She has an arresting combination of military erectness and southern charm.

Commissioned in the WAC on Sept. 12, 1942, she served as a company officer at the first WAC training center at Fort Des Moines, Ia., and for a time as public relations officer in the 2d service command, with headquarters in New York City.

She was then assigned as WAC staff director of the 4th service command at Atlanta, Ga. Later she was sent to the North African theater as WAC staff director. She returned a year later to the United States for assignment to the war department general staff, personnel division. She was named deputy director of the WAC last May.

Wife of Former Governor

Col. Hobby, 40, who said she was returning to the Houston Post, became director of the women's army auxiliary corps, predecessor to the WAC, on May 16, 1942, and director of the WAC on July 5, 1943, after the corps was made a regular unit of the army.

She is the wife of former Gov. William P. Hobby of Texas, publisher of the Post, and the mother of two children.

In a farewell statement read at a news conference held by War Undersecretary Patterson, Col. Hobby said her life had been enriched by her work in building up the WAC to a strength of nearly 100,000. She said she will go on leave immediately and go on inactive status Sept. 3.

After her resignation she watched as her own eagles were pinned on her successor.

HIS OLD OUTFIT IN ANTWERP TO HAIL PRESIDENT

Big Three Will Meet Monday or Tuesday

ANTWERP, Belgium, July 12 (AP)—President Truman is scheduled to reach Antwerp Sunday on his way to the Big Three conference at Potsdam. He will be greeted by present day soldiers of the outfit he fought with in the first World war.

The honor guard when the President steps ashore from the cruiser Augusta will be the entire 137th infantry regiment of the 35th infantry division, which includes many men from his native midwest. The regiment reached Antwerp today after a 317 mile journey by truck from Neustadt, near Mannheim in western Germany.

Big transports coming to take doughboys home from the war were nosing into the docks of Antwerp's great harbor. When Mr. Truman steps onto one of those docks, he will see the familiar Santa Fe shoulder patch of his old outfit, with which he served as a captain in the 128th artillery regiment in the last war, but there won't be a single familiar face.

Long Parley Indicated

ABOARD THE CRUISER AUGUSTA WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, July 12 (AP)—President Truman neared Europe tonight for a conference which will cover so many problems that it may last longer than any previous Big Three session.

It was revealed aboard this warship that the conversations with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin in Potsdam will get under way Monday or Tuesday of next week.

The President was reported convinced that the meeting on Berlin's outskirts will outlast those of Quebec, Tehran, and Yalta. The Yalta meeting lasted eight days.

Mr. Truman, in thickening weather, stuck today to the admiral's cabin aboard the Augusta, immersed in discussions on the great issues to come up for decision at Potsdam. Participating in the talks were Secretary of State Byrnes and Adm. Leahy, the President's personal chief of staff.

Face Many Problems

Such matters as territorial adjustment, occupation policies, and the feeding of freed and occupied areas are only a few of the many subjects expected to be discussed.

Indicative of possible long talks at Potsdam was the information that the President has declined to commit himself to any positive engagements in Europe afterward.

Thru the powerful communication facilities linking the Presidential cruiser with the home government, as well as with the American advance party at Potsdam, the chief executive kept in constant touch with latest developments in the war against Japan.

News of the 3d fleet strikes, fitting so well into his hope for an early victory at a minimum cost in lives, was kept constantly up to date for him, on charts duplicating in reduced scale the White House maps of the Orient.

LAWYER CHARGES JUDGE ORDERED FEE KICK-BACK

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP)—A Scranton, Pa., lawyer testified today that former Federal Judge Albert W. Johnson asked for pay-offs on a receivership fee.

John Memolo, a surprise witness in the house judiciary subcommittee's investigation of the conduct of the middle Pennsylvania District court judge, said Johnson made the request in 1938, asking two-thirds of a big fee Memolo expected.

"I was noncommittal," Memolo added.

Judge Hears Charges

The judge, sitting 12 feet from the witness and watching him intently thru a long account of alleged out-of-court dealings, had been expected to take the stand himself but was not reached today.

[Former Federal Judge Johnson, father of 11 children, hates liquor, likes blue laws, and is sponsor of Y. M. C. A. Story on page 6.]

Accompanied by three Luzerne county lawyers, Johnson was present for the first time since open hearings began Tuesday into his handling of the Williamsport [Pa.] Wire Rope company receivership.

Johnson, 72, and a veteran of 20 years as a federal judge, resigned early this month, citing his age. He draws a $10,000 full-pay pension.

Split with Beer Salesman

Memolo, who was associate counsel for the Williamsport company receivers, told of arranging with Bethlehem Steel company for payment of $240,000 to receivership officers appointed by Johnson. Bethlehem subsequently bought the Williamsport firm in a court-ordered sale and paid the fees, Memolo said.

Up to the time of Judge Johnson's request, Memolo said, he had been splitting the interim fees allowed by the court with Jacob Greenes, Scranton beer salesman, whom he described as "able to do things and get things done" in Johnson's court.

Greenes has testified he turned this money over to Johnson's son, Donald M. Johnson.

Asked for Two-Thirds

Memolo testified that in 1938 when the big Bethlehem steel fees were due "the judge called me in and asked how much I had paid Jake [Jacob Greenes] and the boys. I said I'd find out.

"Later, I brought in adding machine slips showing $34,000. The judge was surprised. He didn't think it was so much.

"He said when you get it [the money from Bethlehem Steel], don't pay it to Greenes. See me. He asked me what division I had been making with Greenes and I told him 50 per cent.

"He said, 'You ought to kick back 66⅔ per cent.'"

Under questioning by committee members, Memolo repeated:

"The judge said not to pay it to Jake anymore—to give it to him—to the judge."

Thought It Too Much

"Did you tell him that's what you would do?" Memolo was asked.

"I was noncommittal," the witness replied. "I did not intend to give him so much."

Memolo had been in the committee room since the hearing began but had not been expected to testify. He is free on appeal to the Circuit court from a three year jail sentence on income tax charges. He was convicted recently in Scranton in connection with fee splits from other receivership cases in Judge Johnson's court district.

However, after a long recess this

480 MILE STRIP RAIDED; NAVAL AIR STATION HIT

3,000 Tons of Bombs Are Dropped

GUAM, July 13 [Friday]—(AP)—More than 500 Super Fortresses encountered fighter opposition over only one of five targets and only slight anti-aircraft fire as they touched off huge "red glows" with 3,000 tons of fire and incendiary bombs before dawn today at a Tokyo bay oil refinery and four Nipponese cities.

Returning pilots said the only enemy attempt at interception was over the oil refinery on Kawasaki Island in Tokyo bay and Utsonomiya, north of Tokyo. It was weak. The raiders attacked by instrument thru a blanket of clouds.

Strike from Okinawa

From Okinawa, an Associated Press correspondent reported today that more than 100 Liberator and Mitchell bombers, protected by 128 fighter planes, struck Kyushu bases and the naval port of Aburatsu yesterday.

Shortly after the 21st bomber command disclosed the sixth Super Fortress strike in 13 days at Nippon, fleet headquarters reported a strong flight of marine Corsairs tore into the Kanoya naval air base on Kyushu the day before. On the same day navy search planes destroyed a factory, damaged another, and wrecked rail traffic on eastern Kyushu.

Along a 480 mile strip from Shikoku north to an industrial city 60 miles north of Tokyo, the B-29s dumped destruction, bringing to nearly 18,000 tons the weight of bombs they have unloaded on Japan since July 1.

Raided for First Time

The Kawasaki oil center in Tokyo bay, previously hit in an April raid, was the target of demolition bombs. The four industrial cities, all raided for the first time, were showered with incendiary bombs.

They were: Utsonomiya, city of 80,000 population 60 miles north of Tokyo; Ichinomiya, west of Tokyo and nine miles northwest of Nagoya, Tsuruga, 55 miles northwest of Nagoya, and Uwajima, on the west-central coast of Shikoku.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported a score of Liberator and Mitchell bombers pounded factory and warehouse targets at Bokushi, on Formosa's west coast. Three grounded planes were destroyed at Tainan. A small freighter was sunk and three other freighters were damaged in attacks on Suo bay on the northeast coast of Formosa.

Fires visible for 30 miles were started by a single bomber that dropped incendiaries on Mako naval base, in the Pescadores west of Formosa. Other sweeps were made from Indo-China to Malaya in the Dutch East Indies and eastward to the northern Celebes.

Blow Up Kyusha Bridge

The fleet bulletins today said the search planes attacking eastern Kyusha yesterday blew up a railroad bridge and burned a passenger train and two locomotives. Other search planes destroyed a small cargo ship near the China coast.

Search planes, flying nearly 200 miles north of Tokyo to the area of Sendai, a recent B-29 target, damaged two picket craft off Honshu and strafed fishing craft off Yokosuka. On the approaches to Japan, Avenger torpedo planes cratered airstrips and bombed storage areas on Kikai Island in the Amami group.

For the second day, Adm. Nimitz maintained silence on what the United States 3d fleet is up to since its carrier planes attacked Tokyo Tuesday—but Tokyo radio still was talking about it. The enemy broadcast told the homeland to expect more such attacks.

The purpose of these, explained a Nipponese commentator, was to "exhaust our fighting power and our fighting spirit."

'Kickless' Cannon Like Firing a .22!

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP)—The army disclosed today performance details on its new kickless cannon, which fire artillery shells with no more recoil than a .22 rifle.

The two guns, a 57 and a 75 millimeter, were battle tested in Europe and now are being turned against the Japanese "with much success," the army said.

The 57 mm. rifle, which can be fired from the shoulder or from a small tripod, weighs only 45 pounds, yet can toss a regular shell weighing about three pounds for two miles.

Hurls Shell Four Miles

The 75 mm. rifle, weighing 110 pounds [the regular field artillery piece weighs more than a ton] throws a 14 pound shell more than four miles.

Gen. Hodges, 1st army commander, hit a three foot square target at 800 yards the first time he fired the 57 mm. gun, shoulder style, the army reported to illustrate the weapon's simplicity.

Use Standard Ammunition

Altho the guns resemble rocket weapons, they differ substantially from the bazooka. They are rifled, increasing accuracy. They fire standard artillery ammunition rather than rocket projectiles.

The recoil is absorbed by allowing a counter-balancing portion of the propellant gases to escape thru openings in the breech.

under Gen. Kenney is now established on Okinawa, Gen. MacArthur announced today.

The 7th air force has been made part of Kenney's forces, which already included the 5th and 13th air forces, he added.

In announcing the new command two days after Adm. Nimitz had disclosed that control of the 7th air force was passing to the army, MacArthur said the Central Pacific force of Liberators and Mitchells was "in the process of deployment to forward bases to participate in the air saturation of Japan."

The 7th includes the 7th fighter command, whose Iwo based Mustangs have been steadily striking Japan for weeks past and providing escorts for Super Fortresses.

The Super Forts of the 20th air force and the 8th air force of European fame already have been designated as the strategic air forces under Gen. Spaatz.

Kenney, whose 5th and 13th air forces spearheaded MacArthur's advance from New Guinea to Luzon after beating off the Japanese New Guinea reinforcement attempt in the Bismarck Sea, had this to say about his new assignment:

Led by Illinoisan

"As soon as we are in position, we will attack Japan from 10,000 feet and from 10 feet, with fire and explosives, with bombers and fighters—and we will do it 24 hours a day."

The 7th air force is led by Brig. Gen. Thomas D. White of Springfield, Ill. In the past year the 7th has moved its bases 2,000 miles nearer to Japan, hitting the Marshalls and Marianas for the landings on Kwajalein, Eniwetok, Saipan, Tinian, and Guam.

White, who recently took command of the 7th from Maj. Gen. Willis D. Hale, previously served as deputy commander of Kenney's 13th air force, under Maj. Gen. Paul B. Wurtsmith.

HIMMLER'S WIFE TOLD OF SUICIDE; ASKS, 'CAN IT BE?'

New York, July 12—The American Broadcasting company today reported from Rome that Mrs. Heinrich Himmler was told for the first time of her husband's arrest and suicide and merely shrugged her shoulders and asked, "Can it be true?"

Mrs. Himmler said "absolutely yes" that she was a Nazi party member and that she knew the Nazis had a concentration camp at Dachau "and I often went there for strawberries." Of her husband, the German Gestapo chief, she said:

"I knew he ordered traitors and criminals executed. Before the war people in the world thought highly of him. After the war began he was hated and despised by many."

Mrs. Himmler and her daughter, 15, were taken into custody by American troops several weeks ago in the Austrian Tyrol. She said she last saw Himmler in September and that he already thought Germany had lost one phase of the war, "but he also felt the war would continue with Russia on one side and England and the United States on the other."

WAVELL'S PLAN FOR INDIA RULE BELIEVED DEAD

SIMLA, India, July 12 (AP)—British Viceroy Wavell's plan to constitute a new government for India was written off as a failure here tonight two days before a conference called for that purpose was scheduled to reconvene.

Party adherents and impartial observers alike agreed that in their opinion the interim government proposed in Wavell's plan could not be a product of the conference in view of the stalemate between the Congress party and the Moslem league.

The conference adjourned nearly two weeks ago when the leaders of the two powerful political groups were unable to reach an agreement on the selection of Moslem members to an Indian governing council proposed by Wavell.

TWO OFF TO SEE JAPS AND SPEED CAPTIVES' GIFTS

MOSCOW, July 12 (AP)—Two Swiss officials of the International Red Cross left Moscow today for the Manchurian frontier to arrange with the Japanese details of shipping prisoner of war packages to allied prisoners.

The officials are Dr. Maurice Marcell-Junod and Marguerite Straehler. Marcell-Junod said he hoped to see Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright of the United States army, whom he believed to be in a Manchurian camp.

The Russians, he said, have agreed to transport to the Manchurian border a large tonnage of prisoner of war supplies now at Vladivostok.

OKINAWANS HELPING CHICAGO LIEUTENANT POLICE THEIR ISLAND

OKINAWA, July 12 (AP)—Okinawans are helping to police their island under the American military government.

Those selected, often former mayors of villages, wear red helmet liners and yellow arm bands and are assigned to aid the American military police.

"We hope eventually to have 25 to 50 of them in each of our 10 camps for Okinawa civilians," said Lt. Edward Uhlir, 212 N. Pine av., Chicago, of the AMG public safety department. AMG administers affairs of more than 250,000 natives. Navy Lieutenants Donald Blackburn, Toledo, O., and Louis Hosch, 1424 E. 58th st., Chicago, are welfare officers. Among enlisted men in the organization are Clarence Dickey, Rock Falls, Ill., and Emmet Rush, Indianapolis, Ind.

SOONG SEES U. S. ENVOY AFTER 5th STALIN PARLEY

MOSCOW, July 12 (AP)—T. V. Soong, Chinese premier, conferred today with W. Averell Harriman, United States ambassador, following Soong's fifth conversation with Generalissimo Stalin last night. Diplomatic circles said the Chinese-Russian discussions were reported in an advanced stage.

Harriman postponed his departure for the Big Three meeting in Potsdam for a short period.

The soviet government newspaper Izvestia said lasting peace could be achieved by preserving "complete unity among five great powers—Russia, the United States, England, France and China." The inclusion of China was interpreted in diplomatic quarters as a good augury for the conversations between Stalin and Soong.

BRADLEY ORDERS OFFICERS TO LET GIs SEE ACTORS

LONDON, July 13 [Friday] (AP)—The Stars and Stripes said today that Gen. Bradley had directed army officers to cease monopolizing the time of USO performers and permit them to entertain the GIs as they are supposed to do.

The paper said the directive was issued while Bradley was acting commander in chief of the European theater in the absence of Gen. Eisenhower.

"Instead of entertaining the performers personally the commanders might well encourage them to visit the clubs, messes, dances, and other assembly points of enlisted personnel to a maximum extent," the directive was quoted as saying.

Actress Luise Rainer Weds N. Y. Publisher

New York, July 12 (AP)—Luise Rainer, motion picture actress, and Robert Knittel, publisher, were married today at the Church of the Ascension, 5th av. and 10th st. Miss Rainer won the academy award in 1936 for her work in "The Great Ziegfeld" and in 1937 for her performance in "The Good Earth." Her marriage to Clifford Odets, scenarist and playwright, terminated in divorce in 1940. Knittel is on the staff of the Creative Age Press.

DE GAULLE ASKS STABILITY IN FRENCH REGIME

BY ROBERT SAGE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, July 12—In a broadcast review of the constitutional issue that will be put up to the nation's voters in the October elections, Gen. de Gaulle tonight made a plea for stability and declared that the future of France depends, in a large measure, on the manner in which its institutions are rebuilt.

Reminding his listeners that France has had 13 constitutions in a century and a half, an average of one every 12 years, he declared that the result of this instability was six invasions, several civil wars, a large number of street fights and disorders and a coup d'etat.

Regarding the question of a constitution which will be the basic issue in October, De Gaulle pointed out that the regime conceived in 1875 is no longer adapted to world conditions. He never has publicly stated his own position, but is understood to favor remodeling the old constitution and preserving the two house system instead of adopting an entirely new one with a unicameral system.

24 JAPS KILLED NEAR GENERAL'S OKINAWA HDQ.

OKINAWA, July 12 (AP)—A Japanese platoon was wiped out in a two hour battle with American troops today after sneaking within 200 yards of American 24th corps headquarters in the first organized attack since the Okinawa campaign officially ended.

The Nipponese were moving toward the headquarters of Gen. John R. Hodges when surprised near Nakagusuku castle by a patrol led by Sgt. Lynn Bullen, Mason, Mich. Twenty-four were killed. Six of the 12 man Yank patrol were wounded. Reenforcements came up and helped to smash the Japanese who used machine guns and "knee" mortars from behind rocks and trees.

Equipment carried by the Japanese was of both American and Japanese manufacture, with American carbines and food apparently stolen from stores. Six sabers indicated the presence of officers.

AUSSIES, DUTCH THROW FLAMES AT BORNEO JAPS

MANILA, July 13 [Friday]—(AP)—A violent battle beyond Balikpapan was reported today with Australian and Dutch troops wielding flame throwers in an attempt to encircle formidable Japanese ridge positions north of the captured Borneo oil port.

At the same time, a one mile advance east of Balikpapan was scored by Australian troops fighting along Borneo's east coast toward the rich Sambodja oil fields.

The Australian 7th division, supported by Dutch colonial troops, was closing in on the core of enemy resistance north of Balikpapan, Gen. MacArthur's war bulletin announced. Paced by tanks and flame throwers, they blasted their way thru tough resistance in a two mile advance and closed in on "smashed Stone ridge," keystone of the enemy's positions.

CAPEHART ASKS U. S. GIVE EXACT TERMS FOR JAPS

Frowns on a Soft Peace; Rows with Barkley

BY WILLIAM MOORE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 12—Calling for an end of secret diplomacy, Sen. Capehart [R., Ind.] demanded today that precise terms of surrender be given the Japanese. He told the senate he hopes the terms will be made known soon after the conference of the allied leaders in Berlin.

Sen. Capehart

Telling the senate that an exact declaration of terms would shorten the war and save American lives, Capehart made clear that he advocates no soft peace, but said:

"Let the terms be spelled out with clarity and decisiveness. Let the Nipponese understand that this price they must pay or die."

Rows with Barkley

Capehart's stern demand, which followed his controversy with the state depatrment as to whether or not peace feelers had already been made by the Japanese, brought Majority Leader Barkley (D., Ky.) to his feet in defense of the administration.

"This would stiffen the resistance of the Japanese," Barkley retorted, "more than anything I know of."

But Capehart stood his ground.

"Does 'unconditional surrender mean that the Japanese emperor is to go," he asked, "that the dynasty is to be destroyed and that a new type of government is to be created? I do not know. Neither does Japan.

Seeks to Save Yanks

"Our President has pledged that the Japanese people will not be enslaved or destroyed. They will not be. We have known that from the very beginning. . . .

"If retention of its present form of government is the 'face saving' necessary to enable Japan to accept our terms, then I for one advocate permitting them to save that much face. It would take a lot of such face to compensate for the life of one American boy.

"If it is to be our policy that Japan's system of government is to be destroyed as part of unconditional surrender, what is to take its place? Most certainly it cannot be argued that the Japanese are prepared for any democratic form of government. Are we to spend years in occupation and in teaching a different form of government? I cannot accept that proposition. . . .

"It is my deep conviction that insistence upon unconditional surrender may prolong the war, may prevent an overthrow of the Japanese war lords, may promote Japanese suicidal unity."

BELGIAN REGENT MEETS KING TO GET ABDICATION

Act Seen as Victory for Communists

BY HAL FOUST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, July 12—The Brussels government and diplomatic circles here believe the reign of King Leopold was being ended tonight at a conference of the king with high officials at his St. Wolfgang, Austria, retreat. They expect the officials to return to Brussels tomorrow or Saturday with Leopold's signature on the abdication.

If the expectations are realized it will be a victory for the left wing politicians, including the communist minority which has been the most vocal in opposing Leopold's return to Belgium after five years as a German prisoner of war. It also is seen as a diplomatic defeat for Great Britain, which is losing more of its continental influence to the Reds.

Whether the heir to the throne will return to Brussels with the officials was speculative. He is Leopold's 15 year old son, Prince Baudouin. Under the constitution he would be king at the moment of his father's abdication, but he would not reign until his 18th birthday in 1948.

Regent Will Keep Job

The abdication would not become official until it was announced to a session of parliament called for this purpose.

Leopold's younger brother, Charles, count of Flanders, is expected to give the news to parliament. He is regent now and would continue to rule until Baudouin becomes 18. He flew to St. Wolfgang this morning with Frans van Cauwelaert, president of the chamber of deputies, and Robert Gillon, president of the senate. Already there was Prime Minister Achille van Acker, whose cabinet had resolved to resign had Leopold attempted to return to Belgium.

Charge Collaboration

The fight against Leopold, apparently successful, was based on the charge that he coöperated with Hitler after surrendering with his defeated army in 1940. The Communists published that they had incriminating documentary evidence against their sovereign. They promised to coöperate with the regent, who spent the war in Brussels with little molestation from the Germans until 30 days before the capital's liberation, when he hid from nazi arrest.

Other questions being settled at tonight's conference in Austria, according to reports here, are the income and title of Leopold as an ex-king. He received a $250,000 annual allowance as king and got his pay while a prisoner of war. This war impoverished monarchy of only 8,000,000 population will also pay the regent and the child king with customary generosity toward royalty.

Another question being settled is the education of Baudouin. Leopold is said to favor his son going to school in England.

SUZUKI CALLS IN 'ELDERS' TO AID IN FOOD CRISIS

San Francisco, Cal., July 12 (AP)—Premier Suzuki, confronted with a rising clamor of home front criticism, convened his cabinet and "elder statesmen" today to consider the food situation.

Suzuki first called on Emperor Hirohito, then went into conference with former Premiers Gen. Hideki Tojo and Prince Fumimaro Konoye, who was sidetracked to private life when Japan went to war on the United States.

They listened to an explanation of the food situation—which has prompted recent cuts in rations—from Motoi Yukawa, agriculture and commerce vice minister, said a Tokyo broadcast.

Suzuki later announced a shakeup of 27 lesser cabinet positions.

CHINESE GAIN IN SMASH TOWARD EX-U. S. AIR BASE

CHUNGKING, China, July 12 (AP)—Chinese troops pushing beyond Liuchow, recovered United States bomber base that was turned into a mammoth booby trap by the retreating Japanese, are driving toward Yungfu, 30 miles from Kweilin, site of another abandoned air field, the Chinese command said today.

The high command said its troops moving up the Hunan-Kwangsi railroad from Liuchow had scored further gains toward Kweilin, and had struck out for Yungfu after recapturing Luchai, 28 miles northeast of Liuchow. The extent of advances toward Yungfu was not announced.

Chinese headquarters announced a setback on the South China coast. There the Japanese captured Tinpak, 170 miles southwest of Canton. The Chinese also said Japanese at Dong Dang, just inside the Indo-China border, had made repeated attacks against Chinese frontier positions 75 miles northeast of Hanoi, but had been repulsed.

SEE 2 MONTHS' CLEAR SKIES FOR BOMBING JAPAN

OKINAWA, July 12 (AP)—Nature is withdrawing Japan's weather defenses, observers reported today, and during the next couple of months American airmen may expect clear skies for bombing and strafing missions.

Okinawa is the only weather observation post the United States ever has had near the center of the oriental weather "cradle." It will augment observations at Saipan, Guam, and other stations.

S/Sgt. Floyd C. Smith of Long Beach, Cal., an aerologist, said the oriental cradle extends on a line from Shanghai, China, several hundred miles northeastward thru the Japanese cities of Kobe, Sasebo, and Tokyo. Along this line the warm air from the Pacific strikes the cold mass from northern Asia. This produces fogs and rains over Japan from February to July.

NAZIS TEARLESS AT BURIAL OF SLAIN BUDDIES

Fort Douglas, Utah, July 12 (AP)—About 40 German prisoners of war watched today as the bodies of eight of their comrades machine-gunned by a United States army private were buried in the Fort Douglas military cemetery.

Some of the prisoners squinted in the hot sun, but otherwise were expressionless. No tears were shed. No German flag of any sort was displayed.

Farewell Greeting

After Capt. Frank B. Edwards, Fort Douglas chaplain, finished the prayer service, Sgt. Hans Fertig, spokesman for 15 prisoners brought by truck from the Salina camp, stepped forward and stood stiffly at attention near one of the graves. Then he spoke in clear, deliberate German for two or three minutes.

Corp. Henry Kloefel of Pittsburg, Cal., interpreter at the Ogden, Utah, prison of war camp, said Fertig "spoke a farewell greeting."

"He said it was the will of God that deprived them of the chance of seeing their loved ones at home again thru this accident," Kloefel said.

Decorated with Flowers

White headboards with the men's names lettered in black were placed at each grave.

After the services were over, prisoners who had sung three songs of requiem, peeled off their jackets and shoveled the sandy earth into the graves.

Pvt. Clarence V. Bertucci, 24, of New Orleans, who fired three bursts from a machine gun at the Salina camp, 150 miles south of Salt Lake City, Sunday, is confined to Bushnell general hospital for an extended examination.

COUNCIL READY TO ADOPT PLAN FOR NEW LONDON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, July 12—An 800 million dollar 10 year plan to reconstruct a large part of the county of London is expected to be adopted by the London county council on Tuesday.

The plan, which calls for an expenditure of more than $100,000,000 in the first four years, aims at solving four main London problems—traffic congestion, poor housing, intermixing of housing and industry, and lack of open spaces. During the four year period it is proposed to construct six miles of new roads, clear 1,500 acres of slums, and spend $16,000,000 on land for parks.

LEFTISTS CHARGE REIGN OF TERROR BY FASCISTS IN GREECE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, July 12—A charge that Greece is being ruled by fascists, quislings, and collaborationists who have subjected the country to a reign of terror, was made here today by the central committee of EAM, the leftist Greek national liberation front. The statement appeals for world action to save Greece from a "regime of terror even more hideous than a dictatorship and worse than the period of barbarous slavery."

The committee alleges 60,000 men of the ELAS liberation army are being victimized, imprisoned, tortured, murdered, and thousands of ELAS wounded and war invalids were expelled from hospitals and deprived of medical treatment. Five hundred combatants, the statement declared, had been murdered in the last four months and 20,000 others have been detained.

Numerous resistance fighters, according to the EAM committee, are destitute. They are excluded from jobs because of democratic opinions and have no share in commodities imported by the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration, it is said.

The committee charges that armed bands blockading villages are making mass arrests, murdering, looting, torturing, and are collaborating with other organizations in planning a fascist coup under the direction of a fascist military league.

15,000 PETITION FOR REPORT ON PEARL HARBOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 12—Publication of the report made last fall by a special naval board of inquiry on the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor was demanded in a petition presented to the senate today by Sen. Langer [R., N. D.]. Langer said the petition was signed by 15,000 American citizens.

The naval board was appointed last summer at the request of congress. Its report, and that of an army board which conducted an investigation of the Pearl Harbor disaster at the same time, was classified as "top secret" when it was submitted to high naval authorities and its contents have not been disclosed.

Langer told the senate the petition had been sent to him by the Rev. A. W. Terminiello, Huntsville, Ala., named in the petition as the agent of those signing it.

"The American people," the petition stated, "have in many places expressed a desire to know the person or persons responsible for the defeat of Pearl Harbor and do not believe that the excuse of military expediency should be used to shield the guilty party or parties."

D-DAY TO MAY 9 BAG OF ALLIES: 161 DIVISIONS

12TH ARMY GROUP HDQ., Germany, July 12 (AP)—The allied juggernaut that destroyed German power in western Europe destroyed at least 161 enemy divisions or similar major units between D-day, June 6, 1944, and May 9, 1945.

Many were annihilated on their first contact with American or British arms. Others were mauled beyond recognition and their elements absorbed into other divisions.

Some, like the famed Panzerlehr division, were wiped out time and again, only to reform and fight on until finally crushed in the Ruhr. A few fought all the way across France into Germany and still were on their feet when the remnants of the Wehrmacht surrendered.

HILLSBORO HAILS A BOY WHO MADE GOOD: MITSCHER

Admiral on Visit to See Mother

BY CARL WIEGMAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Hillsboro, Wis., July 12—This little town, a thousand miles from the sea, turned out today to welcome a native son who grew up to become one of the greatest sea captains of history. He is Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher, commander of task force 58, which spread death and destruction to the enemy all over the Pacific.

Today's events in Hillsboro could only be enacted in the United States. In the morning the admiral and his wife, Frances, drove up to the home of his mother, Mrs. Myrta Mitscher, in a mud stained 1940 Chevrolet sedan. There were no aides or flunkies with the admiral, he drove himself all the way here from Coronado, Cal.

Rests on Front Porch

In his mother's old fashioned dining room, adorned by cages of canaries, the admiral breakfasted on Wisconsin bacon and eggs. Then he sat for a while in a wicker rocker on the screened front porch, directly under a large thermometer which advertised a remedy for rheumatism.

Occasionally a neighbor came in to say hello. Children called to get the admiral's autograph on popcorn boxes. The family took a drive thru the wooded hills surrounding the town, where Adm. Mitscher's grandparents settled before the Civil war.

In the afternoon a committee of leading citizens paid a formal call. Bashfully, they presented a Wisconsin state flag and a wristwatch inscribed "From the citizens of Hillsboro." They presented a handsome compact to the admiral's wife and a cameo brooch to his mother. The admiral thanked them and made a little speech about the war.

"Everything Going Fine"

"At first we had the No. 2 front out in the Pacific," he said. "Now it is the No. 1, and everything is going fine. But we need more man power, more ships, and the support of the people. It will be just as tough as the European war and maybe tougher. We expect it to last at least a year, but let's stick it out."

The speech was followed by a parade thru the business district, which was bedecked with flags, bunting, and welcome signs. Adm. Mitscher rode with his wife and mother in an open car, saluting gravely to the people who lined the streets. There were almost 2,000 of them, altho the population of Hillsboro is only 1,106.

The parade passed the house where the admiral was born 58 years ago, and the store building erected by his grandfather, Thomas J. Shear, in 1885. His frail mother, who is in her eighties, beamed at the people, many of them her old friends, and the admiral's handsome brown-eyed wife smiled appreciatively.

Band Leads Parade

A high school band led the parade, tooting proudly. At the edge of the business district the band fell out of the line of march while the admiral's car went on to pass the town's principal factories, a milk condensary and a cannery.

The committee explained that the factory employes had wanted to see the admiral, too, but war work prevented closing of the plants in time for the parade.

Tomorrow Adm. Mitscher and his wife will resume their automobile journey to Washington, where he is to be assigned to new duties. He said he has not been notified officially about the new duties, but has heard reports that he will become deputy chief of naval operations for air.

J.B. CHIFLEY, FORMER RAILROAD ENGINEER, NEW AUSSIE PREMIER

CANBERRA, Australia, July 12 (AP)—Joseph Benedict Chifley, a former locomotive engineer, today became prime minister of Australia with his election to leadership of the dominant Labor party.

Joseph B. Chifley

Chifley, the son of a blacksmith, progressed to the highest office in his country on a platform of social reform for the little man. He had been acting prime minister in recent months, during the illness of Prime Minister John Curtin, who died July 5. He will be 60 Sept. 22.

Chifley, ardent advocate of Australian-American peace time cooperation in the Pacific, easily won the Labor party leadership in party caucus balloting which chose Deputy Prime Minister Francis E. Forde as deputy leader.

DE VALERA GRABS 14 I. R. A. MEN TO BAR TERRORISM

DUBLIN, Eire, July 12 (AP)—Prime Minister Eamon de Valera invoked emergency powers today to quell what he termed plans for a terrorist campaign and his order was followed by the arrest of 14 men whom the government described as leaders of the outlawed Republican army.

"They formed the hard core of the I. R. A.," a government spokesman said, "and were preparing to carry on acts of terrorism again."

[*The Daily Sketch in London reported that I. R. A. leaders had voted death sentences for De Valera and other top government officials and had sent to each a foolscap order for a summary execution. 1907 PACT GIVES PASSAGE TO JAP HOSPITAL SHIPS

U. S. Policy Followed in Wake Island Incident

BY JOSEPH HEARST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 12—The right of Japanese military hospital ships to sail Pacific war zones with virtually complete freedom is established under international law, the navy said today.

An instance of the free movement of hospital ships came to light July 6 when Adm. Nimitz announced that a Japanese ship, taking 974 ill and wounded nationals home to Japan from Wake Island, had been stopped by an American destroyer, searched, and permitted to proceed.

The law governing hospital ships in time of war was drawn at the Hague on Oct. 18, 1907. Thirty-five nations, including the United States and Japan, either signed it or announced their adherence to it. The convention was called to adapt "to maritime warfare the principles of the Geneva convention" which had been signed a year earlier.

Time Limits Broader

Under the terms hospital ships of belligerent nations cannot be captured and can stay in neutral ports beyond the time limit prescribed for warships. They are free to move at will after their names have been communicated to the other belligerent nations. They must be painted white with a green horizontal band, fly the Red Cross flag with their own national flag, and, for their protection, travel well lighted at night.

The convention forbids use of the ships for military purposes and stipulates that such vessels "must in no wise hamper the movements of combatants."

"During and after an engagement they will act at their own risk and peril," article 4 of the law said. "The belligerents shall have the right to control and search them; they can refuse to help them, order them off, make them take a certain course, and put a commissioner aboard; they can even detain them if important circumstances require it."

Could Have Seized Japs

Article 12 makes it clear that the commander of the U. S. S. Murray, who stopped the Jap ship Takasago Maru twice near Wake, could have taken the Japanese from the ship had he desired, for it states that:

"Any warship belonging to a belligerent may demand that sick, wounded, or shipwrecked men on board military ships, hospital ships, hospital ships belonging to relief societies or to private individuals, merchant ships, yachts, or boats, should be handed over."

The American commander searched the ship, however, and satisfied himself that the evacuees from Wake were either wounded or ill of tuberculosis or malnutrition and permitted it to proceed.

Considered Customary Action

It is understood this is customary navy procedure where ill and wounded are being taken home by the enemy.

The convention also asserts that hospital ships equipped at the expense of private individuals or by officially recognized relief societies shall "likewise be respected and exempt from capture." These ships are required to be painted white with a red horizontal band.

Regulations governing hospital ships differ from those for relief ships in that the movements of the latter must be arranged by a neutral agency—such as Switzerland—and they must sail a prescribed course.

BOY, 9, SMUGGLED INTO U.S. WANTED TO 'KEEL' IL DUCE

Boston, Mass., July 12 (AP)—Natale Piavello, Italian war orphan, brought to this country aboard the troop transport Gen. Bliss, said today that if he had ever seen Mussolini he would have "keeled him."

Natale Piavello

The youngster, at a press conference arranged by immigration officials, expressed hope that he would be taken into the home of an American soldier whose mother he might call "my own."

The boy, found in a German prison camp, was carried aboard the ship in a barracks bag when the 121st infantry headed for the United States. He said rumors that he had killed a nazi officer who abused him were a little overdrawn. "I just wounded him," he explained. Immigration officials said decision on his case must wait at least two weeks.

Meanwhile Rep. Lane [D., Mass.] filed a bill in congress to legalize the boy's entry.

WAKE'S GOONY BIRDS GONE; FED STARVING JAPS

Officers Tell of Sights on Hospital Ship

GUAM, July 10 [Delayed]—(AP)—Members of the Japanese garrison on Wake Island apparently were driven to eating goony birds.

That was the report today from Comdr. Paul L. Devos, commander of the United States destroyer Murray, which inspected the Japanese hospital ship bringing off most of the starving garrison that seized the United States island possession early in the war.

Thousands of the clumsy birds used to plague American aviators at Wake. But Devos failed to spot one as his destroyer moved in close to the island and intercepted the ship, the Takasago Maru.

Smells Across Water

The ship was stopped July 5, shortly after it left Wake with 974 sick and dying Japanese soldiers, long cut off from Japan's source of supply. It was allowed to proceed.

The smell of death from the converted 9,000 ton liner came across the waters while the destroyer still lay 1,000 yards away.

Lt. [j. g.] Robert O. Westlake, Oakland, Cal., medical officer, said all the military patients were suffering from malnutrition diseases, pellegra, beri beri, and scurvy. Their cheeks were hollow, their eyeballs sunken. The worst were comatose and those conscious appeared frightened when the Americans appeared.

The Japanese plied the American boarding party with questions about America—the Yankees, was Babe Ruth still alive, and what became of Charlie Chaplin.

Supplies Inadequate

Lt. [j. g.] William J. Duddleson of Los Angeles, Cal., who made the inspection, said the decks and compartments were clean but would not have passed American naval inspection. Medical supplies were inadequate, and there was barely enough food—rice, dried fish, canned goods, and some fresh vegetables—for the trip back to Japan.

Among the patients were 14 Japanese wounded by bomb fragments in American air raids.

The walls of the compartments were decorated with pin-ups of geisha girls.

Lt. Comdr. Robert H. White of San Francisco, heading the boarding party, and Lt. Frank Higgins of Hollywood, Cal., the interpreter, were kept busy turning down Japanese offers of drinks. Higgins, who used to live in Tokyo, tried to smoke out one Japanese on air raids on the Japanese capital. He asked if the neighborhood where he once lived was still there.

Officers Overdo Courtesy

"I wonder if it is," replied the Japanese with oriental dead pan.

As the boarding party waved the Japanese on their way, Higgins said the Japanese captain gave him this message:

"Convey to your captain my appreciation for the proper and gentlemanly way you've conducted the search."

Report Breslau Cardinal, Foe of Nazis, Dead at 86

LONDON, July 12 (AP)—Reuters news agency said tonight that news had reached Pilsen, Czechoslovakia, of the death of Cardinal Bertram, 86, archbishop of Breslau and a critic of nazi policies. [Vatican circles said they had received no information of the reported death.]

AMERICAN TOOL OF NAZIS THRU WHIM, SAYS WIFE

BERLIN, July 12 (AP)—American born Frederick Kaltenbach became a tool of Nazi propaganda thru a whim that led him to study Germany's alleged sufferings under the Versailles peace, his wife said today.

Kaltenbach, from Dubuque, Ia., was indicted in Washington in 1943 on treason charges accusing him of making broadcasts over the Nazi radio.

His wife said he was arrested by Russian officers June 14 and that she had not heard of him since. The former Dorothea Peters of Koeslin, Pomerania, she married Kaltenbach in 1939 when she was a secretary in the office of a German aviation magazine.

Kaltenbach, 50 year old historian-author who held a master of arts degree from the University of Chicago and a doctorate of philosophy from the University of Berlin, specialized on affairs of Germany where both his parents were born.

CHIEF OF POLISH ARMIES ABROAD BACKS EXILES

LONDON, July 12 (AP)—An apparently organized campaign by the high command of Poland's armies on foreign soil to block the repatriation of Polish troops was indicated today in an order of the day by Lt. Gen. Wladislaw Anders protesting allied recognition of the new Warsaw Polish government.

Anders recently was appointed by the exiled Polish government as commander in chief of all Poland's land, sea, and air forces abroad. His order was made public by Polish forces headquarters here just one day after Maj. Gen. Klemens Rudnicki, commander of the Polish 1st armored division in occupied Germany, asked his men in a similar order to remain loyal to the London group of Poles.

Recognition Heavy Blow

Anders, now in Italy, declared allied recognition of the Warsaw government was a "heavy blow," and asserted "the powers of the world trample over our constitution, over our rightful authorities. For the temporary sake of convenience, they accept the fait accompli which was imposed on Poland by foreign might.

"All of us will be the object of attack, of insidious agitation. They will call on us for a so-called free return to our country—a return which we know is cloaked with uncertain consequence.

Await 'Favorable Change'

"They will search amongst Polish soldiers for men of feeble will and nerves. This work will be facilitated by the fact that our legal Polish authorities have been deprived of all means of public relations serving the Polish cause, even in the form of broadcasts from London."

The order declared "return is impossible for the time being. We must remain in disciplined and closed ranks, awaiting a favorable change of conditions."

Anders did not say what would constitute a "favorable change of conditions."

MOST OF BRITISH FLEET IN PACIFIC, OFFICIAL AVERS

Washington, July 12 [Special]—Capt. Eric Barry Kenvyn Stevens of the royal navy, recently arrived here to represent the British admiralty as chief of naval information in Washington, stated today that the "majority" of the British fleet either has gone or is en route to the Pacific.

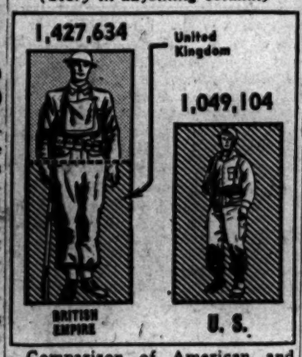
Some units are operating under Fleet Adm. Nimitz with the United States fleet, while the rest are in the East Indies, he said. He said he hoped to be able to dispel any impression here that the British fleet, since the end of the European war, still is off Great Britain.

6,000 Slavs Returning Daily to Border Town

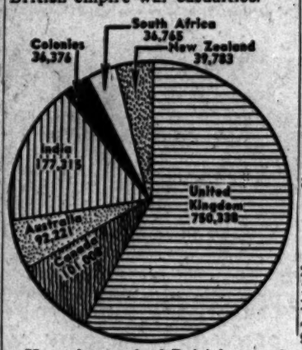
BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, July 12 (AP)—Repatriated Yugoslavs from central European territory occupied by British and Americans are reported arriving at Jesenice, near the Austrian border, at the rate of 6,000 daily. Approximately 250,000 Yugoslavs are in SHAEF territory.

War Casualties

(Story in adjoining column)



Comparison of American and British empire war casualties.



How the total of British casualties is divided.

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP)—A heavy increase in casualties reported by the navy today raised losses of the armed forces since the beginning of the war to 1,049,104. This was 12,167 more than reported week ago.

The navy, listing total casualties of 133,386, accounted for 7,846 of the week's increase. The army total on the basis of names received here thru July 7, was 915,718—a rise of 4,321.

A breakdown on army casualties reported and similar figures for the preceding week:

Killed, 193,508 and 191,684; wounded, 567,674 and 566,117; missing, 37,323 and 38,343; prisoners, 117,213 and 115,253.

Undersecretary Patterson said that 346,171 of the wounded are back on duty and 94,020 of the prisoners have been listed as exchanged or returned to military control. The decline in the number of missing in the last week apparently reflected shifts to other categories.

The navy breakdown:

Two Ports in Use

Ports of Danzig and Gdynia, now joined in harbor district.

DANZIG, July 12 (AP)—The Baltic ports of Danzig and Gdynia have been joined into a single harbor district 14 miles long. Ship traffic moved haltingly today thru wreckage that includes the German battleships Gneisenau and Schleswig-Holstein.

Both cities are in ruins. The Poles, who expect to gain Danzig, have renamed the former free city Gdansk, as it was known in medieval times. The Russians still exercise authority in these regions, from which 500,000 Germans are gradually moving.

The harbor had its first business since the war on July 8 when coal arrived from Silesia and a Russian service ship steamed into the Vistula river. Swedish ships are outside the roads. It will be many months before the port functions as in peacetime. The Germans wrecked the Gdynia harbor facilities—its 10 great basins behind a massive sea wall, its modern wharves, and cranes and quays. Great gaps were blown in the sea wall every 100 feet.

QUISLING TRIAL STARTS WITHIN A FEW WEEKS

OSLO, Norway, July 12 [Reuters]—The trial of Vidkun Quisling, 56, old head of the German puppet government of Norway, who gave himself up after the German surrender in May, will begin at the end of July or early in August.

Annseus Schoedt, acting Norwegian public prosecutor, today issued the act of accusation against Quisling covering nine main points. The indictment includes charges of high treason, murder, embezzlement, theft and a number of offenses against the military and civil penal codes.

One accusation is that at a conference with Adolf Hitler in Berlin in December, 1939—four months before the German invasion of Norway—Quisling discussed the German occupation of Norway and the country's incorporation into a German state under German leadership.

CHARGES OWI BONER WRITTEN BY 2 RUSSIANS

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP)—Sen. Wherry [R., Neb.] told the senate tonight that the office of war information intends to "correct its misrepresentations" about the plains states by sending Russians a map printed in English.

"And the article that libeled our states was all in Russian," he said of the OWI magazine piece which told Russians about the United States.

Authors' Service Ended

Furthermore, Wherry said in a long speech whch kept the senate in session well past 7 p. m., he has learned that the authors of the article in question were "two Russians, noncitizens, whose service the OWI has now terminated."

Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.] interposed that "if we look further into what the OWI is telling other people about all sections of this country, we will get the OWI appropriation down to where it should be."

Wherry angrily quoted the article in OWI's "America Illustrated" as having said that in the plains states industry is nonexistent—"think of it!"—and their rich natural resources are virtually untouched—"think of it!"

Lists State's Products

Wherry reeled off a list of some of Nebraska's products, starting off with wheat, corn, and alfalfa. He declared that in one year, the value of Nebraska's manufactures was more than $600,000,000. He ripped out figures on electrical power output, on railroad services, low state taxes, the state's people, its athletes, writers, and educators. His list of Nebraska's great ranged from Grover Cleveland Alexander, oldtime baseball star, thru the late William Jennings Bryan.

Asked for comment on Wherry's speech, Davis said: "The Russians can look at the pictures, can't they? Quite a few Russians can read English, but for those who can't the pictures show plainly what these states raise."

CHICAGO GATE FOR 20 MILLION IN WAR TRAVELS

Aid Society Is Ready to Meet Huge Demand

Since V-E began to release our fighting men from Europe, Chicago has been the crossroads of the world at war. The Travelers Aid society estimated yesterday that in the next 10 months an army of 20 million men and women in service will pass thru Chicago.

The estimate was based on so-called man moves related to redeployment of troops to Japan, the trips of those freed by furlough assignments, and the first journeys of recruits to training camps. In these processes it was estimated that one man may pass thru Chicago five to seven times in the stated period.

The vanguard of war travelers began moving thru Chicago last May 21. The society strengthened its staff and called for volunteers to assist its services to travelers when it appeared that a surge of 20 million man moves was impending.

Peak Strikes Early

Mrs. Anita Tidball, executive secretary of the society, said the redeployment peak, scheduled for August, struck in the last two weeks. The chaotic conditions that have attended travel since the end of Europe's war moved Mrs. Tidball to ask the national society to issue an appeal to all civilians not to undertake a cross-country trip thru Chicago without reservations to their destination.

Movement of troops and civilians after the attack on Pearl Harbor imposed such a burden upon the society that it was obliged to increase its services by 2,500 per cent over its pre-war total. The case load of the society rose steadily, but it began to skyrocket in the redeployment rush of service men from overseas between June 3 and 9.

Case Load Soars

In that week the case count load, which includes such problems as runaways and sick service men, in addition to civilians stranded without lodgings or train fare, jumped to 545, or 46.1 per cent above that of the preceding week.

Mrs. Tidball called housing the most critical problem. Returning service men are described as complaining about the lack of hotel space and wives who have come here to join their husbands on furlough are disappointed because they cannot find temporary apartments or even a room.

Many Youngsters Assisted

The civilians who are overtaxing the society's facilities include well intentioned aged folks who go wandering across country to greet a favorite grandson just home from the war, and children of busy parents who become victims of wanderlust without money enough to buy their own ticket back home. Last month, 600 boys and girls under 16 received assistance of volunteers who were needed elsewhere to help soldiers and sailors.

Much of the society's work is being performed by 700 specially trained volunteers. Now there is a new call for women who can give at least one day a week on the 8 a. m. to 1 p. m. shift as lounge hostesses in the six railroad terminals, information clerks, or aids to staff workers. Women older than 25 are asked to communicate with the office of civilian defense council of social agencies at 343 S. Dearborn st. The telephone number is Wabash 0528.

NONCOMS IN ETO TO GET HALF OF OFFICERS' BOOZE

LONDON, July 12 (AP)—Half of the liquor supplies in the European theater of operations are being reserved for noncommissioned officers under a new policy prescribed by Gen. Eisenhower, Stars and Stripes reported today.

Heretofore liquor has been reserved only for officers. A typical ration for July was one bottle of whisky, half a bottle of gin, half a bottle of liquer, and one bottle of champagne. That amount was issued to two officers or four noncommissioned officers.

No provision was made for privates. Neither does the order apply to the United Kingdom, since no supplies are available, altho officers' clubs are receiving a limited amount.

REDS DECORATED AT BRANDENBURG GATE BY MONTY

Zhukov Hails Briton with Embrace

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BERLIN, July 12—Russian Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, brimming with energy, health and the joy of living, threw his arm around Field Marshal Montgomery when they met under the arch of Brandenburg Gate today to attend a solemn ceremony in which the British in the name of the king presented high decorations to Zhukov, Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, general of the army V. D. Sokolovsky, and Col. Gen. Mikhail Sergius Malinin. The King's Own grenadiers performed the military ceremonial.

For years only Adolf Hitler had been allowed to pass thru the central arch of Brandenburg Gate and it was a fitting spot, therefore, for two of the allies' military chiefs to meet. American Major Generals Floyd L. Parks, Stuart Cutler, and Paul L. Ransom, whose own parade was held later, were present at the ceremony with their staffs. The French were represented by Maj. Gen. Geoffrey de Beauchesne.

Decorations Awarded

Zhukov received Britain's Order of Grand Commander of the Bath from Montgomery, Rokossovsky received the Order of Knight Commander of the Bath, and Sokolovsky and Malinin the Order of Knight of the British Empire.

Atop Brandenburg Gate were the remnants of the goddess of victory on her chariot, decorated with the Red flag.

In the background the golden victory angel on the column of victory the Germans erected after their victory over France in 1871 was shining brightly in the sun—one of the few monuments which was not destroyed or damaged in Berlin. The skeleton of the reichstag was on one side and the remnants of the American embassy and Propaganda Minister Goebbels' home on the other.

Before the ceremony, a Berlin traffic policeman who had stood guard in the main intersections of the German capital in the days of the republic, helped clear German civilians from the square. He repeatedly asked me and others, "You know our city was good looking in the old days, don't you?"

German civilians were most deeply impressed by the British band because it "sounded beautiful and peaceful."

Couple Hurt by Mine

A few minutes before the ceremony an explosion was heard in the near-by Tiergarten. A man and a woman were seriously injured when they tried to take a short cut and stepped on a mine. Both were taken to a hospital in an American jeep.

Tho officially the Americans and British took over their zones at 9 a. m. a number of matters remained to be cleared up. For instance, the Russians entered the Danish legation this noon and told the official on duty there that he must return home and that he would go via Moscow. He was ordered to pack his belongings for the trip and was taken along by the Russians. The Danish legation is in the zone which is under British jurisdiction.

Last night the Russians ordered Danes, Belgians, and French in the American sector near the site of the forthcoming Big Three meeting to report to the town hall and be ready to leave in a westerly direction.

BERLIN, July 12 (AP)—The inter-allied kommandantur [command post] of Berlin announced today that all existing soviet regulations and orders would be continued in force until special notice.

The announcement came a few hours after Russian army authorities formally relinquished control of 12 of Berlin's 20 boroughs to American and British officials.

There was no observable change in the Russian pattern of rule.

Yanks to Feed 750,000

United States detachments which had been waiting since midnight of July 4 took over authority in the American zone at 9 a. m. The British got started legally at noon.

American counter-intelligence officers are screening soviet appointed German administrators and policemen for possible Nazis. It was indicated that if non-Nazi civil servants are regarded as efficient they will be retained in office regardless of party affiliations.

ACCUSE PURPLE HEART BOX FIRM OF TAX EVASION

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP)—Treasury Secretary Morgenthau said today a manufacturer of jewelry boxes for Purple Hearts has concealed sales amounting to at least $80,000 in filing income tax returns. Morgenthau called this a "particularly distressing case of attempted tax evasion" and said early indications are that criminal prosecution will be recommended. He did not name the jewelry box manufacturer.

He said another important case involving a firm of war contractors in Wisconsin is expected to be presented to a grand jury within the next three or four weeks. He indicated this case involves several million dollars in unreported income.

Morgenthau said the case involves understated and suppressed reports of sales, padded reports of purchases, padded pay rolls and diversions to the private accounts of members of the firm, including use of materials and man power to build a private residence for a member of the firm.

Morgenthau said a large raisin grape dealer has made disclosures showing "more than $150,000 worth of checks drawn to 'cash' in an apparent effort to enable the recipients to evade price and income tax regulations.

GEN. IKE BACK IN GERMANY; ENDS SHAEF TONIGHT

FRANKFURT ON THE MAIN, Germany, July 12 (AP)—Gen. Ike was back at work today—and associates said they had never seen the general "in higher spirits or looking so well."

There was no fanfare for Gen. Eisenhower's return from the United States, which gave him such a resounding hero's welcome. He greeted his friends, chatted with them for a while, and then plunged into the work which had piled up during his absence.

The general and his party left the United States shortly after he stopped at Hyde Park to lay a wreath on the grave of President Roosevelt.

Tomorrow night the organization thru which Eisenhower directed allied forces to the defeat of Germany, SHAEF, will be dissolved. No official ceremonies are planned.

OPA IS ACCUSED OF FALSIFYING SUGAR REPORTS

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP)—The Republican congressional food committee said today that statements made by the office of price administration in application forms for home-canning sugar are "false or misleading."

A statement made public thru Rep. Gwinn [R., N. Y.] said the OPA's explanation of the sugar shortage in statements accompanying application blanks for additional sugar contained erroneous assertions that ships which otherwise might be bringing sugar into the United States are hauling supplies to battle fronts, that man power is scarce at sugar refineries and shipping ports, that beet sugar production last year was 500,000 tons short, making the stock smaller for this year, and that last year many people over-applied for canning sugar and so much was used that stocks at the beginning of this year were abnormally low.

The committee said the statement that excessive applications for canning sugar were made "is the worst misrepresentation of all" and amounts to a "disgraceful charge that housewives themselves created the sugar shortage." Such propaganda is supposed to divert attention from the mistakes and failures of the OPA by constantly accusing of crime the free citizens whose liberties it encroaches upon."

JOHNSON HATES RUM; LIKES BLUE LAWS, Y. M. C. A.

Is Father of 11 Children and Bucknell Trustee

Lewisburg, Pa., July 12 [Special]—Albert Williams Johnson, 72, whose record as a federal judge in the middle district of Pennsylvania is being investigated by a house judiciary subcommittee, developed in his judicial role a reputation as a backer of Sunday blue laws and as a violent foe of liquor and cigaret smoking women.

A nattily dressed, mild mannered man, Johnson was apt to make a speech from the bench on almost any subject. During a hotel padlocking case in the '20s he said:

"The so-called society leaders of today, instead of going around drinking liquor and smoking cigarets and carrying pug nosed lap dogs, might better take to raising babies and making better homes."

Father of 11 Children

Twice married, Johnson is the father of 11 children, five by his first wife, who died in 1909, and six by his second, whom he married in 1913.

The former judge is remembered at the Scranton hotel, where he used to stop, as the possessor of an ancient suitcase which he always carried himself. His carefulness in minor personal expenditures was widely known. An early sponsor of the Y. M. C. A. in Pennsylvania, Johnson was a frequent speaker at religious and patriotic gatherings.

One of his favorite courtroom practices was to take a poll of the spectators at minor cases to determine the guilt or innocence of a defendant.

Trustee of Bucknell

From 1927 to 1929 Johnson was state and national president of the Patriotic Order of the Sons of America. He has maintained membership in the Odd Fellows, Modern Woodmen, Royal Arcanum, and Sons of Veterans of the Union Army. He is a trustee of Bucknell university, a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity, and an incorporator of the Dickinson law school, Carlisle, Pa.

Johnson was born in Welkert, Pa., Nov. 28, 1872. He was graduated from Bucknell university in this city in 1896 and was admitted to the Union county, Pa., bar in 1898.

In 1901 Johnson was elected to the statehouse of representatives at Harrisburg and served one term. He was named a law instructor at Bucknell in 1902 and held that position until 1926, teaching while practicing law and serving on the bench.

Appointed by Coolidge

In 1925, after 10 years as judge in the Union county Common Pleas court, he was named a federal judge by President Coolidge. His appointment was to the middle district in Pennsylvania, a post he held until his recent resignation.

Bankruptcies within the district have been estimated to run over 150 a year, involving hundreds of thousands of dollars. Four years ago Judge Watson filed a petition with the 3d Circuit Court of Appeals, charging Johnson took 84 per cent of the bankruptcy cases.

Johnson was investigated by the United States attorney general's office in 1933, but was exonerated of charges he favored his sons with appointments in bankruptcy cases.

In the course of the present investigation, ordered by the house committee in January, 1944, a navy officer, Lt. J. Donald Reifsnyder, 35, Scranton attorney and a witness in the inquiry, was found shot to death behind a billboard at Scranton Aug. 30, 1944. Detective Capt. George Donaldson said he had taken his own life.

Reifsnyder killed himself on the day he was scheduled to testify before a federal grand jury probing judicial matters in the district.

U. S. AID TO HELP BRITAIN RESTORE OLD MEAT QUOTA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, July 12—Resumption of American lend-lease shipments of meat to Britain in the final quarter of this year will enable the food minister to restore the fresh meat ration during the winter months to the former level of 23½ cents worth per head weekly, it was reliably reported here tonight. Because of the shortage of fresh meat consumers at present have to take one-seventh of the ration in canned beef.

Britain's meat consumption recently was calculated at 1,215,000,000 pounds a quarter. The news that America is sending 250,000,000 pounds in three months, starting in October, is given front page space in most morning papers.

One paper headlines the report, "Good deed in a naughty world—America will send us meat again." Some reports assert that America's contribution—more than one-fifth of this country's civilian consumption—"is not a large quantity" in view of the American production.

ATTORNEY SAYS U. S. JUDGE TOLD HIM TO PAY OFF

'See Me,' Jurist Is Quoted at Hearing

afternoon, Committee Counsel M. H. Goldschein called Memolo as a witness.

Memolo said that Greenes camped in his office on the first and 15th of every month waiting for Memolo to cash his court allowance, which varied from $500 to $1,500 a month, so that Greenes could get his 50 per cent.

He said that on the day that Bethlehem Steel sent a check for $25,000 for Memolo's brother [the late Martin Memolo who had been named "agent of the court" by Johnson in the Williamsport case], the following occurred:

"Greenes asked for $6,000. He said he had to help make good an obligation the judge had. He said the judge was buying a summer home and needed $6,000.

"I gave it to him.

Son Took Out $500

"He may not have told me then that it was for the judge's summer home, but if he didn't I subsequently learned it was."

Goldschein asked: "Did you learn what took place afterward?"

"Greenes told me," said Memolo, "that he and Donald took the $6,000 to the judge but that on the way Donald took $500 out of the envelope. When they got to the judge and he counted it and found it was $5,500 instead of $6,000 he complained to Greenes and Greenes said that was all he could get.

"Subsequently, Donald told his father he had taken the $500. This is the way Greenes told it to me."

Goldschein had told the committee Tuesday that Judge Johnson had testified before a grand jury in Scranton about the summer home purchase, at Cherry Run, Pa.

Claims Only $250 Paid

At that time, Goldschein said, Johnson had testified he paid $250 deposit on the home.

"He denied," Goldschein said, "paying the balance of the purchase price and declared that without any further action on his part the deed for the property arrived by mail. He never inquired into or established who might be responsible for this anonymous generosity."

The grand jury to which Goldschein said Judge Johnson made the statement has been investigating the middle district of Pennsylvania court for more than a year. It was this jury which indicted Memolo. It has since indicted Donald M. Johnson on a conspiracy charge in connection with a receivership case. Donald Johnson has pleaded innocent.

Contacted Steel Firm

Memolo said that soon after his appointment as associate receivers' counsel in the Williamsport case, Greenes suggested Memolo contact Bethlehem Steel to see what could be arranged.

He testified:

"Greenes said 'they are practical men. They understand they'd have to do something to get favorable action by the court.'"

Bethlehem Steel, at that time, was planning to acquire the Williamsport property.

Memolo said he went to Bethlehem officials and "asked if I could help them get what they wanted."

He said that at first they were "cagey" and "noncommittal."

Memolo said that eventually, however, they discuised a figure of $250,000 as "not excessive" and which Memolo said they indicated they would be willing to pay in administrative costs to receivership officials after acquiring the property.

Said He Could "Deliver"

Goldschein asked: "What assurance did you give them that you could deliver?"

"I told them anything required would be taken care of favorably," Memolo answered.

"Who did you say would assist?" the witness was asked.

"I told Moore [Hoyt A. Moore, Bethlehem general counsel] a certain person was pretty smart and was able to do things and get things done in that court and he would see that these things were taken care of."

Memolo was asked: "Do you mean Greenes."

CHINA SENDS 142 ENGINEERS HERE TO STUDY RAILS

A group of 142 Chinese engineers, who flew over "the hump" into India with very little more than their fountain pens and slide rules, are at work in Chicago on 14 western railroads studying American methods and technique, it was learned yesterday. When they complete their studies they will return to China to help rehabilitate her war torn railway system.

All the engineers are university graduates and they have had from one to 14 years of practical experience on Chinese railroads. They were selected by the Chinese government from 1,500 candidates who took an eight hour examination.

In general, about 10 Chinese were assigned to each railroad, altho the Burlington got 15 and the Rock Island 11. Typical of the assignments were those made to the Rock Island, which got five civil engineers, two bridge engineers, three mechanical engineers, and one material procurement engineer.

The government issued army work clothing to the engineers for field use. The men traveled from India to Newport News, Va., on a transport and are living in the Y. M. C. A. hotel.

CHICAGO TAXI FIRMS WILL BUY 2,595 NEW CARS

Chicago's major taxicab companies will replace their entire fleets of cars now in service with new cabs that they hope will begin arriving here by Dec. 1, it was learned yesterday.

Benjamin Samuels, vice president of the Yellow Cab company, said the company had ordered 1,595 new cars and had been told by production men that they would be built as soon as parts dealers could supply the equipment needed. Delivery may begin in September or October, and by Dec. 1 the company hopes to have 400 new cabs in Chicago and additional ones arriving at a rate of 25 a week.

M. M. Sokoll, president of the Checker Taxi company, said he had not ordered any new cabs, but would place an order for 1,000 as soon as he can get assurances on delivery.

SEEKS ACCLAIM FOR ILLINOIS GI, FATHER OF 12

Chadwick, Ill., July 12 [Special]—Wilma Kahler, 15, who will be a sophomore in high school this fall, thought her dad was not receiving the proper acclaim when she read in a newspaper a few days ago that Corp. Chester J. Barrett of Concord, N. H., father of 13, was being hailed as the army's champion father,

Corp. Rufus A. Kahler

[The army has now acclaimed Pvt. Wilbert L. Fleury of Port Huron, Mich., who has 13 children, the champion father of the military forces.]

Wilma is the eldest of 12 children who live here with their mother. She thinks her father, Corp. Rufus A. Kahler, 37, a member of the 282d engineers combat battalion, now attached to the 15th army in Germany, deserves an equal amount of public credit.

Praises Dad's Record

She wrote THE TRIBUNE that "my dad's record is just as comparable, and then some, because he is overseas and was in combat in Europe."

A reporter who visited the Kahler home found Mrs. Clara Kahler, 34, there with Wilma and Wilma's four brothers and seven sisters. Mrs. Kahler called off their names and ages:

Wilma, 15; Lois, 13; Lila, 12; Janice, 11; Arlon, 10; Ethel, 8; Dwayne, 7; Thelma, 6; Mavis, 5; Gerald, 3; Loren, 2, and Diana, 10 months.

Gets $300 Allowance

Mrs. Kahler said her allowance from the government is $300 monthly, $50 for herself, $30 for her first child, and $20 for each of the other children. She gets along without any financial difficulties, she said, but has trouble scraping up enough points to feed her family.

Corp. Kahler was a patrolman for the Carroll county highway department before he was inducted into the army Feb. 8, 1944, at Fort Sheridan, Ill. He went overseas in October, 1944, and earned three battle stars with the 3d army.

U. S. COMPLAINS PORTUGAL BANS TANGIER NEWS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LISBON, Portugal, July 12—The American embassy verbally protested to the Portuguese government today concerning Lisbon's press censorship which has effectually stifled expression of the United States point of view regarding the status of the international zone of Tangier. The area was taken over by Generalissimo Franco of Spain during the European war. The Portuguese press was restricted to printing the Spanish viewpoint and news regarding Tangier.

It is expected that henceforth news of Africa's rights in Tangier and Washington's policy regarding American participation in the international regime will be published in Portugal.

Today the Portuguese government lifted censorship on all foreign dispatches thru efforts of the American ambassador, Herman B. Baruch, brother of Bernard Baruch, but censorship still was applied rigidly to the Portuguese press.

U. S. PUBLISHED GERMAN PAPER HITS 4 MILLION

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP)—A weekly newspaper published by the United States group control council for Germans and Austrians now has a circulation of more than 4,000,000, War Undersecretary Patterson reported today.

As soon as paper and printing facilities are available, he told a news conference, the circulation will be increased to 5,000,000 copies and the newspaper may be issued on a semi-weekly basis.

Patterson described the publication, which issues editions in several cities, as of the "utmost importance" in control operations.

"These newspapers," he said, "give a balanced and accurate presentation of world events, without the twisted interpretations which were Dr. Goebbels' specialty. They contain no argument and no special pleading. They are published in the belief that the truth is more powerful than propaganda and that this logic will impress itself on the German mind."

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, ones they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MUNICH'S BEER CELLAR SERVES ONLY YANKS NOW

Red Cross Takes It Over as Canteen

BY DAVID DARRAH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MUNICH, Bavaria, July 12—Munich's famous beer cellar, where Hitler made his first efforts to gain power, was opened by the American Red Cross this week as a canteen and recreation center for United States occupation troops.

Most of Munich is still a wilderness of shattered buildings, but some of the city's famous structures remain intact and some effort is now being made by the returning inhabitants to remove the rubble and pile up stones and crumbled masonry.

Street cars now run and many civilians get about on a fleet of bicycles. Long lines of people may be seen before food shops. Newly erected wooden structures serve for feeding soldiers trying to find their way back to their homes in the country.

Screening Out Nazis

There are no night clubs here, but a few beer places are running, and good 4 per cent beer may be had.

Col. Charles Keegan, military governor, said much progress is being made in screening nazi employes in municipal jobs here in this city, which was perhaps the largest nazi stronghold. All nazi civil servants are carefully rooted out, but the job is an extensive one. Government administration may be left largely to German personnel under Dr. Fritz Schaffer by the end of the year.

Traffic is still directed by American military police and M. P. patrols in jeeps ply the city streets fully armed.

Hostile to Americans

Trucks from the civilian pool bring food into the city from the rich Bavarian countryside and there seems to be meat, cheese, and milk, but little bread. There are many more women in Munich streets than men, and they pass along indifferent to occupation soldiers.

There have been reports that the German Red Cross cloaks some underground organizations of espionage and sabotage, and that women remain more obdurate Nazis than men. The Germans disbelieve that Hitler is dead.

The hostility against the allied occupation forces is uncontestable. The other night a woman correspondent put on civilian dress and walked out with several men correspondents in uniform. Passing Germans glanced at her with hatred, thinking she was a German woman associating with Americans.

7 U. S. Soldiers Killed Collecting Nazi Munitions

PARIS, July 12 (AP)—Seven American soldiers and 31 other persons, civilians or German prisoners of war, were killed while collecting or destroying enemy ammunition and installations between May 1 and July 10, the United States 15th army announced today. Two other Americans were injured.

CHICAGO SOCIAL WORKER HEADS PORTUGAL TASK

BY HENRY WALES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LISBON, Portugal, July 12—Chicago trained Martha Dickie Sharp, a graduate of Hull House school in 1929, and a worker for two years in Chicago Commons, 955 Grand av., today heads all American relief work in Portugal. This follows the consolidation of Quaker activities, hitherto directed by Lawrence MacGregor of Summit, N. J., and the Congregationalist work formerly carried on by Louise Pason who has returned to America.

Mrs. Martha Sharp.

The organization includes the Jewish joint distribution committee and the Catholic welfare committee and hereafter will operate under an intergovernmental commission of Britain and the United States, presided over by Moses Beckelman.

Arranges Passage for Wives

The newest problem of Mrs. Sharp's Unitarian service committee is arranging passage to the United States for foreign wives of American soldiers. Today she embarked the pregnant Belgian wife of an engineer captain, Francis K. Bagby of Birmingham, Ala., aboard a freighter for Philadelphia, Pa. Bagby, wed last year in Paris, and his engineering unit went to the United States recently.

Last week two English girls, married to American soldiers now repatriated, arrived in Lisbon broke and without passports or visas and Mrs. Sharp arranged passage to Philadelphia for them. The Unitarian committee handled all American missionaries arriving here en route to Africa and the near east, obtaining the necessary credentials and space in ships, trains, or airplanes.

Advises Missionaries

"I urge all missionary societies in the United States to be sure their representatives possess adequately visaed passports, travel orders, and letters of credit before embarkation," said Mrs. Sharp.

The Unitarians handled thousands of cases of refugees during the war and now are taking care of thousands of Republican Spaniards who escaped across the frontier after Generalissimo Franco's victory.

Dagny Dietrichsen of Minneapolis, Minn., and Arthur Lee, Boston, Mass., brother of Fred Lee, Hammond, Ind., wallpaper manufacturer who lives in La Grange, Ill., also are on the local Unitarian staff. Dr. W. Sharp of Wellesley, Mass., husband of Martha Dickie Sharp, is en route to Prague to head Czechoslovakian relief.

LONDON'S POLISH OFFICIALS FETE DEAN SWIETLIK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, July 12—Dr. Francis S. Swietlik, dean of Marquette university law school at Milwaukee, Wis., has left London for the continent to inspect Polish refugee camps in Germany for the Polish war relief council in the United States.

Swietlik, who is head of the Polish National Alliance in America, will give the relief council an estimate on the funds necessary for the relief and rehabilitation of 1 million Polish refugees and slave workers believed still in the reich.

While here, Swietlik conferred with Mrs. Wladyslaw Sikorski, widow of the former Polish premier and commander in chief.

The university dean remained in London four days, leaving July 6 for Paris before the big powers recognized the Warsaw government. However, he is expected to continue his relief work, which he has emphasized has no connection with the Polish political situation, according to Ripa. After inspection of the camps in Germany he is to return to Paris, from where he will leave for the United States, Ripa said.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

July 13—The Mississippi's Source

About midday on July 13, 1832, a party of 15 men carrying five canoes was toiling overland thru the wilderness of what is now north central Minnesota. A few miles east they had taken their canoes out of the water of a little lake which they had reached after weeks of travel and which they had found to be the source of the easternmost of the two forks into which the upper Mississippi divides.

Now they were on their way to the lake in the west which Indian lore declared to be the starting point of the larger and more important west fork and therefore the principal source of the Mississippi. This lake, so far as was known, never had been seen by a white man.

Suddenly, as the toiling men reached the top of a ridge, they saw the gleam of sun on water in front of them. This was the little lake which had slept undisturbed in the wilderness during nearly two centuries of European exploration of the northwest. This was the source of the stream which widens eventually into one of the most majestic of the world's rivers, which, with its 40 tributaries, drains one-third of the United States and which each year pours 785 billion cubic yards of water into the Gulf of Mexico.

The party found where the Mississippi leaves the lake, and in two days descended to Cass lake, one of the larger bodies of water thru which the upper Mississippi flows. Curiously, the river's direction of flow is north along much of its early course.

Henry R. Schoolcraft, mineralogist, explorer, and expert on Indian affairs, led the expedition. He named the lake which his party had discovered Itasca. The story is that he formed the word out of the second, third, and fourth syllables of the expression "veritas caput" [literally "truth head"] which a not very learned Latin student had told him was the equivalent of "true source."

Hoo Doo Ranch Calls It a Day—Today

Monticello, Utah, July 12 (AP)—Owners of the Hoo Doo ranch here aren't exactly superstitious—but, all employes—three cowhands and a choreboy—will have tomorrow off with pay to avoid a repetition of the last Friday the 13th.

Nobody ever paid much attention to the name of the place—least of all Rancher John Baker and his wife—until last April 13—a Friday.

First, one of the cowhands asked another to pull his aching tooth. The other complied, broke the tooth and received a fragment of it in his eye.

Teeth Knocked Out

A third cowboy was harnessing a work horse. The animal bolted, bouncing a metal piece of the harness in the waddle's face, knocking out several teeth.

Rancher Baker offered to take the boys to town for medical attention and pulled out his watch. The timepiece caught, then dislodged, striking him in the face. A few minutes later he broke his thumb while changing his trousers.

Mrs. Baker decided to go to town with the others. While trying to hook her girdle she sprained her wrist.

Falls on a Spike

Out in the barn the choreboy didn't like something about a cow's demeanor. Lifting his foot to kick the animal he fell backward and landed on a spike.

In the doctor's office Baker thumbed thru a calendar until he found tomorrow's date. Then and there the staff was promised the holiday—with pay.

Lucky Cop Likes 13s

When Policeman Marshall Pidgeon shines up his badge—No. 13—today, the long arm of coincidence will lend a hand. It will be Friday the 13th. It will be the 13th anniversary of his assignment to the bomb squad. And he thinks 13 is a pretty lucky number. "I've been handling bombs for 13 years," he said, "and I haven't been blown up yet."

Wife Divorces Hamilton, Ex-National G. O. P. Head

West Chester, Pa., July 12 (AP)—Mrs. Jeanne Kendall Hamilton, wife of John D. M. Hamilton, former chairman of the national Republican committee, was granted a divorce today by Judge W. Butler Windle in Chester County court. The grounds were not disclosed in the decree and papers in the case were impounded. The suit was not contested by Hamilton.

Customers Ask...

DO FANNIE MAY CHOCOLATES COST MORE TO MAKE THAN THE UNCOATED CANDIES?

On the contrary! Wrapped Nougats, Caramels, Fudge, Dixies, and Mallowdips—all uncoated—cost more than do the majority of our chocolate coated pieces!

You see, a number of chocolate coated soft centers contain more sugar—relatively inexpensive. Our uncoated pieces usually contain more cream, milk solids and nuts—really expensive ingredients—as your own kitchen costs tell you!

So, when in your box of Fannie May Candy you find a balanced assortment of chocolate coated soft and chewy centers, together with uncoated pieces, you'll know we've not been sparing costs in giving you a box full of taste thrills—fresh, pure, delicious candies!

BY ANNE BRUYERE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, July 12—WAC Claire Jensen, 611 S. Harvey av., Oak Park, Ill., who has 83 demobilization points, the highest among Illinois girls, left Paris for a redeployment depot at Compiegne today. There she will prepare to fly to England and then to the United States on Saturday with the first group of homebound WACs.

Ruby Halladay

Lt. Col. Anna W. Wilson, European theater of operations WAC staff director, announced that at least 50 of 3,000 WACs eligible for release in this theater will return home each month until November, when there will be a large increase in the quota.

Blue eyed, 21 year old Miss Jensen, was elected the most beautiful WAC in the ETO by general headquarters military railway service.

39 Months Overseas

"I was in London when hostilities broke out," Claire said. "I joined the ATS immediately, then transferred to the WACs when the United States entered the war. I have 39 months overseas service, and a battle star for the northern France campaign.

High score Chicagoans eligible to return but required to remain overseas a little longer as essential personnel—typists and stenographers—are:

Helen Bock, 6105 N. Mason av.; Dolores Kirby, 315 56th pl.; Carolyne Lackovic, 3274 Wrightwood av.; Julia Markunas, 2132 23d pl.; Geraldine Williams, 2226 N. Mason av.; Caroline Heller, 1351 Carmen av.; Audrey Joyce, formerly of 5119 Kenmore av., and also Frances Solomon, 8201 Lowell av., Skokie, Ill.

Bride of Frenchman

Ruby Halladay, 8233 Blackstone av., Chicago, is the only WAC married to a Frenchman. She has the required number of points, and as soon as she is discharged she will become a housewife in Paris.

Many other WACs in the ETO are eligible for release under the war department's critical score of 44 points, but have elected to remain in the army. Among these is Frances Radosevich, 9626 Commercial av., South Chicago.

WOOD ELECTED NEW CHAIRMAN OF 'DIES' GROUP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 12—Left-wingers in congress suffered a blow today when the house elected Rep. Wood [D., Ga.] as new chairman of the committee on un-American activities to succeed Rep. Hart [D., N. J.], who resigned because of poor health.

Rep. Wood was acclaimed by Rep. Rankin [D., Miss.] who engineered the move by which the committee's probe into subversive propaganda was made permanent, as "one of the best men in the house for the job."

Wood has a legal background as assemblyman, solicitor general, and judge in his native state. He served in congress from 1931 to 1935, retired, and was returned to the house last November. He voted for giving the former Dies committee permanent status last January and is outspoken in his opposition to communistic influences in the United States.

Stanley Michalek, 5305 Ogden av., Cicero, was fined $5 and $1 costs on each of two charges arising from his sales at 79th st. and Cicero av., Stickney township. Leo Garfield, 931 N. Sacramento av., who ran a stand at 3500 S. Cicero av., Cicero, also was fined $5 and $1 costs. Theodore Burke, 210 S. Springfield av., who had a stand at 9716 S. Western av., was fined $10.

Cool Weather Slows Corn Crop

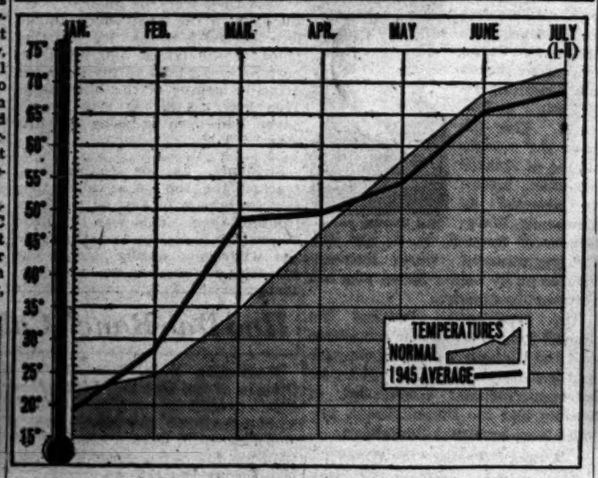

Chart showing how unseasonably cool weather since the middle of April has delayed the corn crop thru the middle west.

FARMERS PRAY FOR HOT NIGHTS TO RESCUE CORN

Otherwise Prospects Are Only Fair

Midwestern farmers are making plans to handle soft corn this fall, fearing that much of the crop may not fully mature because of the delayed spring planting and unseasonably cool temperatures.

C. A. Hughes, Cook county farm adviser, yesterday described the northern Illinois corn crop as "fair, but not good enough." He said farmers are hoping for hot days and nights to induce growth.

The United States weather bureau forecasts for the midwest said today will be cool, with prospects for fair and warmer and thundershowers tomorrow. By Monday the temperature may rise to the high 80s over the central plains, and to 90 in Iowa and the Dakotas.

Much May Go to Silos

Unless the weather changes, much of the northern Illinois crop will have to be harvested as ensilage, especially if frosts strike in late September or early October.

O. T. Lay, in charge of the Chicago weather bureau, pointed out that weather statistics for this year are misleading in relation to growing conditions. The statistics show that temperatures from Jan. 1 thru July 11 were 313 degrees above normal. Corn would be thriving if this excess warmth had been spread evenly over the six months and 11 days, but most of the unseasonably high temperatures were recorded in February, March, and April, before corn was planted. May, June, and July temperatures have been below normal. The monthly record of mean temperatures follows:

	Normal	1945	1945 variation
January	22.5	19.3	— 89
February	24.9	25.8	+108
March	34.8	43.6	+435
April	46.9	49.8	+ 87
May	57.8	54.1	—114
June	68.1	65.4	— 77
July 1-11	73.1	68.7	— 37

Two Plus Days This Month

Yesterday's high temperature here was 82 and the thermometer probably won't rise above 80 degrees today. Of the first 11 days in this month, the mean temperature of only two were above normal. On the other hand, Tuesday's mean of 64 was 8 degrees below normal, Wednesday's 66 was 7 below normal, and yesterday's 68 was 5 below normal.

County Agent Hughes said farmers would like to see 90 degree days, and 65 to 70 degree nights.

Hughes pointed out that the cool weather is endangering corn and tomato prospects, but is helping oats, alfalfa, and other field crops.

SARGE WHO PAID DISCHARGED GIs GETS OWN TURN

Since November, 1944, when he returned from overseas duty, Staff Sgt. Reinhard W. Born of Milwaukee, Wis., has been post cashier at the separation center at Fort Sheridan.

It has been his job to pay off happy soldiers being discharged. Since May 12 Sgt. Born has paid off or helped to pay off more than 14,000 discharged GIs.

Yesterday Sgt. Born stood outside and looked in as a new cashier paid him off. "Not a bad feeling," he conceded. Born, in civilian life a teller at the First Wisconsin National bank in Milwaukee, had been in the army 41 months and was discharged on points.

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP)—The childless, 38 year old wife of an army private wants her congressman to help obtain a military discharge for her husband. Her reason: She wants a child—before it is too late.

In a letter to her New York representative, the woman related that her marriage took place when she and her husband were in their middle thirties, adding:

"My future happiness depends on my having a child and if I am not given a chance now it will be too late. The thought that life is passing me by is constantly pressing on my mind."

SISTER REVEALS PLAN TO 'ADOPT' LUPE'S BABY

Los Angeles, Cal., July 12 (AP)—An assertion that Lupe Velez made a secret agreement with her sister, Mrs. Josephine Anderson, whereby the latter was to pose as the mother of her expected child and care for it for a year was made today in a creditor's claim filed by Mrs. Anderson against the late screen star's estate.

She said the agreement was made last November, the month before the Mexican actress ended her life and that of her unborn child with sleeping tablets in her Beverly Hills mansion.

Mrs. Anderson declared her sister agreed to pay her $20,000 for the purchase of a home and $5,000 living expenses for a year.

Mrs. Anderson filed suit last Saturday asking the Superior court to revoke the actress' will, leaving a third of her reputed $250,000 estate to Mrs. Beulah Kinder, her secretary-companion for 10 years, and making no provision for Mrs. Anderson.

EX-BAILIFF WEIL WINS RULING ON WOMAN'S SUITS

Mrs. Elsie Accomando's suits charging malicious persecution and asking an injunction against Ike Weil, 70, former municipal court bailiff, and Fred Roth, her former landlord, were dismissed yesterday by Judge Charles A. Williams in Superior court. Judge Williams ruled no cause of action was alleged. "The suits do not specify what happened where or when," he said. Mrs. Accomando, 31, a divorcee, had sought $50,000 damages, charging that Weil attempted by "unscrupulous means" to establish a "friendly relationship" with her. She had accused Roth of conspiring with Weil. Her attorney, Abraham Drucker, was given 21 days to file an amended complaint.

SLEEPING CARS OPERATING 450 MILES OR LESS WITHDRAWN TO ACCOMMODATE TROOPS

The transfer of troops from the European War Theatre to the Pacific is running so far ahead of schedule that the Office of Defense Transportation has taken steps to obtain more than 875 additional sleeping cars to expedite the movement of these men from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is glad to cooperate in this effort to move our fighting men more comfortably.

Effective at noon, Sunday, July 15, General Order O.D.T. 53 prohibits the operation of sleeping cars to points of destination 450 miles or less from the point of origin of any such car.

(The distance is to be measured by the shortest route over which sleeping cars operate between the points involved.)

Under this order, more than 160 sleeping cars are withdrawn from service on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The general outline accompanying the O.D.T. order points out that the withdrawal of these cars from civilian service will result in considerable inconvenience to many people, but it says—

"... people must travel less frequently if our troops are to be redeployed to the Pacific theatre of war with dispatch. Any delay in transporting our troops will prolong the war with Japan. The order is designed to forestall any possibility of such delays ..."

CHANGES IN ACCOMMODATIONS

The O.D.T. order necessitates a general re-allocation of Pullman sleeping car equipment now used on the Pennsylvania Railroad. All patrons are requested therefore, to consult Ticket Agents for possible changes in Pullman accommodations.

RESERVATIONS CANCELLED

General Order O. D. T. 53 requires each railroad to cancel all reservations for space in sleeping cars which are discontinued by this ruling. Patrons who have purchased sleeping car space for trips in cars operating 450 miles or less for use after 12 o'clock noon, July 15, may obtain refunds upon presentation of tickets at local ticket offices.

Sleeping cars presently operating between the points listed below will not run after 12 o'clock noon, Sunday, July 15.

HOUSE, SENATE AGREE ON FUNDS TO OPERATE FEPC

$250,000 Is Granted

Agency After Fight

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP)—The congressional fight over continuing the fair employment practice committee ended tonight with house and senate agreement on a $250,000 appropriation to run it in the 12 months which began July 1.

The legislators got together when the senate accepted by voice vote house language which nullified a previous stipulation that the agency must use the funds to liquidate.

The $250,000 is just half what FEPC had asked.

Sen. Morse [R., Ore.] made a futile effort to defer a decision until Monday. He said he hoped if this were done the people at home would make their sentiments known and a larger appropriation would be given the agency.

Delay Action on War Bill

In his 90 minute speech Morse stressed the theme that democracy is on trial in the world and that it will be judged in part on the way it treats minorities.

By the time the FEPC fight was ended, the hour was so late that leaders delayed final action until tomorrow on a $750,000,000 war agencies appropriation bill which contains the FEPC item.

The house had been standing by, waiting for the senate to act on FEPC, with expectation that the entire bill could be finally acted on. House leaders decided to let it go until tomorrow.

When Morse gave up the floor, Sen. Bilbo [D., Miss.] bitter foe of FEPC, threw a scare into senate leaders by demanding a quorum call. There were 16 senators on the floor at the time and no chance that a quorum could be mustered.

Bilbo, who recently filibustered against FEPC, said he thought a quorum should be present "because this is far reaching legislation."

Rush at Bilbo

Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky, and Sen. McKellar [D., Tenn.], handling the bill, rushed at Bilbo, arguing vehemently. The Mississippian then withdrew his request.

Principal item remaining in controversy in the big bill is the amount to be given the office of war information. The house voted to allow it only $18,000,000. The senate boosted this to $39,000,000.

A conference committee from the two chambers agreed to compromise at $35,000,000. Their conference report will be submitted to the house tomorrow and if approved there will then go to the senate.

NEGROES SPEND VACATIONS WITH WHITES IN 'TEST'

Ashton, Ill., July 12 (AP)—Fifteen Negro children from Chicago's south side are vacationing with white residents of Ashton and nearby Franklin Grove, about 90 miles west of Chicago.

The Rev. Nevin E. Kendell, director of the project sponsored by the Illinois district of the Presbyterian church, said the 15 youngsters were the first of three groups of Negro children to spend two weeks, at no cost to themselves, with white farmers and townspeople. He called it an "adventure in brotherhood."

The children are being sent to towns which had no previous Negro residents, Kendall said, to test interracial relations.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BEN MARKLAND

July 12, 1945.

WORKERS on both the Wheaton and Fox River farms have been so involved with the hay harvest in the last few weeks that all their conversations include talk of alfalfa, clover, field hay choppers, one man balers, and ventilated mows. The story of alfalfa and clover is an old one to middle western farmers, but the haying adjuncts are comparatively new. Therefore, the farm workers' first impressions about the implements [and later about the ventilated mow] may be of value to other farmers.

The one man baler was tried on a small scale and was found perfect. This machine automatically picks up the windrowed hay, passes it thru the baler, and ties the bales with cord in the manner of a binder. No laborers are required on the implement, the only worker being the driver of the tractor. The baler will get a more thoro test when the August legumes are harvested.

Labor Cut Three-fifths

The field hay chopper, used this spring for the first time, is not perfect, but does satisfactory work. It has been used for cutting and chopping alfalfa for the silo and will be used for harvesting chopped hay to go into the new ventilated mow. Its advantage over former methods of harvesting hay for ensilage is the saving of labor. In recent years the labor of 10 men was required to get chopped hay into the silo; this year the work was done by four men.

The 10 men were used in these jobs: one to operate the mower, one to windrow, one to drive the tractor that pulled the wagon and mechanical loader, two to distribute hay in the racks from the loader, one to drive the racks to and from the silo, two to unload at the blower, one man inside the silo to operate the distributor, and one at the ensilage chopper.

With the field hay chopper, the four men this year worked in these capacities: one to drive the combination cutter and chopper, one to drive the wagons to and from the silos, one to operate the blower, and the fourth man inside the silo.

It does not follow that four men can harvest as much hay with the chopper as 10 men can harvest with standard equipment. The sickle bar on the chopper is only three feet long, whereas a standard mower cuts a seven foot swath. With rank hay the chopper cannot handle even a three foot cutting without numerous stops to untangle lodged hay in the reel. The first hay cut was not tall and the field chopper did excellent work, but by July 8 the alfalfa was so rank that the machine was not rugged enough to give perfect performance.

★The GARDEN★

MAINTENANCE of a fine topsoil between garden rows, as discussed yesterday in this space, provides one of the simplest and most effective means of mulching a plot to conserve soil moisture. Straw, peat moss, redwood fiber, and ground corncobs are materials that can be placed between the rows to reduce capillary action and thus insure maximum retention of ground moisture during the midsummer months.

Two year old wheat or oat straw provides ideal mulching material. One bale, at a cost of $1 to $1.25, will cover about 500 square feet to a depth of two inches. Peat moss and redwood fiber provide excellent mulches and ground conditioners for flower beds and evergreen plantings, but are too costly for use in any but the smallest vegetable plots.

Hay never should be used as a mulch because of the danger of introducing weeds into the garden. Germination of weeds more than offsets the value of hay as a mulch.

ORDER INQUIRY INTO MRS. F.D.R. INCOME TAXES

Turn Elliott Quiz to Mother, James

BY WILLARD EDWARDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 12—The house ways and means committee has secretly instructed internal revenue agents to widen the inquiry into the financial activities of Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt to include an examination of the income tax returns of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Col. James Roosevelt, widow and eldest son of the late President, it was learned today.

Mrs. Roosevelt's income from a magazine published by the Great Alantic & Pacific Tea company for eight articles she wrote in the period between August, 1938, and February, 1941, will be scrutinized. Her literary agent places the total sum at $3,750 but the committee has received reports the amount was much larger.

Probe $200,000 Loan

Gen. Roosevelt's borrowing of $200,000 from John Hartford, A. & P. president, which is being probed by the treasury, took place in 1939. Hartford took a $196,000 loss when the loan was settled for $4,000.

In that same year, Elliott's mother wrote three articles for the magazine published by Hartford's company for which her agent says she received $500 each.

The magazine is "Woman's Day," distributed in A. & P. stores only. Under such titles as "Americans I Admire," "Food in America," and "Men Have to Be Humored," Mrs. Roosevelt wrote in a sprightly fashion dissimilar to her daily column, "My Day," occasioning a suspicion that the articles were ghost written.

Tax Threat Made

Publication of these articles by Mrs. Roosevelt began after the A. & P. and other chain systems raised a fund to fight a chain store tax law introduced by Rep. Patman [D., Tex.].

Mrs. Roosevelt's income from a daily column, articles, and lectures was reported to have been larger than the $75,000 her late husband received as President. Her acceptance last March of an $8,000 mink coat from Quebec fur breeders was criticized in congress.

Broadening of the treasury inquiry to include the financial activities of James Roosevelt, Elliott's older brother, was expected to produce some surprising disclosures, a committee member said. James built up a fortune for himself in the insurance business, beginning in Boston in the early thirties. Entering the field with a total lack of experience, he sold huge accounts office helped him take business from old and well established firms.

Internal Revenue Commissioner Joseph D. Nunan said his men questioned Gen. Roosevelt again today about the Hartford loan and that further questioning is planned.

A report that Elliott's court martial for various offenses was ordered on four occasions and countermanded in each case during his military career was being checked by members of the military affairs committee.

They will leave Saturday for Guam and Manila to inquire into shipping bases in the South Pacific and prospects for post-war fishing. Committeemen include C. W. Bishop [R., Ill.].

FIRING SQUAD WILL EXECUTE SINGING SLAYER

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 12 (AP) James Joseph Roedl, 27, an Oklahoman, is to be executed at dawn tomorrow for his part in a slaying that trial witnesses testified was signaled by the singing of the once popular song, "Love Letters in the Sand."

James J. Roedl

Roedl was sentenced to die for the hammer killing in 1942 of Mrs. Abigail Agnes Williams, San Leandro, Cal., school teacher. Charged jointly with him was Leroy Edward Ritchey, 26, Gowrie, Ia., who pleaded guilty and is serving a life sentence. Ritchel and Roedl had been picked up as hitch-hikers by Mrs. Williams in Denver, Colo.

At Roedl's trial, witnesses testified the two men signed statements relating that the then popular song was agreed upon as a signal for the killing. Roedl denied making the statement and asserted he was in the throes of an epileptic fit while his companion wielded the hammer.

A five man squad, directed by Sheriff Preece, will fire four bullets—one of the guns will contain a blank shell—into Roedl's body, his heart marked with a black target pinned to his white shirt.

Chicagoan Nominated for Federal Patent Post

Washington, D. C., July 12 (Special)—Casper Ooms, Chicago patent attorney, was nominated by President Truman today to be commissioner of patents to fill a vacancy. The nomination is understood to be acceptable to industry, management, and the department of commerce. The President renominated Arthur J. Altmeyer of Wisconsin as a member of the social security board and Dr. Paul H. Nystrom of New York as a member of the federal board for vocational education.

MRS. STEVENS, SAILOR SLAYER, FREED IN BAIL

Bridgeport, Conn., July 12 (AP)—Mrs. Imogene Stevens, 24, Texas born wife of paratroop Maj. G. Ralsey Stevens III., posted a bond of $15,000 today and was liberated from the Fairfield county jail where she has been held since June 24 on a charge of manslaughter in the shooting of a young submarine sailor at New Canaan.

Bond originally was set at $50,000 in the New Canaan Town court where the self-admitted slayer of Albert Kovacs of Norwalk was bound over to the September term of the Fairfield county Superior court on a charge of manslaughter.

Bond was reduced to $15,000 yesterday by Superior Court Judge William Comley at a hearing in the judge's chambers, at which Mrs. Stevens was represented by her counsel, David Goldstein. The girlish looking brunette mother of a 6 year old daughter by a previous marriage left the court house today with the major who is home on 30 days' leave.

MR. TRUMAN'S HAND STRENGTHENED

While Mr. Truman was on his way to confer with Mr. Churchill and Mr. Stalin at Potsdam, our navy was cruising in waters only an hour's flight off the Japanese coast. By broadcasting the location of our fleet, the names of the officers who command it, and the units of which it is composed, Adm. Nimitz challenged the Japanese to come out and fight.

Perhaps it is only a coincidence that the challenge was issued within a few days of the opening of the conference of the so-called allies. At any rate, President Truman's bargaining position has been strengthened. If Mr. Stalin or Mr. Churchill has been planning to squeeze concessions from us in return for support in the war against Japan, the demonstration that we have just given of the helplessness of Japan will weaken their case. The plain truth is that we can win the war alone. If the British and the Russians wish to have anything to say about the peace in Asia, they had better rush their participation in the fighting. Otherwise they will be frozen out.

In fact it might be a very good thing if they were. The British, with our help, have repossessed most of Burma, but the rest of their Asiatic colonies are still in Japanese hands and could be liberated, along with the Dutch possessions. If the British and Dutch wished then to earn the odium of fighting wars to reenslave their onetime subjects we would at least be spared the disgrace of being partners in the crime.

Likewise, if Russia takes no part in the Asiatic war, she will be in no position to press her fraudulent claims to Manchuria and Korea. Korea can be freed and Manchuria can be returned to China.

In truth, Mr. Truman's bargaining position today is exceedingly strong. There is nothing we must have that can be got only from Russia or England. On the other hand, they are in heavy debt to us for past favors and are looking forward to future favors in the form of financial, economic, and military aid. Their moral position, in view of past and present aggressions and enslavements, is appallingly bad.

Certainly as the cards are distributed there is nothing that they may want of us that we need concede; and if we want anything of them, such as a decent settlement in Europe, Mr. Truman ought to be able to get it. He can say with full truth that a good peace in Europe will be more in their interest than in ours.

Mr. Truman is facing his first important test since he became President. We shall soon be in a fair position to judge his capacities as a statesman.

IMPROVEMENT AT ST. CHARLES

Much but not all of the trouble at the state training school for boys at St. Charles should be cured by the recent act of the legislature which lowered the maximum admittance age at the institution from 18 to 16 years.

St. Charles really had two problems. One was caused by the social workers and other sentimentalists about the courts of Cook county, who managed to fill what was originally intended to be a custodial institution with young criminals who, for their own and society's benefit, should have been confined in a correctional institution or a reformatory. The other problem arose from the fact that many county judges downstate still regard St. Charles as a custodial institution. In Chicago dependent boys are usually placed in foster homes and truants in the Parental school. Downstate counties, lacking or failing to avail themselves of these facilities, send such boys to St. Charles.

The injustice to these youngsters was even greater than that visited upon the residents of St. Charles by the frequent escapes of young criminals who should never have been sent to the institution. Young boys, some of them only 10 and 11 years old, whose only offense was poverty or orphanhood, were thrown into contact with youths already well embarked on a criminal career. There is no statutory remedy as yet for this injustice. The state commission on juvenile delinquency is pleading with downstate courts not to send these younger boys to St. Charles, a plea which any judge of conscience must surely heed.

The proper exclusion of older youths from St. Charles merely calls attention to the state's lack of facilities for handling such offenders, many of whom could, with proper discipline and understanding, be straightened out. The Sheridan branch of the schools for boys, intended for youthful incorrigibles, was not completed when the war put a stop to construction. The legislature has made an appropriation to double its capacity. As Rep. Williston points out, the state will still lack a reformatory after Sheridan is finished. The former reformatory at Pontiac is now officially and actually a penitentiary, and an institution to take up its former function should be built as soon as construction is possible.

A WATCHDOG OVER THE OPA

Sen. Morse of Oregon proposes that congress establish a permanent committee as a watchdog over the OPA, which, he charges, "reeks with incompetence." The senator's charges cannot be dismissed as the product of partisanship. Altho he was elected as a Republican, he had previously been active for years in the New Deal. When he says that an administrative agency stinks, he speaks with authority, because he has had considerable experience in the national war labor board, which, from an administrative standpoint, is no rose.

Mr. Morse chides his fellow senators, and very properly so, for the congressional practice of establishing an executive agency and then forgetting about its activities until the time comes to appropriate more money for it. At that time, he notes, the burocrats are always soft spoken and full of promises.

Whatever may be the theoretical need for price control at a time when the productive facilities of the country are deeply involved in war work, there can be no doubt that the inept, ignorant, and bullheaded administration of price fixing by the payrollers with which the OPA has been loaded has been almost if not quite as injurious to the country as no control at all.

Sen. Morse's proposal for a congressional watchdog over OPA is the most feasible one yet for the solution of the dilemma posed by the danger of inflation on the one hand and burocratic incompetence on the other. Probably no member of the senate would be better qualified than he to do such a job in a nonpartisan and vigorous fashion.

CHAIR-BORNE

The army's latest order, to send all personnel with less than six months' overseas service to foreign assignments, shows that it will do anything except trim down its bloated establishment. Despite all the talk of point releases, the army's strength is still little less than on V-E day. Even if all of the contemplated releases go thru, the army will still retain almost 7 million men in service, as compared with 8,300,000 when it had two widely separated wars on its hands.

There were at the end of the war in Europe 2,800,000 officers and men in the United States. Of these 1,355,000 were in administrative or service jobs, and 750,000 of the total were on limited service, disqualified by age or disability from combat duty. It is in this administrative army, which exists side by side with the combat army, that enormous reductions could be made at once.

The chair-borne army was discussed in a recent magazine article by Herbert G. Moore, a former officer who had served in it for two and a half years. His thesis was expressed in his title, "Too Many Soldiers Don't Fight." His article pictured a vast overstaffing of offices dealing with nonessential activities—public relations, paper work, the readjustment sections to negotiate contract cutbacks and facilitate reconversion, and dozens of others.

Officers had been given assignments in such profligate fashion and with so little real work to perform that the whole administrative organization could be summed up in the paraphrase, "Never have so many commanded so few." Majors, with no real job on their hands, were left free to spend all their time on the long distance phone at taxpayers' expense promoting lieutenant colonelcies. Others would bring an armful of newspapers and magazines to the office and spend the entire day reading without interruption.

"I felt like a drone," said the author. "I was contributing nothing to the successful prosecution of the war." The colonel commanding made a sincere effort to run his headquarters on business lines. "But when it came to curtailing employment in keeping with good business practices," Moore relates, "the system had him licked. He tried to get releases for overage officers no longer needed. He tried to arrange transfers so that officers' abilities and special skills could be better utilized. Some of these officers begged for combat duty, but Wright field [headquarters of the air technical service command] refused most of the requests. When they were granted, two officers usually replaced each one released, even if it meant that jobs had to be 'tailor made'."

Now, instead of trimming down the whole topheavy administrative establishment, the army proposes to send a majority of these men, untrained and unfit for any useful service, overseas. By putting them in combat areas, or at least hiding them outside the country, it seeks to justify their retention. They cannot be fitted into the fighting army, for the rigid tables of organization of combat divisions must be followed. No combat company could have two commanding officers or two 1st sergeants, no platoon could have two leaders. Only in the administrative sections, with their flexible tables, is personnel padding and overstaffing possible.

The army, it seems clear, will do anything but trim down to a size that has some realistic relationship to the task ahead. Japan, to judge from the recent remarks of Gen. MacArthur, Vice Adm. Barbey, and Lt. Gen. Geiger of the marines, is on the ropes. Barbey predicts that we can win within a year. MacArthur puts the date of victory no later than the final months of 1946. If these men are correct, the war will be over before the majority of the troops from Europe can be redeployed and retrained for Pacific duty. Certainly the shipment of a huge chair-borne army from America to the Pacific is not going to have any effect upon the outcome.

The army should be driven by congress into the job of releasing every last officer and man who can make no real contribution to the defeat of the Japanese. A couple of million of them can easily be dispensed with as a starter. We should have left a streamlined fighting force which won't be impeded by dozens of unnecessary peripheral activities. And the treasury would be saved the salary, maintenance, and all expenses incident to the performance of uniformed boondoggling once all of these men were released to civilian life.

"The people are getting fed up with meat rationing," asserts a columnist. On the contrary, brother—on the contrary.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

MAJOR POETS

[How to be one and why]

Perhaps we should start with the "why," so that those who find the answer unstimulating will not have to bother with the "how" at all.

The best reason that occurs to us, off hand, for becoming a major poet is that it gives one the privilege of placing the initials, M. P., after one's name. Thus if you are in the phone book as "John Smith, M. P." it will be easier to find among all the other John Smiths—a great convenience to visiting cousins from the country who would like to spend the summer with you.

Another advantage, especially in dealing with strangers, lies in the fact that "M. P." means not only major poet but also member of parliament and military police. So if you are accused of being any one of the three you can say, "Not at all—I am the other two."

* * *

Now for the "how." The easiest way to become a major poet is to get a government job, because major poets always publish their poems in books and magazines printed on the finest linen paper and, under present conditions, nobody but the government has any of that. Newspapers with more than 1,000,000 circulation are printed, as Mr. E. B. White pointed out in an essay some years ago, on uncoated stock, which, he said, "is offensive to major poets." So if you are determined to be a major poet you should seek a position in the library of congress or—better still—run for congress yourself.

* * *

There is another way. We explained it recently in Bookman's Holiday [q. v.]. Since you probably will not take the trouble to q. v., we repeat it briefly here. First you find a lady in Indiana [another state might do but we found ours in Indiana] and you persuade her to subscribe for a magazine called Poetry: A Magazine of Verse. The editor, Miss Strobel, will then gratefully give you the honorary degree of Major Poet and a package of cigarets. That is the hard way.

EPISODE IN A DOORWAY

I was feeling low that night for several reasons,
War, poverty, illness, things I couldn't put right,
As I hustled into my raincoat, cursing the seasons,
God, taxes, people, and hurried into the night.
In my own time, no doubt, I'd have come around—
I might have got drunk, a silly enough solution—
But just as I left the doorstep and touched the ground
Inside me occurred a curious revolution.

My inner weather changed like a double feature,
And suddenly I was happy, the night beguiling.
The reason sat in the doorway, pretty creature,
A little girl in red, who looked up smiling—
Spontaneous, friendly, the way they do, you know?—
And said, in an affable sort of squeak, "Hello!"

I wasn't meant to be a Whistler mother;
I cannot sit, hands clasped, contentedly.
And so I'm disappointing to my children;
They want to make a Whistler out of me.

I'm sure to shock their youthful modesty.
But I refuse to fit into their gilt frame;

Then they can drag out all their paints and brushes
And make a proper Whistler out of me.

T. A. asks: "Am I entitled to the American defense ribbon [pre-Pearl Harbor] for service in the army from April 18, 1941, to Sept. 26, 1941?"

Yes. To qualify for the American defense ribbon your service must have been between Sept. 8, 1939, and Dec. 7, 1941.

L. L. P. writes: "I am retired to inactive status but not discharged from the army. I may resign if I so desire. Am I still subject to recall to duty until six months after the President declares that a state of war no longer exists?"

You must wear your uniform only when on active duty under orders. You may wear it on ceremonial occasions when participating in patriotic celebrations and taking part in activities of veterans' organizations of which you are a member. Your mail franking privilege ceased with your terminal leave—the day your army pay was stopped. You still are a captain, Army of the United States, air corps, retired. As a retired officer you are subject to recall to active duty until six months after the President or congress has declared a state of war no longer exists.

DISTRESS FROM ITCHING

ITCHING can be most annoying whether it is confined to the site of a mosquito bite or involves the entire body. The patient who is persistently plagued is a pathetic figure for he is unable to rest at night or carry on the routine of the day. In the end, all his attention is turned to the affliction, which eventually influences his mental and physical state. The torture may be so great that it becomes difficult to place mind over matter.

No one knows what occurs beneath the skin to give the urge to scratch. Apparently there is swelling or a chemical irritation about the tiny nerve endings. By obeying the impulse and digging our nails into the area, we may add insult to injury. In spite of temporary relief, irritation often returns with renewed vigor. In addition, we encourage infection, particularly if a rash is present or we become too vehement in our actions.

It is estimated that from 10 to 25 per cent of the adult population has suffered at one time or another from itching about the rectum. This is understandable considering the part this structure plays in normal physiology. Contamination is easy and the existing moisture and warmth practically invite infection. The most common offender is the fungous organism which burrows into the skin and membranes.

The one who is tired and has a tendency to worry, frequently complains of this condition. It is debatable which comes first. Does itching produce fatigue and nervousness, or vice versa? Its association with hemorrhoids, fistulas, fissures, polyps, and eczema is recognized. Again, the question is raised as to cause and effect.

Those who lead a sedentary life as well as victims of diabetes, gout, or jaundice may be afflicted. Allergy is a factor as certain foods—chocolate, eggs, milk, tomatoes, and berries—induce the disturbance in sensitive individuals. In children, the pinworm is a notorious source, especially at night.

The first rule in treating this symptom is good hygiene. Distress will often disappear after bathing in hot water with plenty of soap. Meticulous care must be taken to clean the parts thoroly. Rinsing should follow as any residual soap will add to discomfort. Washing after each bowel movement is recommended in stubborn cases. Constipation must be avoided. Adequate fluids and the elimination of roughage tends to soften the stools. Alcohol and condiments are taboo.

There are many salves and ointments which offer relief. Some contain local anesthetics, sulfonamides, and cod liver oil. Occasionally stronger preparations are needed and must be applied directly to the region by a physician. The injection treatment has many followers. Alcohol and sclerosing solutions are generally used. X-rays and ultraviolet have been employed when other measures fail. Surgery is the last resort and consists chiefly of cutting the tiny sensory nerves in that area. Naturally, if the causative factor can be found, it should be eliminated.

BLOOD AS A REMEDY

H. J. writes: What is convalescent serum used for?

REPLY

Most commonly chickenpox, measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, and yellow fever. Blood from patients who have recovered from certain infections may help to modify that disease in exposed persons. The results are variable and there is a difference of opinion about its use.

HOT WEATHER CRAMPS

C. B. writes: Can abdominal pain be caused by the heat?

REPLY

Heat cramps usually attack the muscles in the legs but some patients encounter symptoms in the abdomen. There are, of course, other causes of distress in this area.

URINE TEST

J. K. writes: I always thought that the morning specimen was best for examination but my doctor told me to bring samples after eating. How about it?

REPLY

This depends upon what he is looking for. He may wish to check on your sugar level.

CANKERS

E. R. T. writes: Are canker sores in the mouth due to lack of vitamins?

REPLY

The cause of these tiny ulcers is not well understood. Infection may be responsible for an acute lesion. In chronic cases, metabolic disturbances, anemia, or dietary errors may be the basis.

This Changing World

The Chicago postoffice has hired high school boys to alleviate the mail carrier shortage during the summer. They are eager and gay, wear the official caps perched at an insouciant angle, and presumably haven't a care in the world. A friend of ours came to this conclusion the other morning when, racing out to get that letter from overseas, she saw a young boy, a mailman's hat perched on the back of his crew cut, lolling in her porch glider, his mail bag at his feet. As the glider swung gently to and fro, he avidly read a comic book he had found there.

Retribution

It has happened at last. A writer of murder mysteries has gone to the electric chair for murder. The Associated Press called the murder "one of the most bizarre cases in Connecticut criminal history," but to any reader of murder mysteries this must seem a supreme overstatement, for all the mystery writer did was work for a lady and bludgeon her to death. His brother, posing as his wife and the lady's maid, helped. We mystery addicts know that [1] this was murder in its simplest form, [2] few murderers in the pocket editions use anything as innocent as a bludgeon, and [3] the writer-killer must have been very ashamed of how he messed things up.

The murder mystery murderers never fool with bludgeons or simple disguise. It ain't refined. They find a certain type of kitchen match, now illegal, nip off its phosphorus head, and toss it into a single portion of green salad. It tastes like garlic and produces quick and deadly effects unless you are so stupid as to pick a victim who doesn't like garlic.

Or they use witchcraft and animated dolls who go around armed with bodkins which they bury at the base of the victims' skull just where something vital happens to be. They are so tiny they leave an almost-invisible hole, and who would suspect a dancing doll, anyway, especially if made in the victim's own image by a nice old lady who really is a witch?

Or they take insulin away from a diabetic and fill the syringes with water. This takes longer, but is thoro, and while waiting for the victim to die, the fiend has time to dispose of a few other persons he doesn't like, for the better books never kill only one. They kill a series, and sometimes have been known to kill the reader's desire to open another book.

Or some one [the murderer, silly] shoots poisoned arrows thru what is known as the Judas window of a door, the place where the lock slips back, or maybe it is the key. This leaves no traces except on the victim and enables the killer to keep at it until caught in the act. Or a clock strikes the hour and a blade falls out, slashing the victim to shreds. Or the killer crawls into a mechanical Buddha and shoots out from it; he fits because he conveniently has no legs. Naturally no one knows this until the final page, but if you are canny, you read the first 10 pages, skip to the end, and, knowing not only all but too much, throw the book away.

Now, that is the way murders go in the murder mystery books. Heretofore there has been a general impression that they incited their readers to murder not their enemies but the authors. No one ever dreamed for one minute that a mystery writer would fall for his own guff. And no one ever dreamed that if he did, the police would catch him. In the books that is not done.

ANOTHER TWIST IN THE PARTY LINE

Chicago, July 9—The National Maritime union [CIO], an offspring of the Marine Workers' Industrial union, which was the waterfront section of the Communist party, has changed the words of its old song but is still using the same tune. There is a split in the ranks of the NMU, one group wishing to follow Earl Browder's program of solidarity between labor and capital, while the other favors William [Zigzag] Foster, who teaches mass picketing and protest meetings, with the old can shaking program as a side issue. This protest picket line against the bonus cut on the Atlantic coast stinks to the high heavens.

In September, 1941, when the American Federation of Labor Seamen's union fought for the same issue, the commy controled NMU was loud in its condemnation of the seamen who refused to sail the ships. In the words of Joseph Curran, president of the NMU, the bonus strike was only a "secondary issue." It was more important to get supplies to Uncle Joe, for in those days it was a "people's war."

Today, when American men are dying on the battlefield, the commy controled NMU is very quiet concerning Uncle Joe and his stand on the Japanese situation. We old timers in the maritime industry consider these people as "Comrat Scabs" and a detriment to the labor movement in America.

GIVE OPA JOBS TO VETERANS

Chicago, June 13—The local offices of the OPA are staffed with women, a majority of them placed there by their precinct captain, ward committeeman, or some other petty politician. Many of these women are middle aged housewives, inexperienced and inefficient. Their ignorance of OPA rules and regulations and the indifferent service given the public are really awful. Why not put returning war veterans, possibly those not strong enough for hard physical work, in these OPA jobs? The work is not difficult, the hours not long, and the pay not bad. Give the boys a chance at it.

SIDEWALKS IN DISREPAIR

Chicago, July 3—Lately I have noticed that many sidewalks in Chicago are broken up or are completely gone. Enough accidents happen to pedestrians in crossing the streets without spraining and breaking their legs on broken sidewalks. One walk in particular which I have noticed is that on the west side of Wabash av. between 62d and 63d streets which could certainly do with a little repair. Why can't something be done either by the city or the owner of the property adjacent the ground where these walks should be?

THE DISCHARGE BUTTON

Chicago, July 9—Upon returning to the United States after two years' foreign service, I received a discharge lapel button for future civilian wear. I was proud to own it until I tried to wear it. It snapped in two, exposing a plastic base thinly coated with gilt.

If sterling silver pins can be awarded for defense work, it looks as if a veteran would deserve something better than a plastic one, with tinfoil coating, which falls apart before you can get it thru your button hole.

AN EX-SERVICEMAN

STRIKE LOSSES

Chicago, July 6—The war production board reported on July 4 that only 31 million man days of production had been lost thru strikes in the United States since Pearl Harbor, and that by industry working on Independence day every "lost" hour had been recovered. It is tragic that the extra day of work did not represent that much of a shortening of the war against Japan.

It is not the purpose of this letter to question the validity of any strike, but is it not a fact that a plant closed down because of one contributes no more to our war effort than a Jap factory bombed into oblivion by our B-29s? What did it cost us in human sacrifice, not to mention monetary expenditure to "close" that Jap war contributor? Are we going to continue to "bomb" our own factories and deprive our fighting men, to whom we have entrusted our liberty and who have been forced to sacrifice dearly to protect it, of the implements essential to prosecute the job given them?

The number of man days lost, as quoted above, seems to the writer to be subject to question. Based on one eight hour shift, it would take only 40 days for 100,000 strikers to better the figure stated, or on a two eight hour shift basis, only 80,000 workers over the same period. The number of strike reports I have read about in the city of Chicago alone would probably exceed the number mentioned apparently as being representative of the entire country.

Oak Park, Ill., June 30—The members of our branch wish to thank you for your splendid articles and editorials during the last few months in favor of an increase in wages for postal employes. The postal reclassification bill passed in congress has been long overdue. Your various articles and editorials played a great part in arousing the public to petition congress in our behalf. We shall always be deeply grateful to you for your support.

MAKING FINAL PAYMENT

Chicago, July 11—We are making the final payment on our home Aug. 1. Please inform us what documents and papers should be turned over to us.

C. W.

If the papers are in the usual form of notes secured by a trust deed, the debtor should, at the time of final payment, secure from the holder the last coupon and principal note, the trust deed, the guaranty policy or other evidence of title, and fire insurance policies. He should take these papers, with the previous coupons which should be in his possession, to the trustee named in the trust deed and secure a release deed, which the debtor should record. He should also have the trustee write on the mortgage riders on the insurance policies a notation that the trustee's interest has ceased, and should later clear this with the insurance companies.

The question whether the debtor can handle such steps for himself depends on his experience and resourcefulness.

'The Wicked Mrs. Steel'

By Roy Vickers

(Copyright, 1945, By Roy Vickers)

SYNOPSIS: Gillian Beynon comes to Tenstable as companion to Mrs. Steel, widow of Andrew Steel. By the terms of the will she must leave his vast wealth to one of his relatives, otherwise the estate passes in trust to the township of Tenstable. Ralph Hanshaw, business manager for the Steel interests, upon whom Mrs. Steel has designs, advises Gillian not to accept the position. When Ruth, the housekeeper, finds Mrs. Steel has killed another canary—knowing it is because Gillian has crossed her path—she urges Gillian not to stay. The hatred of her late husband's relatives for each other is intensified when Mrs. Steel announces a heart condition may cause her sudden death. She delights in her power over them and in making them grovel. She shows each one a will made in his favor—even Gillian, suggesting should she marry Ralph the money would be wisely managed. On Gillian's arrival, Ralph was about to fall in love with Mrs. Steel. Cunningly she makes plans to break up their romance. Gillian does not mention the will when Ralph proposes. His plan is to let his contract expire and pull away from the whole sordid atmosphere. When Mrs. Steel tells him of the will in Gillian's favor, Ralph quarrels with Gillian. Ruth, who had promised to watch over Margaret, finds she is getting too hard to manage. Valerie brings her fiance to visit her Aunt Margaret, who forces her to choose between him and the Steel fortune. Then secretly watches Valerie add extra tablets to her sleeping draught, which she pretends to drink. Gillian promises Ralph she will destroy the will and leave the Steel home at once, but Gillian falls asleep before destroying it, and next morning Mrs. Steel is found dead. Mr. Steel had trusted Ruth to watch over Mrs. Steel and see that she died in her own bed. Valerie is greatly agitated. Gillian tells Ralph she didn't destroy the will. Ralph fears the money will cause trouble between them. The family arrives for the reading of the will and learns the final will was in Gillian's favor. Five sleeping tablets are missing. In Mrs. Steel's sleeping draught Gillian used but one. Ruth suggests they ask Valerie about the missing tablets. Agnes accuses Gillian.

INSTALMENT XXIII.

NO BARGAIN

The people outside were laughing, jostling, and shouting. The hubbub penetrated to the drawing room and became intelligible. "Miss Beynon. . . . Let's see you, Miss . . . Miss Beynon." And then half a dozen in unison: "We want Miss Beynon!"

"Ruth or some one must have told them," muttered Simon angrily. "It's abominable behavior. What're we to do?"

"We needn't do anything much." Ralph took Gillian's arm. "Come with me, dear, and show yourself. It's all they want."

Gillian let Ralph take her to the window.

"Like royalty bowing from a balcony!" shrieked Valerie.

Supported by Ralph, Gillian faced the good tempered mob of townspeople. With Valerie's sneer ringing in her ears, she remembered that Mrs. Steel had referred to herself as "a local empress." Gillian felt utterly unsuited to the role, yet into that role they were thrusting her. They were clapping, waving handkerchiefs and cheering.

"Speech, Miss Beynon . . speech!"

"I can't," whispered Gillian.

"Never mind, I'll fix it. Wave to them and smile."

Ralph held up his hand for silence.

"Ladies and gentlemen. Miss Beynon asks me to thank you for your interest. At some later date, she hopes to welcome you all. But for the present—well, you won't forget, will you, ladies and gentlemen—that the family is in mourning."

Prompted by Ralph, she waved again, whereupon he whisked her from the window.

Gillian was dazed. Already the Steel fortune had made her a person of importance.

Agnes Steel, with her father, was emerging from the little room, into which Simon and Lyle had hustled her, more or less by force.

"That demonstration," boomed Simon, "unseemly tho it was, serves to show what the name of Steel means in Tenstable. The question we have to decide is whether we are to drag that name in the mud."

"Hear, hear!" exclaimed Lyle. By the way he said it, Gillian guessed that these two had made some kind of arrangement with the other.

"Miss Beynon—or may I say Gillian?—if Agnes were herself she would apologize for her insinuations—insinuations with which none of us associate ourselves."

Gillian was astonished. She had been under the impression that both Simon and Lyle had been actively backing Agnes.

"My daughter," continued Simon, "has had a more bitter disappointment than any of us. She is, as you know, interested in—er—education. She believed that a successful career in—er—education was about to be opened to her. The question I want to ask you is this—is that career still open to her?"

"You mean, am I willing to let Agnes have the money for her educational plans, whatever they are!"

"Precisely! You know how grossly unfair my brother's will was—compelling poor Margaret to leave everything to one and nothing to the others. You surely cannot wish to—er—perpetuate that injustice."

"I haven't had time to think about that," returned Gillian. "It is a little hard to forget that, only a few minutes ago, Agnes was accusing me of murder—working out a theory about my subconsciousness and those missing tablets."

"Those missing tablets! Who knows anything about them except just ourselves! There's Ruth, of course, but she will be glad to let sleeping dogs lie. Why need the story go outside these four walls?"

Still Gillian failed to understand the full nature of the bargain struck while she and Ralph were greeting the townspeople.

"Well for one reason, Agnes said she intended to tell the police," retorted Gillian. "Have you suddenly come to the conclusion that I'm not a murderer, Agnes?"

"No. I still think you did it. But I believe that greater good will come to humanity if you are willing to devote a fifth of the income to Aunt Margaret's plans for education—and for that reason I will keep silent. So will the others, for selfish reasons, if you give them a fifth each and keep a fifth for yourself."

Gillian was aghast. Ralph drew her on to the settee.

"The family excels itself," he said. "At last, it achieves a kind of honesty in plain, straight-from-the-shoulder blackmail. Share the loot equally, and they'll shut their mouths."

"It's fair!" cried Valerie.

Gillian's attention was wholly on Ralph.

"Are they offering to keep quiet for the sake of the money, Ralph, altho they believe I murdered Aunt Margaret?"

"They don't believe it. Possibly Agnes does, because she has worked herself into a state of hysteria. But they are threatening to accuse you. That means a thick public scandal to start with. And—and there is just the chance that you might get entangled with those missing tablets. And that might mean . . ."

He broke off.

"That might mean you'd go for trial," supplemented Lyle Weston. "And that might mean . . ."

"Shut up, you rat!" barked Ralph and instantly forgot Lyle. Ralph saw Gillian giving evidence, bold in her innocence, then wilting as a skilful, hard-eyed careerist cross-examined her into stammering incoherence.

"That's where they win, Gillian. It's not worth fighting them. And they know it."

"But they don't win!" exclaimed Gillian. "Mr. Steel, I will make no bargain whatever with any of you."

"Of course she won't," cried Agnes. "She thinks she's innocent, and she's grossly insulted. I'd do the same if I were in her place. And she'd do the same if she were in mine. I'm going to the police."

Simultaneously, her father and Lyle Weston rushed at her and grabbed her.

"You're mad, Agnes!" puffed Simon.

"It's Gillian who's mad!" cried Valerie.

Agnes was calm. "You can't both stand holding me like this for the rest of your lives. The moment you let go I'm off to the police."

"That's true—you can't stop her!" Ralph Hanshaw laughed wildly as they released her and she sped from the room, closely followed by Valerie Weston.

Second German Acquitted of Murder in London Trial

ODT PREPARES NEW CIVILIAN TRAVEL CURBS

Ban on Use of Private Rail Cars Demanded

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP)—The ODT disclosed today it contemplates new travel curbs on civilians, while the house heard a demand for a ban on the use of private railroad cars by wealthy families and railroad executives.

J. Monroe Johnson, director of the office of defense transportation, told reporters that further travel restrictions are contemplated "in all categories, not aimed particularly at sports."

Confers on Horse Curb

He made this remark after a conference with Harry A. Parr, president of the Thoroughbred Racing association, and other racing officials. The conference dealt with ODT's order yesterday prohibiting shipment of racing and show animals by rail or other public carriers.

Associates said Johnson, in mentioning further travel restrictions, apparently referred to the prospect of additional reductions in sleeping cars.

In announcing last week an order withdrawing from service by next Sunday all sleeping cars operating between points 450 miles or less apart, Johnson predicted it might be necessary to withdraw still more sleeping cars for use in carrying troops. There is also the possibility of shifting some additional day coaches to the military pool, ODT officials said.

Hope to Avoid Rationing

Actual rationing of travel for civilians is not being considered actively, and the ODT still hopes to avoid it.

In the house, Rep. De Lacy [D., Wash.] demanded that use of private cars be discontinued by railroads until war transportation needs are satisfied.

De Lacy said he had learned that members of the Weyerhaeuser lumber family, officials of the Great Northern railway, and others were using private cars for vacation trips, while returning veterans are crowded into hot day coaches.

"If we are to provide luxury, let us provide it to those who deserve it most—the returning, battle-weary GIs," De Lacy insisted.

Engine Sent to Heat Car

He said he was told by an official of the railroad brotherhoods that about four months ago special car A28 of the Great Northern brought the Weyerhaeuser family into Everett, Wash., vacation bound. An engine, he added, was sent from Seattle to Everett to warm the car while it was on a siding overnight. The same car, he said he was told, was sent, without passengers, from St. Paul, Minn., to Tacoma, Wash., about June 29 to pick up the Weyerhauser party and return it to St. Paul.

He also asserted that private cars A28 and A30, together with six empty Pullmans as "bumpers," carried directors of the Great Northern from St. Paul to Seattle, remained there two days and headed out for California. He added that Northern Pacific's private car No. 14 arrived in Seattle late in April and remained for a week. He did not know who was aboard.

At St. Paul, H. R. Wiecking of the Great Northern public relations staff said there was "no comment" from the road on De Lacy's talk. L. L. Perrin, assistant to the president of Northern Pacific, said De Lacy's statement "was being studied."

At Tacoma, John Phillip Weyerhaeuser Jr., a member of the lumber family mentioned by De Lacy, tonight said he had "never ridden in a private car in my life."

INJURED BY HIT-RUN AUTO

Jasper Gooch, 54, of 5612 S. Halsted st., a refrigerator salesman, suffered internal injuries yesterday when he was struck by a hit-run automobile after he alighted from a street car at 63d and State sts.

BOMBERS TO AID PULLMAN DRIVE FOR 300 WORKERS

An army plane with a belly load of leaflets will roar over Michigan City today and disgorge its cargo to remind residents of the need for workers to build railroad sleepers, A. A. Logmann, manager of the Michigan City Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company plant, announced yesterday.

The company needs 300 workers immediately to help build 1,200 troop sleepers so that soldiers may ride in comfort and no time will be lost on their way to Pacific war theaters, Logmann said.

The skilled workers most needed to carry out this program and also to do post-war car building include riveters, buckers, fitters, helpers, and laborers, Logmann explained. Any one with skill in car building trades will find employment in the plant.

AIRWAYS PLAN FARE CUT TO 4½ CENTS PER MILE

Officials of the United Air Lines and the American Airlines said yesterday that their companies will reduce fares to an average of 4½ cents per passenger mile if pending tariff applications are approved by the civil aeronautics board.

W. A. Patterson, president of United, said his air line intends to lower its fares 4 per cent about Sept. 1. The New York-Pacific coast fare would be $119.10, compared with the present $124.75 and the pre-war figure of $149.95. Chicago-New York fares would be $33.65, compared with $44.95 in pre-war days. Chicago-Pacific coast fares would be reduced to $83.45 from $105.

American Airlines announced that its fares would be reduced 7½ per cent by Aug. 15. Ralph S. Damon, president of American, who did not disclose its proposed rate schedule, predicted that the reductions might be followed by greater cuts when new and more effective transport facilities become available.

Help Your Children To Develop Strong Bones, Sound Teeth

Doctors report that many a child with ugly bowed legs or knock-knees might have grown up straight and shapely on a diet adequate in the bone-building minerals and Vitamin D.

Lack of calcium, for instance, in the earliest years may do irreparable damage—but in any case, calcium is so vital a factor that no child brought up on a consistently deficient calcium intake, can have much chance for strong bones and sound teeth.

That's one reason doctors talk so much about milk for growing children.

Milk is our best food source of calcium. Do your children get enough milk...at least a quart every day? Many children just don't like to take that much every day! That's why Cocomalt in milk is so helpful.

Cocomalt* is so rich in calcium, it makes 3 glasses of milk equal to a whole quart in calcium value! (Also this supplies the day's full minimum requirements for iron, phosphorus, Vitamin B_1 and D.) And Cocomalt's delicious chocolaty flavor makes children love their milk.

Start your children on Cocomalt today. Save this as a reminder.

*2 heaping tsps. to 8-oz. glass of milk.

There's no reason why even the newest cook shouldn't be successful in making hot muffins. Rules for making a perfect muffin are so simple that the thing to remember is not what to do, but what not to do! Do not overmix the batter, or the muffins will develop "tunnels."

After the flour, salt, and baking powder have been sifted together, the liquid [egg, milk, and melted fat] is added to the flour quickly, with only enough stirring to moisten the flour. It will be a lumpy batter, but don't worry—the lumps will bake out.

Other conditions may affect muffins, of course. With undermixing, the muffins may not rise evenly, and the texture may be coarse. Over baking may cause dryness, and the crust is apt to be dark and thick. If underbaked, the crust may be too pale and the inside doughy.

Incorrect proportions of flour, baking powder, and other ingredients also may have bad effects, but if a reliable and tested recipe is used, there should be no trouble. Here is a good basic recipe, with some interesting variations:

Plain Muffins
[One dozen medium]
2 cups sifted enriched flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons melted fat

Sift flour, baking powder, sugar, and salt together several times. Beat egg until light and blend it with the milk and shortening. Make a well in the center of dry ingredients and pour liquids in all at once. Stir about 25 strokes, or just enough to dampen dry ingredients. The batter should look lumpy, not smooth. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake at 400 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes.

Two or three tablespoons of chopped cooked bacon or sausage give excellent flavor to muffins. Use drippings from the meat and shortening.

For a fruit muffin, add ½ cup raisins, currants, dates, or other chopped fruit to the batter before baking. Or place a bit of jelly on top of each muffin before baking, for jelly muffins.

To make tomato-cheese muffins, add one-half cup grated cheese to dry ingredients, and use tomato juice in place of milk.

If there's sour milk on hand to be used, simply decrease baking powder to 1 teaspoon and add ½ teaspoon soda.

To make graham or whole wheat muffins, substitute 1 cup graham or whole wheat flour for 1 cup white flour. These are particularly good if made with sour milk or buttermilk.

Spiced muffins are one of the best ways of utilizing bacon fat. This prune spice muffin calls for ½ cup bacon drippings.

Prune Spice Muffins
[One dozen medium]
2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup brown sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup sour milk or buttermilk
½ cup melted bacon fat
6 cooked prunes

Sift flour, baking powder, soda, salt, and nutmeg. Add sugar to eggs and mix well. Add sour milk and shortening. Add to dry ingredients, stirring only until blended. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Press half a cooked prune into the top of each muffin. Bake at 425 degrees for about 25 minutes.

Orange Honey Bread a Novelty

For something new in homemade bread, try this orange honey bread. It will be a favorite as breakfast toast and is delicious cut in paper thin slices and served with hot or iced tea. To make it:

Soften one 1 ounce package compressed yeast in 1 cup lukewarm water for 5 minutes. Combine 1 cup lukewarm orange juice with 1 beaten egg, 1¾ teaspoons salt, and 6 tablespoons honey. Stir in softened yeast, and add 2 cups sifted whole wheat flour. Beat until smooth. Add grated rind of 2 oranges, 4 tablespoons melted shortening [cooled], and enough sifted bread flour, about 3 or 4 cups, to make a medium soft dough. Knead until smooth and elastic. Let rise in covered, greased bowl until doubled in bulk. Punch down and let rise again until doubled. Shape into two loaves and let rise in greased pans until almost doubled. Bake in moderately hot oven [400 degrees] for 10 minutes; reduce heat to moderate [375 degrees] and bake 40 minutes longer. Makes two loaves.

Invalid's Need for Bandages Is Told by Sally

[Sally Joy Brown department activities are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

An urgent request for soft, white cloths has come from Mrs. B., who suffers from a malady which requires the continual changing of bandages. Her supply of materials is exhausted. She can use an unlimited amount, but will be unable to call for offers. Packages, therefore, will have to be mailed. Her name and address will be supplied upon request.

The H. family is made up of parents and four children, girls 12 and 10 and boys 15 and 8, living in a congested neighborhood on the south side. The father's disability from a head injury suffered some time ago and his subsequent unemployment, coupled with the mother's inability to leave her family for work outside the home, has made the problem of clothing extremely serious. The sizes for the children approximate the ages given, and the mother wears size 18.

Another clothing request comes from Mrs. V., who has seven children. The 15 year old daughter has suffered for years from a nervous ailment and a resultant heart condition, which makes early entry into the hospital for further treatment imperative. Altho the eldest boy has worked after school for some time and now has a full time summer job to supplement home income, high prices prohibit the inclusion of clothing in the family budget. Wearing apparel of all kinds is needed. The boys wear sizes 16, 12, 8, and 6, and the girls, sizes 15, 13, and 9. The address is on the west side.

Sugar and victory

V-E Day has passed. But V-J Day is still ahead. The need for sugar . . . that indispensable energy food . . . continues to be in heavy demand.

At the direction of the Government supplies are moving at an increased rate to our armed forces, our allies, and to help in feeding people in liberated lands.

Due to a prolonged drought in Cuba, stocks of raw cane sugar from the Caribbean area, which serves our Atlantic Coast and Gulf refineries, are off greatly in volume.

These are some of the reasons why our Government has placed tighter rationing restrictions on household and on institutional and industrial users of refined sugar.

We have learned to accept wartime shortages all along the line. Use your sugar stamps, but use them wisely . . . and make a little do a lot.

Infant Welfare Group to Plan Oct. 5 Benefit

BY JUDITH CASS

ALTHO the superstitious may stay close to their homes this Friday the 13th, the day holds no terrors for members of the junior auxiliary of the Evanston Infant Welfare society. The women who will serve as committee heads for a benefit Oct. 5 to celebrate the auxiliary's 30th anniversary will sally forth at 11 a. m. in their best bibs and tuckers to attend a meeting and luncheon in the home of Mrs. Drennan J. Slater at which plans for the celebration will be outlined.

The benefit is to be a dinner at 8:30 p. m. in Marshall Field's Evanston store, with a fashion show and other entertainment on the program. Mrs. Slater is general chairman of the benefit, called a Tri-Decade party. Tables for four will be set up on the store's fourth floor, and tickets will be sold at $3 each. Reservations will be limited to 500.

Mrs. Frank Stebbins is president of the auxiliary. Some of those on the benefit committees are Mrs. Louis Tilden, talent chairman; Mrs. Chauncey Hobart, treasurer and ticket chairman; Mrs. Ray Brookby, Mrs. William Stahl, Miss Marian Carpenter, Miss Helen Chapman, and Mrs. Kenneth E. Morine.

The Evanston Infant Welfare Service league, a group of younger women affiliated with the auxiliary, will give its third annual children's party July 23 at the Indian Hill Estates home of Mrs. Charles Searles. While the youngsters are being entertained by Evanston's popular "monkey man" and other acts, their mothers will discuss their participation in the Oct. 5 benefit.

Here and There

Members of the MacChesney family will gather for a family party Sunday in the home of Gen. and Mrs. Nathan William MacChesney in Libertyville to say good-by to Gen. and Mrs. MacChesney's son, Alfred Brunson MacChesney III., who is about to return to Paris as special assistant to the American ambassador. The MacChesneys and their son dined at Fort Sheridan last night with friends, and went to the Ravinia Festival concert afterward. Mr. MacChesney is due back in Washington, D. C., Wednesday and will leave shortly for France.

Now in Paris on government business is Phelps Kelley, whose wife believes he and their son, Phelps Jr., have missed seeing each other, since a new A. P. O. address has arrived for Mr. Kelley Jr. Young Mr. Kelley had been serving with the American field service in Germany but expected a new assignment. His younger brother, Brooks, is on a camping trip in Canada.

Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr. will welcome Lt. Stanton from Washington, D. C., tomorrow on a week's leave. Lt. Stanton, who is stationed in Washington with the navy, is sharing a house in Georgetown with Durand Smith.

Spending a few weeks in the Drake hotel on one of their infrequent trips to Chicago are Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Conrad of Tryon, N. C. They formerly lived here.

Sharing in this week-end's festivities at the Chicago Yacht club will be Lt. and Mrs. Eugene Halligan, who have come from Cambridge, Mass., to spend 10 days with Harold Ashton, chairman of the club's regatta committee, and Mrs. Ashton.

Tailored Dress of Shantung Is a Hint of Fall

BY REA SEEGER

Swank tailored one piece dresses are worth their weight in gold, if they're sleek, smooth, and made with new fall details. Add the beauty of thick and thin thread weave shantung and you have everything. Even the price is interesting. Newly unpacked, ready for the next six weeks' wear with summer accessories, later with the first fall jackets, still later under coats, they are ideal buys, particularly for career girl wardrobes.

Three street shades are timely, too, a dull black, a silver gray that is a knockout neutral, and a summer street shade of deep lime. There are very flat patch pockets and an attached band belt that fastens with a huge button covered with the shantung of the dress and short sleeves. The neckline is very deep and can be worn with a striped or plain colored contrasting vestee, ascot, or gilet. Nothing in weeks has looked so smooth or sleek. Soft shirring at each side of the skirt does not detract from the streamlined simplicity, nor do the patch pockets or the deep tuck fold down the center of the skirt.

Such a model has endless possibilities. Accessories change it to suit the occasion. It's a town dress, an office dress, and with dress parade hat, bag, and gloves changes again, especially the lime and the dull black models. If you crave something new and sleek, something that hints of fall and winter, check this new one piece tailored dress of handsome shantung.

Alarm Grows Over Mothers' Child Neglect

One mother was sentenced to six months in the county jail yesterday and three others were booked on charges of contributing to the dependency of minors as authorities took an increasingly serious view of the growing number of child abandonment cases.

"Within the last three months alone we have taken in 200 children sent us by the Juvenile court," the sister superior at St. Vincent's orphanage said. "Child abandonment has been increasing over the last three years, according to our records."

Emotional instability due to war tensions was given by Dr. David B. Rotman, Municipal court psychiatrist, as the reason why many mothers abandon or neglect their children. This was his diagnosis in the case of Mrs. Myrtle Kubon, 25, of 142 W. 155th pl., Harvey, sentenced to six months in the county jail for contributing to dependency. The sentence was imposed by Judge Victor A. Kula in Domestic Relations court.

Mrs. Kubon lost track of her baby, Mary Ann, 3, on June 17 when, having left her husband, Walter, 29, a steel mill worker, for the sixth time, she took up with a new acquaintance and placed the child in a nursery. The child was taken from the nursery by a man who said he was the father.

Judge Kula rejected Kubon's plea that his wife be given "another chance." The custody of two remaining children, Walter Jr., 5, and Michael, 23 months, was referred to the Juvenile court.

Another mother, Mrs. May Lorusso, 23, of 3536 W. Monroe st., was booked by Fillmore police for leaving her three small children, the eldest 3, alone in her apartment Wednesday night while she went to a tavern. The children, two of whom were found naked and one in dirty, tattered clothing, alarmed neighbors with their cries. Police broke into the house and said it was in an "appalling condition." Mrs. Lorusso, arrested several hours later, said her husband, Vito, is on his way overseas.

Mrs. Eleanor Cullen, 18, of 1648 S. Throop st., was seized early yesterday at 21st and Halsted sts. after she left her 1 year old son in the Cadillac hotel, 2138 Wabash av. The child was taken to St. Vincent's orphanage by police Wednesday night. Mrs. Cullen was held in Central police station.

A charge of contributing to the dependency of their five children was placed against Mrs. Margie Cheff, 25, of 3519 Pulaski rd., and her husband, a garage mechanic and ex-service man, by Judge Leon Edelman in Shakespeare court. Cheff's mother, Mrs. Agnes Kochan, 46, of 4648 N. Harding av., made the complaint.

Mrs. Kochan said that she found her son's home locked Monday evening and no one with the children, Ray, 7; Michael, 5; Margie, 3, and Danny, 2. The youngest child, Cathleen Ann, 4 months, had been given to Mrs. Kochan three months ago by her daughter-in-law "who didn't want it," Mrs. Kochan said.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

White Collar Tragedy

She purchased the hat she had wanted for weeks,
The one with the daisies and rose.
She bought patent leathers with skyscraper heels
And the sheerest of celanese hose.

The dress that she ordered was really a dream,
As the sales lady said, "It would catch
Most any man's eye"; she went without lunch
Buying lipstick and polish to match.

She dashed thru the day with a smile on her lips,
Her heart was alive and astir, so—
She couldn't believe [when it came in a wire]
"The captain has canceled my furlough."

Back went the hat, and the shoes, and the gown,
The lipstick and polish she kept.
But home, in her room, where no one could see,
She behaved like a woman — and wept!

Help from Home

Housewives who have not been able to buy many items they have needed may be intrigued by an article in Boeing magazine telling how these gadgets are used by other women in an aircraft factory.

Homemakers' delights, such as an electric mixer, a double boiler, a sponge, and a water bucket are used in the laboratory where silk screens are made. In another department a muffin tin holds assorted rivets, a covered enamel kettle contains disinfectant, a dipper and sieve are useful for immersing material in a chemical bath, a glass baking dish holds mechanical parts, a dishpan catches oil drained from engines.

Photo drawings that have been washed and hung up to dry are fastened on the line with wooden clothespins, sewing machines stitch engine covers and upholstery for B-29 linings, and the cookie jar is filled with bolts!

Leinsdorf Stock Goes Up at Ravinia for Expert Performance of Schubert Symphony

Ravinia discovered more about the true symphonic stature of Erich Leinsdorf last night when in his second concert with the Chicago Symphony orchestra he conducted an expert, indeed a brilliant, performance of Schubert's symphony in C major, often one of the more recalcitrant giants in the repertory. There wasn't an ounce of bluff in his quiet, forceful procedure. He knew every one of what so enticingly have been described as the symphony's "intoxicatingly persistent rhythms," and, furthermore, he knew exactly what he wanted done with them. Some of his effects were unusual, but never eccentric. He marshaled his orchestral forces so adroitly the score was in remarkable equilibrium, particularly considering the shortage of strings.

It was evident from the beginning that this was to be a clear, fresh reading, with detail and color so carefully planned in advance they seemed, as they should, spontaneous. Once established the rhythmic vitality carried the first three movements in constantly reinforced momentum, while the flood of melody that makes this Schubert's masterpiece gave the whole its benign blessing, its challenging brilliance. The finale began at a furious pace and at no time sagged in performance, tho it was not, as it should have been, the crown of the adventure. The sense of mounting climax faltered, and tho the symphony ended vividly enough, it had lost the quality of magnetic continuity that had kept you on the edge of your chair, not just a listener, but a participant. It was, nevertheless, a remarkable performance, expertly directed and cleanly played.

Mr. Leinsdorf began his concert with his own transcription of the compassionate chorale, "O, Haupt Voll Blut und Wunden," from Bach's "St. Matthew Passion". Probably he intended to achieve an austere effect, which would be a relief in this day of lush transcriptions, but the outcome seemed rather harsh and dry.

After intermission, the concert took a turn for the "Pops" with Morton Gould's "American Salute" and his "Red Cavalry March," which luckily belongs to the pre-motorized era, because the roar of tank treads is no musical match for the delicate clac' of thorobred hooves. Mr. Leinsdorf had a bit of trouble launching the younger Strauss, for "Perpetuum mobile" was rivaled by what seemed for a bit to be a perpetual parade of trains. But they passed at last, as things do, and the orchestra had a gala time not only with perpetual motion, but with the "Pizzicato Polka" and the waltz, "Roses from the South."

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Erich Leinsdorf, conductor. Presented at Ravinia Thursday evening, July 12, 1945. The program:

Chorale, "O Haupt voll Blut und Wunden".....Bach-Leinsdorf
Symphony No. 10, C major.....Schubert
American Salute.....Gould
Red Cavalry March.....Gould
Pizzicato Polka.....Strauss
Perpetuum Mobile.....Strauss
Waltz, "Roses from the South"....Strauss

Wallenstein Next Week

Because of George Szell's illness, the festival committee has engaged Alfred Wallenstein to conduct four concerts starting at Ravinia next Tuesday night. Jakob Gimpel will appear in the Rachmaninoff Second and Beethoven Fifth Concertos as previously announced, but otherwise the programs are subject to change. Mr. Wallenstein, now the conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic, formerly was first cellist of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Welfare Agency Here Starts 10th Year with 28,000 on Relief Rolls

The Chicago welfare administration begins this month its 10th year as the agency for the care of poor and indigent persons in Chicago with 28,000 persons on the relief rolls.

George J. Klupar, welfare commissioner, said the year ending June 30 was the fifth consecutive year in which the relief rolls showed a decrease. In June, 1940, there were 198,000 persons receiving relief.

Children, mothers with children, the aged and chronically ill, and persons who cannot be employed because of illness or injury, are virtually the only persons now receiving relief.

Msgr. Morrison to Speak at Meeting of Serra Club

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph P. Morrison, rector of Holy Name cathedral, will speak today at the Serra club luncheon meeting in the University club.

Thru the Looking Glass

Our recent request to the users of leg make-up that they be as considerate of commercial linens as they would be of their own during this season of traveling apparently pleased the harassed hotel managers. We got dozens of letters from innkeepers who say that their linens, literally and figuratively worn so a thread—and with no new supply in sight—just won't last the season if the women guests won't be cooperative.

Women, they say, are far more inconsiderate than men; the most meticulous of housekeepers, once they assume the role of paying guest, do all sorts of things that try the hotel housekeeper's soul. This certainly is a black mark against us females at any time, but in times like these, when every single one of us can serve in this war by saving, it's pretty shocking.

No one ever has been able to estimate the damage done to the supply of hotel linen by woman's habit [one in which she indulges only when she is away from her own home] of removing cream and make-up with a towel. Every day, according to the hotel owners, the lives of thousands of their dwindling supply of towels are shortened by cold cream and make-up stains that either can't be removed or are erased only by the most rigorous and destructive kind of laundering.

About lipstick stains the poor hotel and restaurant owners can hardly speak calmly. In peace time they accepted the tragedy of these with some philosophy, and simply added the cost of a constant supply of new linens to their overhead. Now, of course, there is no reservoir of supplies to tap, and they can only view woman's carelessness with bitterness.

What's say we give them a break from now on out? Let's do unto the linens of restaurant, train, and hotel exactly as we would do unto our own! ELEANOR NANGLE

FASHIONS
By Angela

Summer foundation garments for the slim of figure are lightweight, easily washable, and comfortable in any degree of heat. Pantie girdles and regular step-in garments share in popularity. Bras for summer range from sheerest net to cool knitted materials, all cut to flatter the figure.

The pantie girdle at the left has a smooth center panel of satin, with elastic side panels and a knitted silk fabric for the back. A zipper closes the side fastening.

A firmer foundation garment, in the center, for those who must have support is fashioned of rayon and cotton in the front panel and satin elastic in the back. This 14 inch model is available in sizes 26 to 30. The bra worn with this girdle is well cut in a flattering princess line and is of cool rayon and cotton material.

For the slender figure which requires a minimum of support, the white knitted brief pantie girdle at the right is an ideal choice. The cool, knitted fabric launders like a handkerchief and dries quickly. It is available in sizes 26 to 32 and priced under $3. Also knitted is the tiny bra with its adjustable back fastening. It is designed to meet the requirements of every figure. It is available in small, medium, and large sizes.

The defensive aspects of contract bridge are perhaps the most difficult to master. In this department of the game, the proper use of signals as well as their accurate interpretation are indispensable to success.

Signals must be delicately employed. By convention, the play of an unnecessarily high card is a request for the lead or the continuation of that suit. There is frequently heard the suggestion that "a six or higher is a come-on signal." Or again, "a seven or better is a come-on signal." Such restrictive use of signals borders on the absurd. What if you haven't a six or a seven? You cannot help what has been dealt to you. If the only cards available to you are the four and two, you are obliged to signal with the four. And is it your fault if the lowest card you have in a suit happens to be the seven, and you have no desire to ask for its continuance?

Signals are intended primarily to suggest leads and shifts and not so much to show the possession of particular cards. Today's hand furnishes a splendid example of this principle.

Against the final contract of three no trump West elected to lead the king of clubs [the K Q 9 8 being so close to K Q 10]. East, holding the jack of the suit led, would normally encourage its continuation by signaling with the seven, but a moment's reflection will make it clear that the club continuation is not desired. The bidding plainly indicates that West can have no entries, since South is marked with all the outstanding honor strength. What East really wanted was a spade shift. He therefore, followed with the three of clubs, his lowest.

West obediently shifted to the obvious spade lead. Dummy played the jack and East the queen. The jack of clubs was then led and South had to duck. West overtook with the queen in order to lead another spade. This gave the defense a total of three spade tricks, two club tricks and the eventual king of diamonds.

Had East thoughtlessly played a high club to the first trick to show the jack, the suit would have been continued and the contract fulfilled, because declarer would now have time to dislodge the king of diamonds and the spade holding could never be attacked.

Baby Can Be Kept Clean on a Long Journey

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Before going on to the matter of baby's food when taking a train journey of several days with him, I want to devote one more column to cleanliness hints, having disposed of the diaper question.

You may not—some mothers don't—find it at all feasible to give your baby an all-over bath each day on the train, or even a sponge bath. But with the bathing you may do occasionally at diaper changing time, and frequent washing of his hands, forearms, face, and neck, you can keep your baby sanitary and comfortable, especially with oil for the skin creases.

Sheer cheesecloth is better for washing the baby than heavy face cloths. Buy about two yards or more of coarse cheesecloth and wash. Cut into squares for washing the baby's hands and face, then throw away after one use.

You will need at least two towels.

The drooliness of babies and the way their purees "travel" when they are fed make a bib desirable. We are not "bib" enthusiasts in our family. So for the between meals we use a man's handkerchief or small flowered kerchiefs, or a bandana tied on cowboy fashion, with a knot at the back of the neck. It's really cute. For other times we found a waterproof plastic bib — soft, transparent, and tough. It can be wiped clean and dried instantly. Very cheap too, and looks quite sweet when tied on—that is, for a bib.

One thing I haven't mentioned before: If you are alone and in a railroad station and must in an emergency leave your baby for a few moments, and no maid or matron is available, choose a woman who has older children of her own with her. She is the safest type of person to trust. Of course, avoid this situation if you possibly can.

Movie Version of 'God Is My Co-Pilot' Is Lacking in Reality

"GOD IS MY CO-PILOT"

By Mae Tinée

Perhaps I expected too much of this film, adapted from the book of the same title. I did not read the best seller, so comparisons are out, but in general reviews were enthusiastic, leading me to hope for something real in the movie version. Unfortunately, to me it carried a constant note of artificiality, and I never lost the feeling that it was "just another movie," my expectations to the contrary.

A brave, decent man's arrival at a belief in God is portrayed, and even that struck me as strange. An army pilot, he was never grateful to the Almighty for help in several difficult situations; he believed it was luck that brought him across treacherous peaks in a storm or caused a Jap's machine gun to jam at the right moment; he took his strong, capable body and his beautiful wife and child for granted. It is only when, thru the kindness of his commanding officer, Gen. Chennault, he is permitted to go on a mission for which he officially has been declared unfit that he really begins to appreciate God.

It seemed to me to be a superficial and rather trivial business, after the numerous experiences the pilot had as a member of the Flying Tigers. The raid would have taken place without him; hence it would seem that personal frustration was his strongest motive.

Mr. Morgan does as well with the role as any man could and is likable and natural as Col. Scott. Alan Hale plays the priest who probes the colonel's religious beliefs and quotes a rather beautiful bit of poetry—which has a far more realistic motif and expresses emotions far more honest and humble than the desire which shakes the pilot into an awareness of God in the film. Too bad some one felt it necessary to have Hale lapse into a brogue every now and then, apparently just because his nickname is Big Mike. It doesn't come naturally and doesn't help matters at all.

Even the Japanese flyers are so villainous looking and work so hard at their sneering as to be almost silly, and maybe men in a dog fight do have time to think of wisecracks, such as muttering as they swoop down on the enemy, "Don't look now, but your Zero's showing," but I hope most of them are more original than that.

Raymond Massey's Gen. Chennault is a quietly capable if not a striking personality. Since Col. Scott was both author and advisor, maybe the Flying Tigers were like the men in the film, but they seemed a bit coltish—with the exception of likable little Dane Clark.

There are some fine photographic effects, planes silhouetted against cloud banks, thundering down runways, and diving and twisting in action, but aside from the visual and technical perfection, I don't think you'll be either thrilled or convinced by this production.

French Intelligence Service Woman to Be Bastille Day Speaker

Speakers at the Bastille day luncheon to be given by the Franco-American society under the sponsorship of the French consulate at 12:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Knickerbocker hotel will be a 25 year old French service woman, Sabine Wormser, and Mrs. Quincy Wright, director of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations. The celebration of France's 4th of July is being held by French groups in Chicago. Mrs. A. L. Bucher is president of the society and chairman of arrangements. Andre Le Loup is chairman of the Franco-American Bastille day committee. Miss Wormser, who is in this country on a mission for the French intelligence, is visiting her kinsman, Capt. A. Georges Dreyfus.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 12—Bob Walker and June Allyson will be teamed again by Joe Pasternak, this time in "Silly Girl," written by that mighty clever Angna Enters. This follows "Till Clouds Roll By." . . . Glenn Ford is so good in "Stolen Life" opposite Bette Davis that George Cukor is trying to borrow him from Columbia for "Razor's Edge." . . . Eddie Norris, without any help, got himself a nice contract at R. K. O. . . . Boris Morros heard of Valerie Hinton's voice [she's an 18 year old Stanford student], hied himself up there, and put her under contract. She'll sing in his picture, "Carnegie Hall." But wait 'til you hear the songbird Jerome Kern has under cover. She's under cover only because she's happily married and about to have a baby. . . . I asked Sally Benson, who's writing dialog for "Anna and the King of Siam," why she wrote so much about women. "Because I know so much more about our sex," she replied. She has bought the Louisa Alcott story, "Eight Cousins," which she's adapting for the stage, and I'm told Leland Hayward wants to produce it. Who wouldn't?

Breaking Out Into Print

Ida Lupino signed a contract with Doubleday-Doran, publishers, while in New York. They'll publish "The Fabulous Lupinos," the book she's writing with Charley Beeham about her family. . . . Donna Reed took her new husband, Tony Owen, home to Denison, Ia., to meet her folks. . . . Clark Gable met Griff Arvid 10 years ago when he was making a picture up north. Griff was his hunting guide and attending the University of Washington. Clark helped get him a job as prop boy at the studio, and now he's an assistant director.

A Good Press Agent

Wire from Betty Hutton: "New York mighty gay. Elliott Roosevelts and young Franklin at the Waldorf. Met Ann Rutherford and husband at 21. Ann Sheridan and Steve Hannegan also there. Bumped into the Ozzie Nelsons at the Stork, where Sherman Billingsley gave me grand party. New fall hats are dizzy. Wish you were here being dizzy, too." . . . Town House terrace was the setting for a good old get-together with Ben Meyer, Meli Haldeman, Jeffie O'Connor, Frank Murphy, Joe Frazier, and the Ross Beasons, newcomers from Florida. Connie Hilton introduced his mother, who comes from Texas to spend her vacations here. Lili Damita arrived with Bruce Cabot and Hugh Fenwick. Elsie Mendl was present with a new hair-do. . . . Now it's Director Irving Pichel who may join up with Leo McCarey for Rainbow Productions.

The Way of Success

Evelyn Keyes is being sent to New York for the opening of "A Thousand and One Nights." She'll have a field day with critics and undoubtedly will return with a brand new wardrobe and a new raft of beaux. . . . Jinx Falkenburg's shop already has sold out of material, so mama has hied herself down to Mexico for more. . . . Can't wait to read Laurette Taylor's book, "Stars That Have Crossed Me." Wonder whether Laurette means heavenly bodies or our earthly ones. She could tell plenty. We have Laurette to thank for Lynn Fontanne. Laurette not only brought her over from England but paid her passage.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 12—The puzzling White Sox did well enough as hitters tonight while opening their second 1945 eastern tour but they lacked the knack of turning hits into runs. They exploded 11 safeties against the annoying Emil Leonard, who quit after eight innings because of a hand injury, but the neat bundle of hits netted only a 4 to 2 defeat at the hands of the surging second place Senators. It was the latter's fifth in a row over Dykes' athletes.

Thornton Lee who yielded only eight hits while his pals were losing their fourth of the season to the Leonard nemesis, found the second inning the one big hurdle of the evening. In this session Lefty was assessed for half of the eight hits, the attack being additionally complicated by a pass for a total of three runs, two of which were accounted for by Leonard. It was the veteran left hander's seventh trimming.

Senators Fight Back

Lee added a single to similar drives by Floyd Baker and Cass Michaels to give the Sox their first run in the second inning but it was only a moment or so later that the Senators launched their three run assault. George Binks and Gil Torres singled in the home half and were bunted along by Rick Ferrell after which George Zardon was purposely passed, filling the bases. Leonard did a good unloading job by singling Binks and Torres home. The firing continued with a double by George Case, Zardon scoring. Lee dodged additional trouble for the moment by fanning George Myatt and Fred Vaughn.

The door was wide open for some heavy scoring by the White Sox in the third inning but a double play slammed it shut with only one run across. Sam Reynolds led with a single to left and, after Kerby Farrell had flied out, John Dickshot tripled to right to get the run over. The situation improved with a pass to Baker but an instant later a liner dispatched by Orris Hockett was flagged by Vaughn who whipped the ball to Binks to double Baker at first.

They Score Again

Ferrell put the squeeze on Lee at the start of the fourth by doubling to left and going as far as third on a single by Leonard after Zardon had fanned. A fly ball delivered by Case to Dickshot was sufficient to get Ferrell home. The fifth also started badly for Lee but in this instance he showed he still was able to make the ball talk back to the Senators. Vaughn opened the inning with a bunt which Lee tossed far into right field, Vaughn going to third on what the scorer termed a hit and two base error. Lee quickly fanned Clift and Binks and Baker threw out Torres.

Buddy Lewis to Rejoin Senators Next Week

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP)—Buddy Lewis will be out of the army and back with the Washington Senators next week, he advised Owner Clark Griffith today. The former third baseman-outfielder, an air forces captain, saw months of service as a transport pilot in the C. B. I. theater. His telegram to Griffith came from Stout field, Indianapolis.

I Think of Them

While I lie comfortably in bed
With downy cushions at my head,
I cannot help but think of those,
Who, by a cruel fate, must doze

Tommy Holmes Barely Misses Select Group

New York, July 12 (AP)—By failing to hit safely against the Chicago Cubs today, which snapped his streak at 37 games, Tommy Holmes of Boston fell three games short of joining Joe Di Maggio, Willie Keeler, Bill Dahlen, George Sisler, and Ty Cobb as the only major league players to hit safely in 40 or more successive games.

Holmes, however, bettered the modern National league record of 33 set by Rogers Hornsby of St. Louis in 1922. The all time National league mark of 44 was established by Wee Willie Keeler of the 1897 Baltimore Orioles, two more than the 42 straight games compiled by Dahlen in 1894 with the Chicago White Stockings.

The major league high of 56 was set by Joe Di Maggio with the New York Yankees in 1941, which bettered the previous American league mark of 41 games made by St. Louis' George Sisler in 1922, who in turn had topped Ty Cobb's 40 straight contests in 1911 with Detroit.

NELSON BEATS MIKE TURNESA IN P. G. A. GOLF

Revolta Loses to Byrd, 2 and 1

BY CHARLES BARTLETT
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Dayton, Ohio, July 12—Byron Nelson, a man you want on your team when the going gets tough, proved himself again today, when he made one of the most explosive finishes in the history of match play golf, to defeat Mike Turnesa of White Plains, 1 up, in the second round of the 27th National Professional Golf tournament at the Moraine Country club.

If you were shopping around for a sight of the world's greatest golfer in action under terrific pressure, you would have seen him this afternoon as Nelson, two down to a fine golfer with only four holes to play, pulled his shootin' irons out and fired two birdies, an eagle and a par. He played those last four holes in 12 strokes, four under par, for an all-day medal of 134, ten shots under the full route for Moraine.

Plays with Injury, Too

Nelson, playing with an injured shoulder blade, has another truly difficult assignment in tomorrow's third quarter-final against 40 year old Denny Shute of Akron, O., himself an old hand at winning this championship. By and Denny won't be alone, for there will be three other battles, all involving talented swingers. The first will send Chicago's Ky Laffoon against quiet, capable Clarence Doser of Hartsdale, N. Y., the second, Sam Byrd of Detroit, Mich., against former champion Victor Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., and the fourth and last Claude Harmon, the up and coming Detroiter, against Ralph Hutchison, former U. S. C. half back.

Nelson's performance today was registered against a man who played superb golf most of the way himself. Turnesa, the fourth of the New York family of seven brothers, saw Nelson go two up in the first three morning holes, then come back to match Nelson's medal of 68 and go one up at the intermission. He finished the day with a brilliant 137, more than enough to win most matches, but not against Nelson.

Turnesa Goes Three Up

Turnesa drove out of bounds at the 21st but got on in two and dropped a 15 footer for a half in fours. Mike then traveled the rough to the long 22d and dropped an 8 footer for a bird. He ran one down from 7 feet at the 25th, Nelson missing from 5 feet to leave Mike three up. It appeared that the stage was set for an exit of the man who had won 30 of the 36 P. G. A. matches he has played in eight tournaments.

The Nelson loyalists didn't think so, and he promptly verified them. He was within five feet or less of the 26th and 27th cups for birdies that left him one down at the turn. They halved the next three but Mike dropped a putt for a birdie on the 31st, and time was running out.

Came a half on the 32d, then the 173 yard 33d. Byron hammered a 4 iron four feet from the flag for the deuce. He was in front of the 325 yard 34th, and on the green, eight feet away, for another birdie. A tremendous drive and a 5 iron gave him a seven foot chance for an eagle, and he holed it to go one up. He was in the rough off the tee at the 430 yard 36th, and his approach kicked into the spinach bordering the green at the left. Turnesa straight off the tee, was short with his second, then whipped the ball up within 7 feet. Mike knocked his putt in like a champion, and Nelson, after recovering within four feet, saw his putt for the decisive half in par fours, roll around the hole before it fell.

Two Extra Hole Matches

The second round was a typical P. G. A. day. It saw two extra hole matches, and in addition to the Nelson finish, another 36 hole task. This latter was won by Ghezzi, who had a time of it before he could win, 2 up, from muscular Herman Barron,

ED SHEDLOSKY, TULSA BACK, TO JOIN ALL-STARS

All-Star Roster

THE list of college football players who have accepted invitations to join the All-Stars for the game Aug. 30 in Soldiers' field with the Green Bay Packers follows:

TACKLES—Glen Burgels, Tulsa; Clyde Flowers, Texas Christian.
GUARD—Pat Filley, Notre Dame.
CENTER—Gordon Appleby, Ohio State.
HALF BACK—Boris Dimancheff, Purdue; Sgt. Charles Trippi, University of Georgia; Edmond Shedlosky, Tulsa.
FULL BACK—Sgt. Ernie Bonelli, Pittsburgh.

BY WILFRID SMITH

Edmond Shedlosky, who played a lot of fine football for the University of Tulsa in three seasons at the wing back position, where he was most effective on reverses, has accepted an invitation to join the College All-Stars. He will report at Northwestern university Aug. 12 to begin training for the game in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 30 with the Green Bay Packers, champions of the National Football league.

Shedlosky is 25, weighs nearly 190 pounds, and is 5 feet 11 inches tall. His playing experience, in addition to three years as a regular back for the Hurricanes, includes three bowl games. Tulsa was beaten by Tennessee and by Georgia Tech in New Orleans' Sugar bowl. Since Tulsa then defeated Georgia Tech last Jan. 1 in the Orange bowl, it is logical that Shedlosky should pick this contest as his greatest thrill in sports.

He's a Valuable Asset

If the coaches of the All-Stars select a single wing back system as the fundamental attack against the Packers they have in Shedlosky a most valuable asset. It is not to be inferred, however, that the Tulsa star will be lost at any other method of offensive football. During his senior year, despite his assignment, which normally involves more blocking than ball carrying, he gave Tulsa the required punch on short and wide reverses, since the tail backs were less inexperienced players and, in several instances, were freshmen.

Backs Up Glenn Dobbs

Shedlosky began competition on the squad that featured Glenn Dobbs, and his performance ably backed up that great kicker and passer. Shedlosky's home is in Nanticoke, Pa. He has received the degree of bachelor of science and he majored in zoology. He expects to continue his studies toward a medical degree.

In his spare time, Shedlosky likes to play golf. The game strictly is a hobby, for football is his first love. Sammy Snead is his favorite athlete, however.

Call for Musicians

MUSICIANS who wish to join the College All-Star band, which will appear in Soldiers' field the night of the All-Star game, Aug. 30, are asked to communicate with Ray Dvorak, director of bands at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

Whirlabout Tops List in $20,000 Race

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

Louis B. Mayer's Whirlabout, one of the better performers in the juvenile filly ranks last year and a sharp second to her stablemate, Busher, in the recent Santa Margarita handicap at Santa Anita, tops a field of 23 fillies and mares in the $20,000 Modesty handicap at Washington Park tomorrow.

The rapid daughter of Pompey-Lost Horizon has been assigned 123 pounds for the event which will be run as a co-feature with the $50,000 Arlington Classic for 3 year olds. Her impost is three more than Brownell Combs' Durazna, winner of the Clang handicap.

Traffic Court to Run

Nick Burger's Traffic Court, heroine of the 1944 Beverly has been rated third and will carry 116 pounds, two more than Mrs. Robert McGarvey's Night Shadow and Hyman Friedberg's Harriet Sue.

Eight sprinters have been named for today's headliner, the $5,000 Royal Order of Jesters purse, a six furlong affair for which John Marsch's Occupy, Mrs. H. J. Damm's Zacapet, and Mrs. A. L. Rice's Sirde have been assigned top weight of 118 pounds. After Lunch, My Tet Rambler, Boss Bull, and Fighting Don round out the field.

Another large week day crowd, estimated at 17,500, saw the longest daily double return of the Chicago season hung up, $765.80, thru the medium of victories by Harry Waldrop's Pipeliner [$36.60] in the first race and River Divide farm's Bel Revere [$58.80]. The mutuel handle was $1,090,329.

Skoronski Rides Bel Revere

Doug Dodson, leading rider of the current meeting, brought Pipeliner in, a 4 year old which won only $2,820 in 29 starts last year.

Bel Revere, ridden by Tony Skoronski, was a maiden, with one second to his credit in eight races last year and two poor performances in his only starts this season.

A. C. Ernst's Aladear and Calumet farm's Avenue Bell waged a spirited battle in the third race, a five furlong sprint for maiden juvenile fillies. Aladear, with Johnny Adms up, won by three-quarters of a length and in :59 3-5, two-fifths of a second slower than the track record.

John Marsch's Art Roi scored his fourth victory in seven starts in the featured sixth race, a mile affair for 3 year olds. Billy Thompson booted him in a length in front of H. E. Jacoby's Cracks as Lake Lowenstein's Silvery Moon took the show another length back.

CHANDLER GETS FINAL APPROVAL FROM MAJORS

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP)—Sen. A. B. [Happy] Chandler was formally and firmly seated today as baseball's commissioner.

In one of the shortest joint meetings on record, one hour and 45 minutes, major league club owners unanimously approved Chandler's 7 year $50,000 contract.

Rumors had been current that Chandler's power would not be as great as that held by his predecessor, the late Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, but there was no indication of dissatisfaction with Chandler.

Says He Wants Authority

Chandler did not actually sign a contract. It is still to be circulated among clubowners for their signatures.

In answering rapid-fire questions of newsmen, Chandler quickly cleared up any doubt as to how much power he will have as commissioner. He said his authority will be virtually the same as that enjoyed by Landis and commented:

"I told them [the clubowners] that if I ever made an issue on a matter that I said was detrimental to baseball that I would win or they would have a new commissioner."

Look to Future

Looking well toward the future, a post-war committee will meet soon, probably with the minor leagues in Chicago on July 23.

No joint action was taken on transportation difficulties. "We are getting along pretty well as things are," Chandler said.

Nor was there any discussion about the world series. The answer to whether it will be played under office of defense transportation restrictions can wait upon later developments, he indicated.

No one brought up the question of Chandler resigning from the senate, he said, that being left to his own judgment.

"I'm not taking the commissioner's salary as long as I stay in the senate," he brought out, but declined to say when he might resign his seat.

Will Rearrange Schedules

In separate meetings yesterday and this morning, both leagues tackled the vexing transportation problem, made more acute by the ODT's recent reduction of the number of pullman cars available to civilians.

Both leagues, in effect, will rearrange schedules, perhaps advancing starting times and playing more double headers in order to leave open dates for travel. They will not play a night game on the tail end of a series, with rare exceptions.

NORTH SIDERS WIN NO. 11, 6-1; THEN LOSE, 3-1

Wyse Stops Holmes at 37 Straight

BY EDWARD BURNS
[BOX SCORES ON PAGE 19]

A crowd of 29,513, the largest week day gathering in Wrigley field this season, saw streaks of one kind and another take a licking yesterday as the Cubs and the Boston Braves split a double header, the Cubs winning the first, 6 to 1, behind the three hit pitching of Hank Wyse and the Braves the second, 3 to 1, when Carden Gillenwater busted a two run homer with two out in the ninth.

The first streak of importance to suffer a break during the afternoon, was that of Tommy Holmes who had hit 37 straight games between visits to Wrigley field, having topped Roger Hornsby's 1922 league record after passing 33.

It's Five Straight for Hank

While Wyse was holding Holmes, he also was leading the Cubs to their 11th straight victory, also his own 11th of the season, of which the last five have been in succession.

When Gillenwater hit the left field screen with two out in the ninth and Holmes on first base [as a result of his only hit of the afternoon] the homer ended, as things soon proved, the Cubs' 11 game winning streak and Passeau's personal winning streak of nine straight.

The Cubs, by making only five hits off Nate Andrews in the second game, also slowed their phemonenal hitting streak, which saw them make 154 hits, an average of exactly 14 per game, in their 11 game winning splurge.

Another Streak Ends

Another streak which ended was one of Cubs' consecutive victories over the Braves. Passeau whipped them in a two hitter on June 3, the last time prior to yesterday that Holmes had been stopped. That started a string of six straight.

The teams will play single games this and tomorrow afternoons. Today Ray Prim will be pitted against Bob Logan, who beat Wyse and the Cubs in Wrigley field in the first game on June 3, but was the losing pitcher in both games on July 4, first as a starter then as a reliever.

The first scoring in yesterday's first game was in the second inning, in which the Cubs made three runs on singles by Andy Pafko and Peanuts Lowrey, an error by Eddie Joost, a force play which drove home a run, and a single by Wyse, which drove in two runs. Stan Hack made the fourth hit in the inning but it did not contribute to run making. Bill Nicholson opened the third inning with a double and scored on a double by Phil Cavarretta.

Hank Can Hit, Too

The Cubs scored their fifth and sixth runs in the sixth on a single by Wyse and successive singles by Johnson, Nicholson, and Cavarretta.

Wyse's shutout vanished in the eighth. Vince Shupe beat out a high bouncer to Merullo and scored on Joost's triple to right, Joost's effort being the third and final hit off Wyse.

Holmes Finally Gets One

The Cubs tied the score in the sixth inning. Going into the inning, the Cubs had made a total of one single, a high bouncer which Hack had beat out at the start of the home first. Johnson lifted the Chicago hit total to two when he opened the sixth with a single to right. Nicholson forced Johnson on a bouncer to Shupe but Cavarretta singled to center, Nick dashing to third. Pafko singled to center, scoring Nicholson with the tying run.

The fatal ninth started with Holmes' only hit of the game, a low liner to right. Workman struck out and Joe Medwick popped to Len Merullo. Gillenwater banged his sixth homer of the year well over the left field catwalk, scoring behind Holmes.

VIRGINIA NILLES, RUTH MORE PLAY FOR TITLE TODAY

Beat Miss Lindsay, Miss Muench in Semi-Finals

Decatur, Ill., July 12 [Special]—Virginia Nilles, Park Ridge, and Ruth Moore, Peoria, will play tomorrow for the Illinois Women's Golf association championship at the Decatur country club.

In semi-finals today, Miss Nilles, playing her best golf of the week, defeated Marjorie Lindsay, 1943 champion from Decatur, 2 and 1. Miss More shot subpar golf on the back nine to eliminate Margaret Muench, Glenview, 4 and 3.

Regardless of who wins tomorrow's final battle a new champion will be crowned. The 23 year old Miss Nilles was runner-up last year, losing to Jeanne Cline of Bloomington. This is the first time Miss More has reached the finals after being eliminated the last three years in the semi-finals.

There wasn't more than one hole difference in the Lindsay-Nilles match until the Park Ridge school teacher dropped a 20 foot putt for a birdie two on the 134 yard 17th hole to end the struggle.

The More-Muench match was close for the first half, each winning two holes on the front nine to finish all square. Then the long driving Peorian went to work. She was one under par for the six holes she needed to finish the match.

Only 3 Days Left to Enter Tribune Swim

With only three days remaining in which entries will be accepted for the 16th Chicagoland 100 yard free style swimming races, it should be emphasized that no special entry blank is required for teams. Several instructors and park supervisors have requested such blanks, but they are not required.

The instructor may send in the names of his entire group of swimmers on one sheet of paper (or more if required). The name, age, address, and the qualifying center are all the facts necessary for each swimmer. The deadline for entries in the trials sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities is midnight Sunday.

The individual entry blank, which furnishes the locations of the sectional meets, will be printed today, tomorrow, and Sunday. If this is filled out correctly, the contestant will receive a postcard next week verifying the information. This card will admit to the trials without payment of any fee.

All amateur swimmers are eligible and each finishing his 100 yard race will receive a souvenir button. Contestants 16 years of age and over must register with the Central association of the A. A. U., which sanctions the annual races. Registration may be made on the day of the races and this fee is paid by THE TRIBUNE.

Approximately 120 boys and girls will qualify for the 10 championship events July 29 at California park. Gold, silver, and bronze medals are the awards for first, second, and third places, respectively, in each final event.

Ghezzi tomorrow meets Byrd, a fellow who has shown that you can be a gifted hand in golf as well as baseball. One down to John Revolta of Evanston, Ill., the able 1935 champion, Byrd came back with a rally that cut that deficit to a 2 and 1 triumph for himself.

The first quarter-final bout pits Laffoon, leader in the Illinois qualifying test for this party, against Doser, who first made the P. G. A. grade in 1929. Both won extra hole arguments today, Ky from his pal, Jack Grout of Butterfield, on the 38th green, and Doser from Dayton's popular Toney Penna, on the 37th.

Ky Laffoon, Chicago, beat Jack Grout, Chicago, 1 up, 38 holes.

Clarence Doser, Hartsdale, N. Y., beat Toney Penna, Dayton, O., 1 up, 37 holes.

Sam Byrd, Detroit, Mich., beat John Revolta, Evanston, Ill., 2 and 1.

Byron Nelson, Toledo, O., beat Mike Turnesa, White Plains, N. Y., 1 up.

Denny Shute, Akron, O., beat Bob Kepler, Columbus, O., 5 and 4.

Ralph Hutchison, Bethlehem, Pa., beat Carl Johnson, Norristown, Pa., 6 and 5.

Claude Harmon, Detroit, Mich., beat Sgt. Jim Turnesa, Halloran General hospital, 6 and 7.

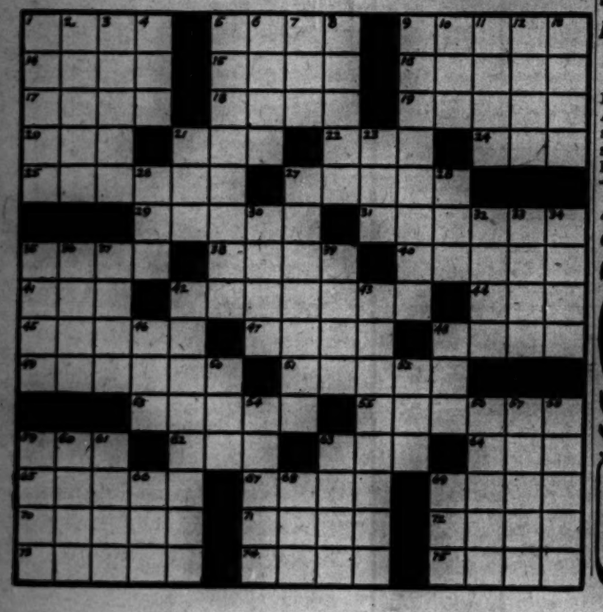
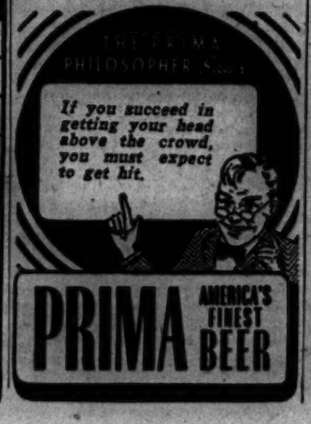
Puzzle of Thursday, July 12, Solved





Lew Esposito Defeated by Dan Vicini in Public Links

The 18th annual Midwest Amateur Golf tournament at Lincoln park was assured of a new champion when the defending title holder Lew Esposito of Franklin park was eliminated by Dan Vicini of Ottawa, Ill., 1 up in the feature quarter-final round match yesterday afternoon.

The field which has now reached the semi-final stages also includes Alex Badal of the home club, Earl Liff of Twin Orchards, and Frank Hayes of Tam o' Shanter. Badal, a Persian, who is club champion, met the other Vicini brother, Fred, and the home club representative won by a 2 and 1 score.

Liff, who has been the dark horse and surprise of the tournament, is 16 years old, the youngest in the championship field. He went to the 19th green and scored a par four to dispose of Phil Marcellus, captain of the 1944 University of Michigan golf team, by a 1 up score.

Hayes, Penning Go 21 Holes

Frank Hayes, champion of the police department for three years before he went into the army last year, helped produce the longest match of the day when he went 21 holes, the last three being played in the rain, to defeat Frank Penning of Anderson, Ind., 1 up.

The Vicini-Esposito match was a close contest with Vicini holding a one up advantage at the turn with a 38, two over par.

Esposito Hits Pin

However, the lead was soon cut, when Esposito rallied to win the next two holes. On the short sixth hole [15th of the match] Esposito's drive with an eight iron hit the pin and bounced two feet away to give him a birdie two.

They finished out the 17th hole with par four and on the concluding hole Esposito again landed in a trap and was down in five, while Vicini managed to post a four to gain the one up decision.

In this morning's matches, starting at 9 o'clock, Vicini clashes with Badal and Liff encounters Hayes. Play will also continue in the other flights.

NEW COMMITTEE WORKS TO OUTDO HILLMAN'S PAC

Chairman in Chicago to Organize Chapter

James D. Zurcher, chairman of the new People's Political Action committee, yesterday took steps to set up a Chicago chapter. With 100,000 on hand, the national organization is perhaps the most determined rival of the CIO Political Action committee.

Zurcher's first job is to select 14 full time regional chairmen. Next a chairman for every state will be appointed and given the task of organizing a division in each congressional district. The movement was started a month ago in Washington, D. C.

"Sidney Hillman claims that the CIO-PAC elected 88 congressmen last November," Zurcher said. "He says he will elect enough next year to control the house of representatives. We are out to block him at every turn, using the CIO PAC system of real political work."

Refused to Pay for PAC

Zurcher practiced law in Idaho, Oregon, and Washington for 43 years and served as prosecuting attorney and Circuit judge. From 1931 to 1933 he was a special prosecutor for the United States attorney general.

He wears three stars in a service pin on his lapel and worked for a time as a toolmaker in a war plant. He became a steward of the CIO electrical workers' union in New Jersey, but refused to pay the union assessment for the CIO PAC. He was a speaker for the Republican national committee for many years and headed the labor division of the life insurance organization in Gov. Dewey's Presidential campaign last year.

"A whole lot of men in the CIO feel just as I do," Zurcher said. "We are getting support from many members of the AFL and Lewis' miners' unions.

"We're not connected with the Republican national committee. Down south we will usually be supporting a Democrat who is battling it out with a New Deal Democrat. Our immediate objective is to win the 1946 senatorial and congressional elections."

Calls Parties' Work Inadequate

"Neither the G. O. P. nor the Democratic organization is doing enough to stop the steady movement toward national socialism in this country, Zurcher complained. "We need more political action by the public to block the attempt by Hillman, Earl Browder, and fellow travelers to remodel this country on the German-Russian plan," he said. "Our government has been radically changed already. The Supreme court has become a joke, with all of its 5 to 4 decisions."

In its initial stages the People's PAC is being financed by the People's Committee to Defend Life Insurance and Savings, which was created five years ago. The $100,000 from this source will be used mostly for organizing, after which local units will be expected to pay their own expenses, Zurcher said.

WLB RESCINDS N. Y. NEWSPAPER UNION CONTRACT

New York, July 12 (AP)—The war labor board today canceled all contract rights of the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers union [independent] which three times has ignored WLB directives to end a strike affecting 14 major New York dailies.

The action, said to be the first of its kind ever taken by the board, came on the 12th day of the strike. It was in the form of an order rescinding a WLB directive of June 14 which extended a contract between the union and the Publishers Association of New York City.

Board officials said the publishers now were relieved of any contractual obligations to the union and were at liberty to hire any one they wished and even bargain with another union.

Birmingham Papers Suspend

Birmingham, Ala., July 12 (AP)—Birmingham's three daily newspapers suspended publication today as AFL Typographical union pickets paraded before the newspaper offices after voting 83 to 9 against signing a contract which failed to embody the I. T. U.'s 1945 laws. The only point at stake was whether the contract should include the union laws.

No Papers in Fort Wayne

Fort Wayne, Ind., July 12 (AP)—An AFL Typographical union dispute over a new working contract has prevented the two daily newspapers here, the Journal-Gazette and the News-Sentinel, from publishing since Saturday.

COUNCIL GROUP PUTS BRAKE ON AUTO SPEEDERS

The city council committee on traffic and public safety voted yesterday to ask the police department to clamp down on speeding and other forms of reckless driving in Chicago. Action was taken after the committee heard a report from Lewis E. Russell, traffic technician, that traffic fatalities here gained 25 during the first six months of 1945. The figure for 1944 was 202; for 1945 it was 227.

At the same time, Russell's report disclosed that traffic accidents dropped from 6,351 in 1944 to 6,231 in 1945 and injury cases from 7,890 to 7,631 for the same period.

Public ambulance service is virtually nil at this time, the committee was told after hearing a report of a traffic injury Wednesday when Nathan Berkowitz, 56, of 902 Lakeside pl., lay bleeding at Madison st. and Wabash av. for 26 minutes before he was removed. There are 36 squad cars having a single stretcher each and five of six fire department ambulances virtually are in storage because of a lack of man power.

2 HOTELS ADMIT ILLEGAL RENT; TO REPAY $4,316

Two Chicago hotels agreed yesterday to pay judgments totaling $4,316 for overcharges on rents. Consent decrees to that effect were entered by Circuit Judge Julius Miner on petition of the Chicago area office of price administration. Both hotels were enjoined from further overcharges.

The Chapman hotel, 4705 Malden av., owned by the Malden Hotel corporation, was ordered to pay treble damages of $2,337 for overcharges from September, 1944, to May, 1945.

The South Shore View hotel, 7100 South Shore dr., owned by the South Shore View Building corporation, will pay $1,979. The remainder of $5,122 overcharges already has been refunded to tenants, OPA said.

$5,000,000 U. S. TAX EVASION DENIED BY CAFE OWNER

New York, July 12 [Special]—Henry Lustig, millionaire operator of a chain of swank restaurants, today denied published reports charging him with income tax evasion on $5,000,000.

Broadway columnists and others carried reports that a wealthy restaurant chain operator's income tax returns were being investigated by the treasury. Recently Treasury Secretary Morgenthau, opening a drive on black markets, condemned but did not identify a big restaurant man for evading taxes and asserted that his place was in jail.

This morning the New York Daily News identified Lustig as the restaurant operator to whom Morgenthau alluded.

WAR BOND GOALS PASSED BY CITY, COUNTY, STATE

Chicago, Cook county, and Illinois once again exceeded all quotas for bond sales and are out in front of the national average in the Mighty 7th war loan drive, which ended June 30, Lawrence F. Stern and Renslow P. Sherer, county and state chairmen, respectively, announced yesterday.

Sales of series E bonds in the city and county amounted to $176,728,000, or 3.3 per cent over the quota, Stern told his assistants in the drive at a luncheon in the American National bank building, 33 N. La Salle st.

Total bond sales, individual and corporation combined in city and county, amounted to $1,326,288,000, or 78 per cent over the quota, Stern said. Bonds bought by corporations in the city and county amounted to $932,339,000 and topped the quota by 123.2 per cent, Stern said.

Sherer, state chairman, announced that the state went over the top in the campaign with sales of 1 billion 689 million dollars, or 75 per cent over the quota, and exceeded the E bond quota.

TRANSIT BODY'S LEGALITY HIT IN SUIT BY TUOHY

State's Atty. Tuohy, thru Asst. State's Atty. Jacob Shamberg of the civil division, yesterday filed a quo warranto suit in Circuit court challenging constitutionality of the Chicago Transit authority. Shamberg also filed a companion suit for an injunction to restrain the city from spending any part of a $100,000 appropriation voted by the city council for the authority's operation.

Members of the Transit authority, appointed by Mayor Kelly, are empowered by state law and city ordinance to operate local transportation companies under municipal ownership. The suits, termed friendly, seek removal of the authority members on the contention that the authority is unconstitutional.

Werner W. Schroeder, Republican national committeeman, representing the transit board, said he will appear before Circuit Judge Julius Miner today with a motion to strike the suits.

CHARGE MARTIN VIOLATED RYE TRADING LIMIT

Name Plane Maker in U.S. Complaint

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP)—Glenn L. Martin, Baltimore airplane manufacturer, was accused by the department of agriculture today of buying rye futures in excess of limits set under the commodity exchange act.

Glenn L. Martin

A complaint signed by Secretary Anderson said that Martin and his agent, Henry L. T. Ullrich of Wilmington, Del., bought 3,300,000 bushels of rye futures on the Chicago Board of Trade June 9. This was 1,300,000 bushels in excess of the daily trading limit established by the commodity exchange commission in 1938.

Faces Trading Ban

This limit on trading is designed to prevent excessive speculation in grain and grain futures contracts. The penalty for such violation is loss of trading privileges on commodity markets for a period of time to be determined by the secretary of agriculture.

Martin and Ullrich were given 20 days in which to file an answer to the complaint. A hearing before a department of agriculture referee was set for Aug. 9.

Filing of the complaint came a few days after Rep. Keefe [R., Wis.] urged congress to investigate trading in rye and rye futures on the Chicago market. He declared that an inquiry would disclose a "national scandal" involving government officials and some members of congress as well as some grain traders.

Accused of Rye Corner

On May 28, a complaint was issued accusing General Foods corporation, Charles W. Metcalf, its executive vice president; Daniel F. Rice & Co., Daniel F. Rice, Lawrence J. Ryan and Philip R. O'Brien, members of the Chicago Board of Trade, of manipulation of prices of rye and rye futures contracts between December, 1942, and May, 1944, and establishment of a corner on the rye market in Chicago in May, 1944.

Rye is one of the few commodities in which speculation is possible. The government has established no price ceiling on it. Trading in rye futures during the first five months of 1945 was at the annual rate of 3 billion 950 million bushels compared with 330,000,000 in 1942.

The government is expected to establish a ceiling on rye in a few days. However, under the price control law, a ceiling must be established at least 15 days before the planting season of the affected crop. Hence, any ceiling cannot become applicable before the 1946 harvest.

Martin Is "Surprised"

San Francisco, Cal., July 12 (AP)—Glenn L. Martin today said he was surprised when told he had been charged by the secretary of agriculture with violating federal trading limits in buying rye futures on the Chicago market.

"This is all new and all Greek to me," he said. "I didn't know my agent had violated the law and I am not sure we purchased 3 million bushels on any one day. Also I didn't know they had a limit of 2 million."

Stocks Mixed; Motors, Rails, Steels Strong

New York, July 12 (AP)—The stock market was irregular today, but selected steels, motors, and rails were strong.

Early selling soon tapered and dealings were sluggish. Carriers firmed after midday and activity quickened for a time. Other departments attracted purchasers but the pace slowed.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was up 0.2 at 66.9. Of 853 issues appearing, 331 advanced, 305 declined, and 217 were unchanged.

Advancing were Bethlehem and Columbia Gas, at peaks for 1945; Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, United States Steel, Chrysler, Willys-Overland, Studebaker, American Telephone, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, Union Carbide, Texas company, Radio corporation, and American Distilling.

Losers included Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, Consolidated Edison, Northern Pacific, Standard Oil [N. J.], American Can, du Pont, Deere, Anaconda, Pan American Airways, and American Water Works.

BONDS EDGE HIGHER

New York, July 12 (AP)—The bond market contended with numerous new offerings and several special and secondary distributions today but ended higher as a result of a late comeback in secondary rails.

Best among the late risers were Baltimore and Ohio stamped convertibles of 1960, Rock Island convertible 4½s, Chicago Railways 5s, Rio Grande Western 5s, International Great Northern 5s, International Hydro Electric 6s, Missouri Pacific 5s, St. Louis-San Francisco 5s, and Texas and Pacific 5s.

CHICAGO LIST LOWER

Prices were down again yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange in turnover of 29,000 shares. Volume leaders included Chicago corporation, Middle West Utilities and Kellogg Switchboard, all unchanged, Radio corporation, up ⅝, and Central and South West Utilities, down ⅛. Standard Dredge preferred, closing at 24, was up 1¼. Penn Gas and Illinois Brick each rose ⅛.

PRICES OF BEST LIVE STOCK GAIN AS SUPPLIES DIP

Supplies of all classes of meat animals were low at the Chicago stock yards yesterday. The hog run, 9,500 head, including direct shipments to packers, was smallest for a Thursday in seven weeks, and 61 per cent smaller than a year ago. Almost all hogs sold at OPA ceiling levels.

Cattle receipts, 4,000, were second smallest for a Thursday since last March. Best grade steers were active, steady to strong. Trade for plainer classes below $16 was dull and some showed price discounts.

The lamb and sheep supply, 4,000 head, was third smallest for a Thursday in 11 months. Best lambs were steady and the $16.35 top was paid for natives. Plainer kinds were weaker.

UNITED TO CUT FLIGHT FARES ANOTHER 4 PCT.

United Air Lines will reduce fares 4 per cent, effective probably Sept. 1, W. A. Patterson, president, said yesterday. United reduced its fares 10 per cent in July, 1943, and another 10 per cent last May.

The new reduction will apply to one-way fares, lowering them to slightly less than 4½ cents a mile. Patterson said round trip, circle trip, and other discounts will be eliminated. Before the war a flight from Chicago to New York cost $44.95, compared with $35 today and $33.65 under the proposed rate, he said.

Pullman Shift Gives Space to 20,000 Yanks

Investigation Asked

Washington, D. C., July 12 [Special]—A full investigation of the transportation system to correct flaws which may "throw our economy into chaos" was called for in a resolution introduced in the house today by Rep. Lea [D., Cal.] chairman of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce. "Without adequate, economical transportation our whole economy can bog down, no matter how much energy, wisdom, and capital our industrial executives may put into the other phases of reconversion from a war economy to an economy of peace," he said.

Sleeping car space sufficient to accommodate 20,000 persons nightly will be transferred to exclusive military use when the railroads hand over 485 Pullman cars to the military car pool at noon Sunday, the Pullman company said yesterday. The Pullmans are being taken from their regular runs under the office of defense transportation order discontinuing sleeping car service between points 450 miles or less apart.

Champ Carry, executive vice president of Pullman, in a letter to Col. J. Monroe Johnson, ODT director, said that in addition to the more than 700,000 service men and women previously carried each month in sleeping cars, thousands more will be able to reach their destinations in comfort.

Army Gets Two-Thirds

After July 15 more than two-thirds of all Pullman space will be available for military travel. Prior to the ODT order more than half the Pullman fleet was devoted to military use, but the military got an even larger proportion because military reservation bureaus controled space in equipment which served the public. More than 29 million troops have traveled in Pullmans in mass moves since Pearl Harbor.

Carry said that the company has in service, exclusive of the 1,237 troop sleepers provided by the Defense Plant corporation, 500 more sleeping cars than it had during World War I.

Meanwhile Col. I. Sewell Morris, chairman of the western railroad urgency committee, warned that additional curtailment of civilian travel may result if 90,000 railroad workers needed to handle the troop redeployment are not recruited. He said that in the next few months the American railroads will have to move approximately 3½ million troops and 3½ million tons of supplies to the Pacific coast.

Recruiting to Affect Curbs

Upon the success of the railroads' man power recruiting program depends the extent of government control over civilian travel which will be necessary to carry out the redeployment program.

The New York Central railroad acted to ease the situation which will develop on runs between Chicago and Detroit, one of the most heavily traveled war business runs in the country. The line announced it is putting its Twilight Limited on double duty, effective Sunday. The Twilight which leaves Chicago at 4:15 p. m. and arrives in Detroit at 10:30 p. m. will turn around and leave Detroit at 7:30 a. m. and arrive here at 11:45 a. m. The Twilight which leaves Detroit at 4:45 p. m. and arrives here at 9 p. m. will leave Chicago at 7 a. m. and arrive in Detroit at 1:15 p. m.

DELAY ACTION ON MONEY PLAN, TAFT DEMANDS

Too Soon to Commit U.S., He Says

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 12—Senate debate on the Bretton Woods international monetary agreements was opened prematurely by Sen. Taft [R., O.] today with a demand that the senate postpone action on the proposals until after it acts on the San Francisco world peace charter.

Sen. Taft.

Taft said that neither the international monetary fund nor the international bank, provided for in the Bretton Woods agreements, is an emergency institution and that the United States should not commit itself to long range proposals costing this nation nearly 6 billion dollars until after the post-war transition period.

Barkley Opposes Move

Majority Leader Barkley [D., Ky.] opposed Taft's demand for postponement and said that unless the agreements are approved by congress by Dec. 31 the proposals will be inoperative. The terms of the agreements require ratification by two-thirds of the 45 signing nations by Dec. 31.

Barkley told the senate he was determined to hold to his original plan to call up the Bretton Woods agreements, which have been approved by the house, in the senate next Monday, even if it means postponing action on the San Francisco charter.

Taft leveled most of his criticism at the bank, but served notice he will discuss the fund at length next week. He said congressional approval of the bank would have the effect of authorizing the President to approve the sale of foreign securities in the United States up to the total amount in the bank—9 billion 100 million dollars.

Would Guarantee Loans

Taft explained that the bank would guarantee loans floated by foreign institutions in any country in which the institution wished to borrow and that it was obvious most of the loans would be sought in this country. Altho the United States would be responsible for only 3 billion 175 million dollars of the bank's funds, he said it was possible for loans up to the entire capitalization of the bank to be sold here and that the impression would prevail that the United States government stood behind them.

Sen. McCarran [D., Nev.] said he had been conferring with other western senators, including Sen. Thomas [D., Okla.] on amendments to the bill authorizing the Bretton Woods proposals. He said they wanted the bank and fund to recognize both gold and silver as "constitutional money metals."

BUSINESS TAXES BILL APPROVED BY SENATE UNIT

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP)—The senate finance committee today on motion of Sen. La Follette [Prog., Wis.], struck from pending business tax legislation a provision designed to aid railroads which have undergone receivership and reorganization. With this change, the house bill was reported to the senate for action. It boosts from $10,000 to $25,000 the exemption from the excess profits tax and provides for speeding tax refunds.

Cutbacks Lift Rationed Shoe Output as Price Probe Starts

15% More in August

New York, July 12 (AP)—Military contract terminations, cutbacks, and reduced schedules will mean an increase of more than 15 per cent in monthly output of rationed footwear beginning in August, the National Shoe Retailers association said today.

The organization said requirements were reduced approximately 7,800,000 feet of cattle hide upper leather a month and by a large quantity of insoles and outsoles.

"Assuming that total production of leather remains unchanged," it said, "these materials will become available for civilian use beginning with August and the effect upon shoe production, particularly men's and boys' shoes, should be substantial.

Equals 3 Million Pairs

"Based upon average cutting ratios, for example, the upper leather now released by the army would be equal to more than 3 million pairs of civilian shoes a month."

[The OPA announced Thursday another shoe stamp will become valid Aug. 1.]

The association said August army schedules of 2,100,000 pairs of combat boots would be cut to 1,500,000 in September and 700,000 pairs of service shoes to 350,000 and that proposed output of 50,000 pairs of tropical combat boots each month during July, August, and September had been eliminated.

End Output for Russia

"Another substantial cutback is represented by the termination as of Sept. 1 of Russian service shoe production," it added. "Approximately 500,000 pairs of Russian army shoes are being made currently and the cancellation of this program Aug. 31 will also release substantial footage of upper leather as well as an equivalent quantity of sole leather."

The association said estimated civilian shoe production of 140 million pairs of rationed type and 75,900,000 nonrationed, or a total of 216,600,000 for the first half of 1945, was about 20 million higher than government estimates.

OPA Studies Jobbers

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP)—The price administration moved today to lower any retail shoe price ceilings inflated by "unwarranted jobber charges." It announced a new order, effective immediately, which requires all shoe wholesalers to submit information from which the agency will determine whether they are "performing legitimate wholesale functions."

Jobbers who do not measure up to OPA standards will not be permitted to take a markup over manufacturers' ceilings. Because retail maximum prices also are fixed on a markup basis, this would reduce prices the public pays for shoes handled by such dealers.

New Jobbers Not Eligible

Under the order, "OPA shoe wholesale numbers" will be issued to jobbers who during the five years prior to April 1 were operating regularly as wholesalers in the distribution of shoes. Any jobbers who entered the field later will not be eligible for a markup.

Also the applications of jobbers who started business after April 8, 1943, will be screened and eliminated if OPA finds they do not perform normal distributive functions.

The purpose of the order, which will be expanded soon to cover other commodities, is to "freeze out" jobbers who entered business during the shoe shortage because they were "influenced by the chance for quick profits," OPA explained.

Directed at "Dummy Jobber"

The measure is directed particularly against so-called "dummy jobbers" who purchase from an "affiliated supplier" or sell to an "affiliated purchaser," with the intention of pyramiding markups.

OPA said that in normal times about 80 per cent of retail shoe stocks were bought directly from manufacturers, but since the war wholesalers "have found that in a tight market charges can be multiplied over and over again," and the number of jobbers has increased rapidly. "All over the country this unusual jobber activity has exerted a dangerous pressure on consumer prices," it said.

TAYLORCRAFT STARTS PRODUCING TWO SEAT PLANE FOR CIVILIANS

Alliance, O., July 12 (AP)—Taylorcraft Aviation corporation said today it has orders for 6,500 private planes and that the public soon would be able to buy its two-seat post-war plane. The craft is in production and full production is expected by September. It will sell for $2,295 and will be on the market by November.

Also in production is a family sedan type. The four seat ship will sell for $3,550 with a 125 horse power engine and for $4,000 with a 140 horse power engine. These planes should be in full production by December, the company said.

Taylorcraft's main plant is producing control surfaces for the Douglas A-26 attack bomber. The private planes are being manufactured and assembled in a smaller branch factory. The company said it expects to produce 8,000 to 10,000 planes annually after the war.

G. M. UNIT SIGNS NAVY CONTRACT ENDING COMPACT

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP)—The navy announced today it had signed with the Eastern Aircraft division of the General Motors corporation a pre-termination agreement covering contracts for approximately 404 million dollars in undelivered airplanes.

The navy explained that by reaching agreements now on many matters which can be settled in advance, it is believed ultimate settlement of the contract, whenever termination occurs, would be facilitated. The agreement paves the way for prompt clearance of inventory and equipment from the company's five plants, and aids in conversion to civilian production.

The navy may terminate the contracts with Eastern Aircraft whenever it decides additional airplanes of the type being produced there are no longer needed. It emphasized the agreement does not necessarily indicate likelihood of termination of its airplane contracts soon.

OPA TO CLAMP PRICE CONTROL ON LAKES FISH

Acts to Halt Rising Retail Charges

All fish caught in the Great Lakes will be placed under price control in a few weeks, Rae E. Walters, regional price administration director, said yesterday.

In a move to halt a rapid rise in prices to consumers, particularly for white fish and trout, price ceilings were voted at a meeting in Chicago. In attendance were OPA pricing officials, Arval L. Ericksen, chief of OPA's meats, fats, fish, and oils pricing division, and the Chicago OPA fish advistory committee, which is made up of members of the trade.

Time Needed to Process

The new regulation, an amendment to maximum price regulation 418, will take from four to six weeks to process, Walters said. Salt water fish have been under price control for some time, but this is the first action to place fresh water fish caught domestically under control, he said.

Fresh water fish imported from Canada have been under OPA control, but recently industry and OPA spokesmen admitted the controls had broken down and violations had been widespread.

Commenting on the OPA action, both retail and wholesale spokesmen for Chicago's fish trade were apprehensive that the move "will drive fresh water fish into the black market."

Predicts Stores Will Close

Max Granat, business agent of the Chicago Retail Fish association, predicted that "most retail fish stores in Chicago will be forced to shut down or deal with the black market. We have called a meeting of all the retail fish store operators on Monday night at which we will urge them not to deal with the black market and to coöperate fully with OPA in enforcing the regulation."

E. M. Concannon, president of the Chicago Wholesale Fish Dealers association, said that less than the normal supply of fresh water fish is coming into the Chicago market because more fish are being consumed in the areas where caught. The OPA action will "cut off almost entirely the fish we have been getting thru normal market channels."

Supplies Remain Short

"Even at the prevailing high prices offered by all wholesalers, distributors are experiencing great difficulty in getting supplies," he said.

Protesting against the controls, another wholesaler said that OPA will be unable to enforce them because the comparatively simple controls on Canadian fish had broken down.

BUSINESS PATHS FULL OF THORNS, WAR VETS TOLD

Advised to Be Cautious in Choosing Careers

(This is the sixth article in a series on veterans' opportunities for employment or starting their own businesses.)

BY ANTHONY WIRRY.

Without intending to discourage the estimated 700,000 returning war veterans who are planning to set themselves up in small businesses with the aid of GI loans or private borrowing, banks and lending institutions in Chicago are saying "stop, look, and listen."

They offer this advice because they know that operation of a business is more difficult and complex than it appears to the outsider and that many of the minimum requirements for successful operation are unknown to those who formerly were employes.

One of Five Left After 10 Years

Caution also is urged because it is known that about 30 per cent of small business ventures fail in the first year and 15 per cent more in the second year. At the end of 10 years only one of five of such undertakings remains.

To be in the surviving group, veterans must understand that there are few short cuts to business success and that a number of accepted business practices must be observed.

Among the more important of these is financing. W. R. Jenkins, vice president of Northwestern National Life Insurance company, said that a healthy business must be established and operated on at least 75 per cent of capital saved by the owner and not more than 25 per cent on credit or borrowed money. Records show that a business which uses as much as 50 per cent of borrowed capital has a poor chance of succeeding, he said.

Must Study Market

A second important consideration is an analysis of the market in which the veteran proposes to sell his goods or services. In this connection the veteran is advised to study his prospective buyers so he will know what and how much they will buy. It also is suggested that he survey the competitive factor to determine whether competition is weak or strong, and whether he is prepared to cope with it if it is strong. He also is advised to ascertain whether there is an actual need or demand for his product in the area he selects.

Maintenance of proper and adequate records is an "absolute necessity," in the view of LeRoy A. Listug, executive president of the Central National Bank of Chicago.

"Any one who does not keep books has at least one strike on himself," Listug said. "With the complicated government restrictions on business, you cannot keep records in your head."

Reinvestment Recommended

Listug also recommended the reinvestment of a certain portion of earnings in the business each year.

"If a young man expects his business to expand and grow, it is wise, especially in the early stages of a business, to take out as little as possible of the earnings and use the rest to expand within reason," Listug said. He also advised setting up reserves for depreciation and carrying adequate insurance.

To these requirements there must be added certain personal qualifications, including experience, a talent for buying and selling, and a disposition to work hard, Listug said.

"If people are not acquainted with the business they plan to enter, we usually advise them to work for some one else in this line for a year or so," Listug said. "We tell them to study it practically and theoretically during that time. We tell them to come back when they acquire the 'know how' and we will help them acquire the type of business they want. Sometimes this experience changes their minds, and we figure we did them a favor by not granting a loan on first application."

SIMMONS COMPANY

I should like information on the war time earnings of Simmons company and its post-war prospects.—G. H.

Since early in 1942, Simmons' production of its regular consumer lines—metal beds, mattresses, springs, and other items—has been curtailed by government restrictions on the use of materials. However, the company has been manufacturing a variety of war materials and such work accounted for 65 per cent of its business in the first quarter of 1945.

Its sales, which had increased from less than 40 million dollars in 1939 to $62,693,000 in 1940, rose to $87,797,000 in 1944. The profit averaged $2.25 a share on the 1,158,236 shares during the three years ended with 1944. This compares with an average of $2.35 earned in the five years thru 1941. Last year's profit was $2.56 a share.

The company's medium term outlook is clouded by the possibility that war work may diminish before sufficient materials become available for a normal volume of civilian production and by price-cost factors. Deferred demands seem to assure a large and profitable business eventually.

With net income well in excess of dividend payments each year, Simmons' net working capital increased from $15,407,000 in 1939 to $21,406,000 in 1944. Dividends last year totaled $1.25 a share. In connection with the call for redemption of its 4 per cent convertible debentures on July 16, the company arranged for an 8 million 15 year bank loan.

U. S. POURING OUT MORE MEAT AND BUTTER TO REDS

25 Million Lbs. Beef, Pork on 3 Month Menu

BY ROBERT YOUNG
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 12—Millions of pounds of meat will continue to be shipped to Russia from the United States under lend-lease during July, August, and September despite announcement less than six weeks ago that the soviets would receive no meat in the current quarter because of the domestic shortage, it was disclosed officially today. Other scarce foods, including butter and cheese, also will be shipped to Russia.

At the same time, the war department said the American army will stop supplying foor to civilians in liberated European countries by the end of August. However, an official of the foreign economic administration said some of the countries in western Europe will seek lend-lease food to replace that which the army has been supplying, and the drain on American food supplies will not be eased.

The newly approved food allocations for Russia include 25 million pounds of meat in the form of "Tushonka," a canned beef and pork product. Other soviet lend-lease allotments for the current quarter are 5 million pounds of butter or other oil, 2 million pounds of cheese, 25 million pounds of flour, 5 million pounds of dried peas, 2 million pounds of dried milk, and 2½ million pounds of dehydrated vegetables.

The department of agriculture said the soviets had requested 430,000 tons of food for the last six months of 1945. The approved three month allocations total 30,000 tons.

The FEA official explained that the reason Russia will receive 25 million pounds of meat, despite last month's announcement, is that the shipments are considered of military importance. He said that even tho Russia is not at war with Japan, it is the policy of the FEA and the state department to continue lend-lease when it is deemed advisable from a military standpoint.

The war department disclosed that army relief food shipments to France ended in April and those to the Balkan countries in May. Civilians in Holland, Belgium, Denmark, and Norway will receive no more army food after August. This is not expected to result in more food for American civilians, however, because the same amounts of food are to go abroad for distribution thru cash purchase or lend-lease.

BEEF DILEMMA: DROUTH, FREEZE, OR OPA SCARCITY

BY GAIL COMPTON
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Kansas City, Mo., July 12 [Special] — Only a natural catastrophe will enable the nation to get more beef unless office of price administration regulations are changed, cattle raisers and feeders said today.

The disasters that would have to happen are:

1. A drouth in the range country, which would force heavy liquidation of breeding herds.

2. An early frost, which would give the country a large supply of soft corn.

Feeder Can't Buy Cattle

Packers and black market operators are bidding so vigorously for all types of cattle that the corn belt feeder is unable to buy them, feed them, and show a profit.

A drouth thruout the range country would flood the markets with animals. Prices for feeder cattle would break and the corn belt farmer could step in and get the animals at a fair price. Under existing OPA regulations the feeder cannot pay the prices demanded and show a profit.

After the wet spring just experienced, an early frost would result in vast amounts of corn with high moisture content. Such corn is of no commercial value, and cannot be stored. To salvage it farmers would have to buy cattle and feed it out. If this happens, the feeders would be willing to pay any amount for cattle in hopes of saving part of their corn crop.

Would Bankrupt Many

Either of these two factors will produce more beef for the nation but it will be a forced production. It will be accomplished at the cost of driving many ranchers or farmers into bankruptcy, cattle men said.

"A farmer cannot buy feeders at their present price, put them in a lot, and fatten them," said Charles Skinner, who feeds 5,000 head a year. "Only a soft corn crop or a drouth will make them fill their feed lots.

"In my dry lot operations it costs 55 cents a day to feed a steer. The steer gains, at best, two pounds a day. These two pounds can't be worth more than 36 cents on the Chicago market. Feeders cannot operate under such conditions.

"The only reason I continue in the business is because I get my cattle young and run them on grass for an entire summer," Skinner explained. "This gives them a cheap gain, which compensates for my loss in the feed lot."

Prices Too High.

Paul Thompson, Clinton, Ind., was riding thru the stock yards here wishing he could buy 4,000 cattle to fatten.

"I have the equipment and the feed to take on 4,000 head now, but prices are so high a man would be a fool to touch them," he said.

"The feed lot operator has to bid against the packer to buy his feeders because the packer would like to slaughter them," he said. "If he does buy them, he has to turn around and sell them back to the packer. The feeder just naturally is born dead these days."
